USING YOUR GUIDE

Attractions, lodgings and restaurants are listed on the basis of merit alone after careful evaluation and approval by one of AAA/CAA's full-time, professionally trained Tourism Editors. Evaluations are unannounced to ensure that we see an establishment just as you would see it.

An establishment's decision to advertise in the TourBook guide has no bearing on its evaluation or rating. Advertising for services or products does not imply AAA endorsement.

All information in this guide was reviewed for accuracy before publication. However, since changes inevitably occur between annual editions, we suggest you work with your AAA travel professional or check on aaa.com to confirm prices and schedules.

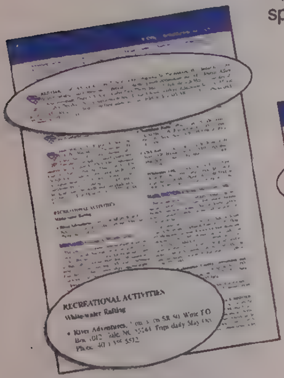
How the TourBook Guide is Organized

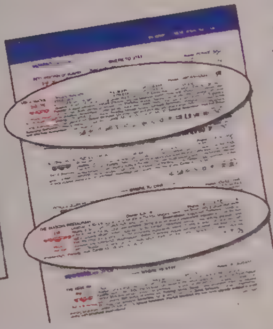
The TourBook guide is organized into three distinct sections.

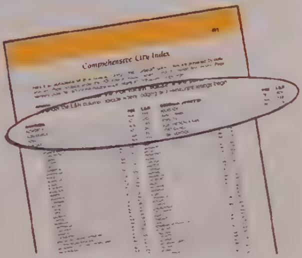
The Points of Interest section helps you plan daily activities and sightseeing excursions and provides details about the city or attraction you are visiting.

The Lodgings and Restaurants section helps you select AAA Approved accommodations and dining facilities meeting your specific needs and expectations.

The Reference section provides indexes for locating information within this guide and items to aid the trip planning process.







Locating the Attractions, Lodgings and Restaurants

Attractions, lodgings and restaurants are listed under the city in which they physically are located - or in some cases under the nearest recognized city. Most listings are alphabetically organized by state, province, region or island, then by city and establishment name.

A color is assigned to each state or province so that you can match the color bars at the top of the page to switch from the Points of Interest section to the Lodgings and Restaurants section.

Spotting maps help you physically locate points of interest, lodgings and restaurants in the major destinations.

Destination Cities and Destination Areas

Destination cities, established based on government models and local expertise, include metropolitan areas plus nearby vicinity cities. Destination areas are regions with broad tourist appeal; several cities will comprise the area.

If a city falls within a destination's vicinity, the city name will appear at its alphabetical location in the book, and a cross reference will give you the exact page on which listings for that city begin.

An orientation map appears at the beginning of each destination section to orient you to that destination.

Understanding the Points of Interest Listing

GEM Designation

A GEM indicates the attraction has been rated a AAA GEM, a "must see" point of interest that offers a Great Experience for Members®. These attractions have been judged to be of exceptional interest and quality by AAA Tourism Editors.

A GEM listing page with a brief description of individual GEM attractions follows the Orientation map near the beginning of each state or province Points of Interest section. Cross-references guide the reader to the attraction's listing page.

Discount Savings

The SAVE icon denotes those attractions offering AAA/CAA, AAA MasterCard, AAA VISA or international Show Your Card & Save discount cardholders a discount off the attraction's standard admission. Present your card at the attraction's admission desk.

A list of participating points of interest appears in the Reference section of this guide.

Shopping establishments preceded by a SAVE icon also provide to AAA/CAA members a discount and/or gift with purchase; present your card at the mall's customer service center to receive your benefit.

Exceptions

- Members should inquire in advance concerning the validity of the discount for special rates.
- The SAVE discount may not be used in conjunction with other discounts.
- Attractions that already provide a reduced senior or child rate may not honor the SAVE discount for those age groups.
- All offers are subject to change and may not apply during special events, particular days or seasons or for the entire validity period of the TourBook guide.

Bulleted Listings

Casino gambling establishments are visited by AAA personnel to ensure safety; casinos within hotels are presented for member information regardless of whether the lodging is AAA Approved.

Recreational activities of a participatory nature (requiring physical exertion or special skills) are not inspected.

Wineries are inspected by AAA Tourism Editors to ensure they meet listing requirements and offer tours.

All are presented in an abbreviated bulleted format for informational purposes.

Understanding the Lodging Listing

Official Appointment

AAA or CAA indicates our Official Appointment (OA) lodgings. These properties guarantee members the lowest public rate available at the time of booking for the dates of stay or a minimum 10% discount off the standard room rates published in TourBook guides. We highlight these properties with red and a SAVE icon to help you quickly identify them.

Diamond Rating

The number of diamonds informs you of the overall complexity of a lodging's amenities and service. Red indicates an Official Appointment lodging. An fyi in place of diamonds indicates the property has not been rated but is included as an "information only" service. A detailed description of each rating level appears on page 20.

Classification

All diamond rated lodgings are classified using three key elements: style of operation, overall concept and service level. See pages 22-23 for details on our classifications.

Online Reservations

This notation indicates AAA/CAA members can conveniently check room availability, validate room rates and make reservations for this property in a secure online environment at aaa.com.

Rates

Shown from left to right: dates the rates are effective; any meal plan included in the rates (see below); standard room rates for 1 person (1P) or 2 persons (2P); extra person charge (XP); and any applicable family plan indicator (see below).

Rates are provided to AAA by each lodging and represent the regular (rack) rate ranges for a standard room. Rates are rounded to the nearest dollar and do not include taxes. U.S., Mexican and Caribbean rates are in U.S. dollars; rates for Canadian lodgings are in Canadian dollars.

Meal Plan Indicators

AP = American Plan of three meals daily
BP = Breakfast Plan of full hot breakfast
CP = Continental Plan of pastry, juice and another beverage
ECP = Expanded Continental Plan, which offers a wider variety of breakfast items
MAP = Modified American Plan of two meals daily

See individual listing "Terms" for additional meal plans not included in the room rate.

Understanding the Restaurant Listing

Official Appointment

AAA or CAA indicates our Official Appointment (OA) restaurants. The OA program permits properties to display and advertise the AAA or CAA emblem. We highlight these properties in red to help you quickly identify them. The AAA or CAA Approved sign helps traveling members find restaurants that want member business.

Diamond Rating

The number of diamonds informs you of the overall complexity of food, presentation, service and ambience. Red indicates an Official Appointment restaurant. A detailed description of each diamond level appears on page 21.

Cuisine Type

The cuisine type helps you select a dining facility that caters to your individual taste. AAA currently recognizes more than 90 different cuisine types.

Menus

This notation indicates AAA/CAA members can conveniently view the restaurant's menu in a secure online environment at aaa.com.

Lodging Rates Guaranteed

AAA/CAA members are guaranteed they will not be charged more than the maximum regular rate printed in the TourBook guide in each rate range for a standard room. Rates may vary within the range, depending on season and room type. Listed rates are based on last standard room availability. Obtain current AAA/CAA member rates and make reservations at aaa.com.

Discounts

Member discounts will apply to rates quoted within the rate range and are applicable at the time of booking. Special rates used in advertising, as well as special short-term promotional rates lower than the lowest listed rate in the range, are not subject to additional member discounts.

Exceptions

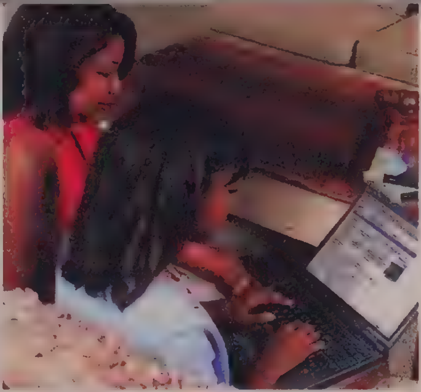
Rates for properties operating as concessionaires for the U.S. National Park Service are not guaranteed due to governing regulations. Rates in the Mexico TourBook are not guaranteed and may fluctuate based on the exchange rate of the peso.

Lodgings may temporarily increase room rates, not recognize discounts or modify pricing policies during special events. Examples of special events range from Mardi Gras and the Kentucky Derby (including pre-Derby events) to college football games, holidays, holiday periods and state fairs. Although some special events are listed in AAA/CAA TourBook guides and on aaa.com, it is always wise to check in advance with AAA travel professionals for specific dates.

Get the Room You Reserved

When making your reservation, identify yourself as a AAA or CAA member and request written confirmation to guarantee: type of room, rate, dates of stay, and cancellation and refund policies. At registration, show your membership card.

When you find your room is not as specified, and you have written confirmation of reservations for a certain type of accommodation, you should be given the option of choosing a different room or finding one elsewhere. Should you choose to go elsewhere and a refund is refused or resisted, submit the matter to AAA/CAA within 30 days, along with complete documentation, including your reasons for refusing the room and copies of your written confirmation and any receipts or canceled checks associated with this problem.



If you are charged more than the maximum rate listed in the TourBook guide for a standard room, question the additional charge. If management refuses to adhere to the published rate, pay for the room and submit your receipt and membership number to AAA/CAA within 30 days. Include all pertinent information: dates of stay, rate paid, itemized paid receipts, number of persons in your party and the room number you occupied, and list any extra room equipment used. A refund of the amount paid in excess of the stated maximum will be made if our investigation indicates that unjustified charging occurred.

Deposit, Refund and Cancellation Policies

Most establishments give full deposit refunds if they have been notified at least 48 hours before the normal check-in time. Listing prose will note if more than 48 hours' notice is required for cancellation. Some properties may charge a cancellation or handling fee. When this applies, "cancellation fee imposed" will appear in the listing. If you cancel too late, you have little recourse if a refund is denied.

When an establishment requires full or partial payment in advance and your trip is cut short, a refund may not be given.

When canceling a reservation, phone the lodging immediately. Make a note of the date and time you called, the cancellation number if there is one, and the name of the person who handled the cancellation. If your AAA/CAA club made your reservation, allow them to make the cancellation for you as well, so you will have proof of cancellation.

Check-in and Check-out Times

Check-in and check-out times are shown in the lodging listings, under Terms, only if they are before 10 a.m. or after 3 p.m. respectively.

Understanding the Diamond Ratings

AAA/CAA Tourism Editors have evaluated and rated each of the 55,000 lodging and restaurant establishments in the TourBook series to ensure quality travel information for our members. Listings are provided free of charge to AAA Approved establishments that have met AAA's 27 minimum requirements (for lodgings) concerning cleanliness, comfort and security - or - AAA's 12 minimum requirements (for restaurants) pertaining to cleanliness, food preparation and service.

Eligible applicants receive an unannounced evaluation by a AAA/CAA Tourism Editor that includes two distinct components:

- AAA Approval: The Tourism Editor first must determine whether the property meets the criteria required to be AAA Approved. Every establishment that meets these strict guidelines offers AAA members the assurance that, regardless of the diamond rating, it provides acceptable quality, cleanliness, service and value.
- AAA Diamond Rating: Once an establishment becomes AAA Approved, it is then assigned a rating of one to five diamonds, indicating the extensiveness of its facilities, amenities and services, from basic to moderate to luxury. These diamond ratings guide members in selecting establishments appropriately matched to their needs and expectations.

LODGINGS

1 Diamond

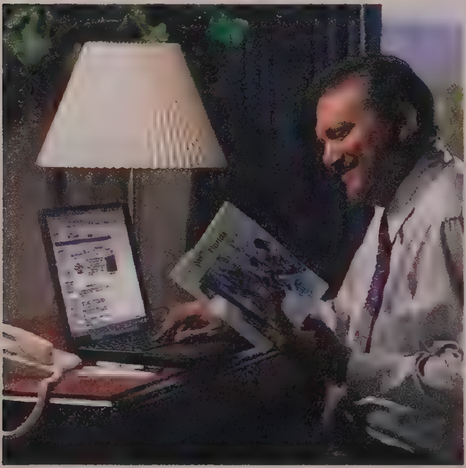
One diamond lodgings typically appeal to the budget-minded traveler. They provide essential, no-frills accommodations and basic comfort and hospitality.

2 Diamond

Two diamond lodgings appeal to family travelers seeking affordable yet more than the basic accommodations. Facilities, decor and amenities are modestly enhanced.

3 Diamond

Three diamond lodgings offer a distinguished style. Properties are multi-faceted, with marked upgrades in physical attributes, amenities and guest comforts.



4 Diamond

Four diamond lodgings are refined and stylish. Physical attributes are upscale. The fundamental hallmarks at this level include an extensive array of amenities combined with a high degree of hospitality, service and attention to detail.

5 Diamond

Five diamond lodgings provide the ultimate in luxury and sophistication. Physical attributes are extraordinary in every manner. Service is meticulous, exceeding guest expectations and maintaining impeccable standards of excellence. Extensive personalized services and amenities provide first-class comfort.

fyi The lodging listings with fyi in place of diamonds are included as an information only service for members. The icon indicates that a property has not been rated for one or more of the following reasons: too new to rate, under construction, under major renovation, not evaluated, may not meet all AAA requirements.

A property not meeting all AAA requirements is included for either its member value or because it may be the only accommodation available in the area. Listing prose will give insight as to why the fyi designation was assigned.

RESTAURANTS

1 Diamond

One diamond restaurants provide simple, familiar specialty food (such as burgers, chicken, pizza or tacos) at an economical price. Often self-service, basic surroundings complement a no-nonsense approach.

2 Diamond

Two diamond restaurants offer a familiar, family-oriented experience. Menu selection includes home-style foods and family favorites, often cooked to order, modestly enhanced and reasonably priced. Service is accommodating yet relaxed, a perfect complement to casual surroundings.

3 Diamond

Three diamond restaurants convey an entry into fine dining and are often positioned as adult-oriented experiences. The atypical menu may feature the latest cooking trends and/or traditional cuisine. Expanded beverage offerings complement the menu. The ambiance is well coordinated, comfortable and enhanced by a professional service staff.

4 Diamond

Four diamond restaurants provide a distinctive fine-dining experience that is typically expensive. Surroundings are highly refined with upscale enhancements throughout. Highly creative chefs use imaginative presentations to augment fresh, top-quality ingredients. A proficient service staff meets or exceeds guest expectations. A wine steward may offer menu-specific knowledge to guide selection.

5 Diamond

Five diamond restaurants are luxurious and renowned for consistently providing a world-class experience. Highly acclaimed chefs offer artistic menu selections that are imaginative and unique, using only the finest ingredients available. A maitre d' leads an expert service staff in exceeding guest expectations, attending to every detail in an effortless and unobtrusive manner.

fyi The restaurants with fyi in place of diamonds are included as an information only service for members. These listings provide additional dining choices but have not yet been evaluated.

Understanding the Lodging Classifications

To ensure that your lodging needs and preferences are met, we recommend that you consider an establishment's classification when making your travel choices. While the quality and comfort at properties with the same diamond rating should be consistent (regardless of the classification), there are differences in typical decor/theme elements, range of facilities and service levels.

Large-scale Hotel

A multistory establishment with interior room entrances. A variety of guest unit styles is offered. Public areas are spacious and include a variety of facilities such as a restaurant, fitness center, spa, business center, shops or meeting rooms.

Hotel Royal Plaza, Lake Buena Vista, FL

Small-scale Hotel

A multistory establishment typically with interior room entrances. A variety of guest unit styles is offered. Public areas are limited in size and/or the variety of facilities available.

Baymont Inn, Dallas Ft. Worth-Airport N, TX

Motel

A 1- to 3-story establishment typically with exterior room entrances facilitating convenient access to parking. The standard guest units have one bedroom with a bathroom and are typically similar in decor and design throughout. Public areas are limited in size and/or the variety of facilities available.

Best Western Deltona Inn, Deltona, FL

Country Inn

Similar in definition to a bed and breakfast but usually larger in scale, with spacious public areas offering a dining facility that serves at least breakfast and dinner.

Greenville Inn, Greenville, ME

Bed & Breakfast

Small-scale properties emphasizing a high degree of personal touches that provide guests an "at home" feeling. Guest units tend to be individually decorated. Rooms may not include some modern amenities such as televisions and telephones, and may have a shared bathroom. Usually owner-operated with a common room or parlor separate from the innkeeper's living quarters, where guests and operators can interact during evening and breakfast hours. Evening office closures are normal. A continental or full, hot breakfast is served and is included in the room rate.

1884 Paxton House Inn, Thomasville, GA

Condominium

Vacation-oriented or extended-stay, apartment-style accommodations that are routinely available for rent through a management company. Units vary in design and decor and often contain one or more bedrooms, a living room, full kitchen and an eating area. Studio-type models combine the sleeping and living areas into one room. Typically, basic cleaning supplies, kitchen utensils and complete bed and bath linens are supplied. The guest registration area may be located off-site.

Sands of Kahana, Kahana, Maui, HI

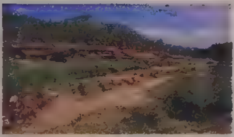
Cabin/Cottage

Vacation-oriented, small-scale, freestanding houses or cabins. Units vary in design and decor and often contain one or more bedrooms, a living room, kitchen, dining area and bathroom. Studio-type models combine the sleeping and living areas into one room. Typically, basic cleaning supplies, kitchen utensils, and complete bed and bath linens are supplied. The guest registration area may be located off-site.

Desert Rose Inn, Bluff, UT

Ranch

Typically a working ranch with an obvious rustic, Western theme. In general, equestrian-related activities are featured, but ranches may include other animals and activities as well. A variety of guest unit styles is offered in a family-oriented atmosphere.



C Lazy U Ranch, Granby, CO

Vacation Home

Vacation-oriented or extended-stay, large-scale, freestanding houses that are routinely available for rent through a management company. Houses vary in design and decor and often contain two or more bedrooms, a living room, full kitchen, dining room and multiple bathrooms. Typically, basic cleaning supplies, kitchen utensils, and complete bed and bath linens are supplied. The guest registration area may be located off-site.

ResortQuest, Hilton Head Island, SC

Lodging Subclassifications

The following are subclassifications that may appear along with the classifications listed previously to provide a more specific description of the lodging.

Casino

Extensive gaming facilities are available such as blackjack, craps, keno and slot machines. Note: This subclassification will not appear beneath its diamond rating in the listing. It will be indicated by a 🎲 icon and will be included in the row of icons immediately below the lodging listing.

Classic

Renowned and landmark properties, older than 50 years, well-known for their unique style and ambience.

Historic

These properties are typically over 75 years of age and exhibit many features of a historic nature with respect to architecture, design, furnishings, public record or acclaim. Properties must meet one of the following criteria:

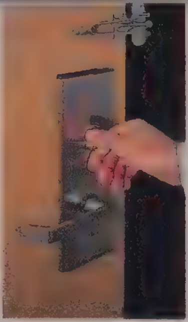
- Maintained the integrity of the historical aspect
- Listed on the U.S. National Register of Historic Places
- Designated a U.S. National Historic Landmark
- Located in a U.S. National Register Historic District

Separate criteria designate historic properties in Canada, Mexico and the Caribbean.

Resort

Recreation-oriented, geared to vacation travelers seeking a specific destination experience. Travel packages, meal plans, themed entertainment, and social and recreational programs are typically available. Recreational facilities are extensive and may include spa treatments, golf, tennis, skiing, fishing, water sports, etc. Larger resorts may offer a variety of guest accommodations.

Guest Safety



Room Security

In order to be approved for listing in AAA/CAA TourBook guides for the United States and Canada, accommodations must have dead-bolt locks on all guest room entry doors and connecting room doors.

If the area outside the guest room door is not visible from inside the room through a window or door panel, viewports must be installed on all guest room entry doors. Bed and breakfast properties and country inns are not required to have viewports. Ground floor and easily accessible sliding doors must be equipped with some type of secondary security locks.

Tourism Editors view a percentage of rooms at each property since it is not feasible to evaluate every room in every lodging establishment. Therefore, AAA cannot guarantee that there are working locks on all doors and windows in all guest rooms.

Fire Safety

Because of the highly specialized skills needed to conduct professional fire safety inspections, AAA/CAA Tourism Editors cannot assess fire safety.

Properties must meet all federal, state and local fire codes. Each guest unit in all U.S. and Canadian lodging properties must be equipped with an operational, single-station smoke detector. A AAA/CAA Tourism Editor has evaluated a sampling of the rooms to verify this equipment is in place.

Mexico and the Caribbean

Requirements for some features, such as door locks and smoke detectors/sprinkler systems, differ in Mexico and the Caribbean. If a property met AAA's security requirements at the time of the evaluation, the phrase "Meets AAA guest room security requirements" appears in the listing.

Service Animals

The Americans With Disabilities Act (ADA) prohibits U.S. businesses that serve the public from discriminating against persons with disabilities. Some businesses have mistakenly denied access to persons who use service animals. Businesses must permit entry to guests and their service animals, as well as allow service animals to accompany guests to all public areas of a property.

A property is permitted to ask whether the animal is a service animal or a pet, and whether the guest has a disability. The property may not, however, ask questions about the nature of the disability, the service provided by the animal or require proof of a disability or certification that the animal is a service animal. These regulations may not apply in Canada, Mexico or the Caribbean.

No fees or deposits, even those normally charged for pets, may be charged for service animals. Service animals fulfill a critical need for their owners—they are not pets.

Mitten-shaped Michigan greets visitors with a hearty wave hello.

When exploring the Wolverine State, start at the base of the thumb, where Henry Ford's jumpy Model T turned Detroit into the world's best known assembly line.

Head to the pinkie, where Sleeping Bear Dunes National Lakeshore is lapped by Lake Michigan, only one of the truly "great" lakes bordering the state. Lining the lakes are more than 100 lighthouses that illuminate the way for American and Canadian ships.

Near the heel of the hand is Holland, a town proud of its Dutch heritage. On any given day you can see shopkeepers scrubbing the cobblestone sidewalks and crafting wooden shoes.

Between the thumb and forefinger is Frankenmuth, which has a decidedly German flavor. Melodies ring through the streets from the 35 bells of the Glockenspiel Tower.

And at the fingertip, Mackinac Bridge, one of the longest suspension bridges in the world, connects Colonial-style Mackinaw City to the Upper Peninsula, where more than 150 cascading waterfalls, including spectacular Tahquamenon Falls, delight spectators. Here boats chug through Soo Locks and steep cliffs are dubbed Pictured Rocks.

Spend some time in Michigan; you'll find it carries a bit of everything in its hand.

Ever since Charles King drove the first "horseless carriage" down the streets of Detroit in 1896, Michigan has been synonymous with motoring. Henry Ford and Ransom E. Olds hopped on the wagon, so to speak, and before long, "merry Oldsmobiles" and "Tin Lizzies" came to represent a freedom not previously known to travelers—putting Michigan on the map and making millionaires of many.

Ford's assembly line concept made mass production of automobiles possible, bringing great wealth to auto barons. Visit Henry Ford's Fair Lane mansion in Dearborn to get a glimpse of how the Fords spent their earnings. If the house itself isn't enough to make your jaw drop, Clara Ford's formal rose garden should do it. It once was attended by 20 full-time gardeners.

Take a tour of Edsel and Eleanor Ford's sprawling estate in Grosse Pointe Shores. On its 87 acres is the Play House given to daughter Josephine on her seventh birthday. Constructed in mock-Tudor style and in three-fourths scale, the cottage is every little girl's dream—and is probably more expensive than most real houses.

Hit the Road, Jack

The automobile remains the most convenient form of travel, and there's no better means of visiting some of Michigan's smaller towns.

Take to the highway and explore Holland. Be sure to arrive in May, when millions of colorful tulips bloom during the spring festival. Slip into a pair of wooden shoes, clomp around the town's adorable restored downtown and check out the wee Dutch village surrounding De Zwaan windmill.

If you prefer sausage and sauerkraut, cruise to Frankenmuth, which sports a Bavarian architectural flair. You'll think you're smack in the middle of Munich when you hear the Glockenspiel Tower's twinkling bells. Sneak a smooch under the Holz-Brücke covered bridge before heading to giant Bronner's Christmas Wonderland, rumored to be the world's largest Christmas store. With a showroom bigger than a football field, the talk may be true.

Heading north, you'll reach Mackinaw City. Costumed guides at Fort Michilimackinac, built by the French in 1715, reenact life during Colonial days by launching cannons on

By Bridge or Ferry

With most of Michigan surrounded by those "great" lakes, bridges provide another handy way to get around. For starters, take the Mackinac Bridge from Michigan's Lower Peninsula to the rugged Upper Peninsula (U.P.). The bridge, affectionately termed "Big Mac," stretches across the Straits of Mackinac, where lakes Michigan and Huron meet.

How about lunch in Canada? Drive over the Detroit River on the Ambassador Bridge, which links Detroit and Windsor, Ontario. Impress friends back home with your fancy international itinerary.

To get to peaceful Mackinac Island, you'll have to take a ferry, catamaran or plane. Once you're there, ride in a horse-drawn carriage, bike or stroll—but leave your car behind, since no automobiles are allowed on this little island. Browse the boutiques in downtown's gingerbread-laced buildings, sampling homemade fudge at one of many candy shops. Even if locals call you a "fudgie" (tourist), the chocolaty goodness will make up for it! Next, take a tour of the 1887 Grand Hotel, a beautiful white Victorian building with a sweeping 600-foot-long veranda topped by a sky-blue ceiling.

Outdoorsy folks will love Isle Royale National Park, off the western tip of the U.P. in Lake Superior; a ferry or floatplane can escort you. This roadless island is home to historic lighthouses, shipwrecks, ancient copper mining sites and lots of spots to see moose and wolves.

A unique mode of transit exists on the U.P.—the Soo Locks, which allow ships to navigate the rapids between lakes Huron and Superior. You can take a boat tour through the locks to experience a 21-foot lift to the level of Lake Superior. Adjacent St. Marys Rapids are a frothy, delightful sight.

And there's more—from a stop on the Underground Railroad in Kalamazoo to Greenfield Village in Dearborn, where the Wright brothers tinkered with the airplane. Michigan will encourage you to gas up the ol' Chevy and put the "pedal to the metal."

Ransom E. Olds establishes the country's first automobile production factory in Lansing.

Recreation

You've gotta hand it to Michigan. Complete with three national forests, one national park and two national lakeshores—not to mention four Great Lakes and nearly a hundred state parks from Bald Mountain to Sleepy Hollow—it's no wonder the state packs a punch when it comes to recreation options.

Water Watch

Perhaps the coolest outdoor activity here—literally—is donning wet suit and tanks to go scuba diving at one of more than 3,000 shipwrecks littering 38,000 square miles of Michigan's Great Lakes bottomlands. Largely dating to the last quarter of the 19th century, the wrecks are remarkably well-preserved due to the fresh and—here's the key—extremely cold waters of lakes Huron, Michigan and Superior. Depths range from 20 to 150 feet, and visibility varies from excellent to muddy.

Some ships worth looking for: the Bermuda, an 1880s schooner resting only 25 feet below the surface in Murray Bay, off Munising; and the skeletal Michael Groh, which met its fate on a Lake Superior sandbar in November 1895. Of more recent vintage is the Cedarville, a 700-foot ore carrier that sank intact after succumbing to Lake Huron's fury in 1966.

Non-diving adventurers aren't left out of the fun, though: Glass-bottomed boat tours can be chartered in Munising.

Downed ships aren't all you'll find in Michigan's many waterways; fishing is good, too. Along Lake Michigan's shoreline at South Haven and Saugatuck there are plenty of charters targeting coho salmon, which can top 25 pounds. For walleye, float your boat in the Tittabawassee River or Saginaw Bay.

Landlubbers can opt to try their luck on one of several fishing platforms. The 1,000-foot North Pier in St. Joseph and Grand Haven's South Pier are both renowned as perch hangouts. Near Rockford, a deck built specifically to accommodate wheelchairs borders the Rogue River's west bank. And at Lansing's Riverfront Park and Trail there's a water-level dock favored by local anglers.

Those who would rather swing a paddle than cast a line will find ideal conditions for sea kayaking off Pictured Rocks National Lakeshore on Lake Superior, whose waters lap sandy beaches and richly layered sandstone cliffs. But even in top-skirted kayaks a wet suit is standard equipment on frigid Superior, and all small-craft boaters are advised to avoid open water and stay well-informed of weather conditions. Popular put-in points include Sand Point, Miners Beach, the Munising Municipal Boat Ramp and Grand Island Landing. Twelvemile Beach Campground and Grand Marais Marina are at the park's east end.

Should you prefer rubbing shoulders with the big ships, board an authentic ferry steamer in Ludington for a Lake Michigan cruise with an "ocean liner" feel. Or head to Sault Ste. Marie, where 2-hour tours through the Soo Locks put you right alongside enormous freighters.

In addition to its border lakes, Michigan has many inviting interior waterways offering myriad boating options, from low-key canoeing on the Au Sable River, near Roscommon, to high-speed water skiing at Haughton Lake, the state's largest inland body of water.

Shore Leave

You can enjoy Michigan's wealth of water from a distance, too. Climb the dunes to a sweeping view of Lake Michigan at Sleeping Bear Dunes National Lakeshore. Or hike in sight of five waterfalls in the Ottawa National Forest's Black River Harbor area. Within Huron-Manistee National Forest, the Jewell Lake Trail is generally flat enough to allow for easy lakeside ambling. And walkers will enjoy Sault Ste. Marie's waterfront Locks Park Historic Walkway and Silver City's .5-mile elevated boardwalk, which follows the Presque Isle River and passes still more waterfalls.

Scenic drives do the job as well. Especially pretty are the lakeside highway north of Muskegon State Park and Bessemer's Black River National Forest Scenic Byway.

But to really get an overview of the landscape, visit Tower Hill, outside Bridgman, where perfectly placed winds lure hang gliders into the sky year-round.

Recreational Activities

Throughout the TourBook, you may notice a Recreational Activities heading with bulleted listings of recreation-oriented establishments listed underneath. Similar operations also may be mentioned in Destination City recreation sections. Since normal AAA inspection criteria cannot be applied, these establishments are presented only for information. Age, height and weight restrictions may apply. Reservations often are recommended and sometimes are required. Addresses and/or phone numbers are provided so visitors can contact the attraction for additional information.

ADRIAN (I-4) pop. 21,574, elev. 812′

An industrial city on the Raisin River, Adrian has an impressive historic district centered on Dennis and State streets. The 79 houses in the district exemplify the evolution of architectural styles in the area, from the Greek and Gothic revivals of the 1830s to Italianate to the Queen Anne-style houses that became popular after the Civil War. The houses are all privately owned.

The Croswell Opera House, 129 E. Maumee St., is an example of the utilitarian architecture prevalent after the Civil War. It has been offering musicals, plays, lectures and operas since 1866; phone (517) 264-7469.

Lenawee County Chamber of Commerce: 202 N. Main St., Suite A, Adrian, MI 49221; phone (517) 265-5141.

Shopping areas: Adrian Mall, at the junction of US 223 and SR 52, has Elder-Beerman, JCPenney and Sears.

ALBION (I-3) pop. 9,144, elev. 950′

Established at the forks of the Kalamazoo River, Albion retains its history in restored buildings along a brick-lined main street. The Historic Walkway winds around and across the river to notable landmarks, including Albion College.

The Greater Albion Chamber of Commerce: 416 S. Superior St., P.O. Box 238, Albion, MI 49224; phone (517) 629-5533.

WHITEHOUSE NATURE CENTER is .25 mi. s.e. of the Albion College campus, just off Hannah St. The 135-acre outdoor education facility offers five self-guiding nature trails through a variety of natural and man-made habitats. The interpretive building houses a small observation room and exhibits; trail brochures are available.

Guided tours are available by appointment. Allow 1 hour minimum. Building open daily 10:30-4:30; closed major and college holidays. Trails open daily dawn-dusk. Free. Phone (517) 629-0582.

VETERANS GARDEN OF HONOR is just off SR 45 (Lake Michigan Dr.) on 68th Ave. The memorial, dedicated to U.S. veterans, features eight life-size statues placed in a circle surrounding an 18-foot-tall obelisk. Seven soldiers represent the seven U.S. wars, and a statue of a woman honors female veterans. Daily dawn-dusk. Free. Phone (616) 895-6295.

ALPENA (E-5) pop. 11,304, elev. 594′

Settled in 1840 at the head of Thunder Bay, Alpena served the booming lumber enterprises in the late 19th century. It is a center for industry and recreational boating, diving, fishing, snowmobiling, cross-country skiing and hunting. Diving and fishing charters are popular in nearby Lake Huron. The remains of approximately 80 shipwrecks are in the area of Thunder Bay, making Alpena an excellent diving location. The area also is home to a number of lighthouses.

Limestone quarries remain important in the region. North and west of the city is an area of natural sinkholes created by the settling of the limestone crust into caverns formed by subterranean streams. Some of the sinkholes are more than 150 feet deep.

Island Park and Alpena Wildlife Sanctuary, US 23N at the Thunder Bay River, offers nature trails, bird and wildlife viewing and fishing. An 8-mile bicycling and hiking path winds through the city's parks and beaches.

Alpena Area Convention and Visitors Bureau: 235 W. Chisholm St., Alpena, MI 49707; phone (989) 354-4181 or (800) 425-7362.

SAVE BESSER MUSEUM FOR NORTHEAST MICHIGAN is at 491 Johnson St. The museum is a regional center for the art, history and science of northeastern Michigan. Displays include a re-created 1890s street with period shops, Michigan wildlife paintings, sculpture, American Indian artifacts and lumbering and agricultural and industrial equipment. Historical structures are outside. Changing exhibits and a planetarium are featured.

ANN ARBOR (L-2) pop. 114,024, elev. 766′

"Kaw-GOOSH-kaw-nick, kaw-GOOSH-kaw-nick"—the chant of a gristmill resounding through the woods along Allen's Creek about 1824 allegedly furnished the local American Indians with the name for the hamlet that grew up around the mill. The less phonetically inclined settlers preferred Ann Arbor, referring to a grape arbor and the first pioneers' wives, Ann Allen and Ann Rumsey.

While only a mere upstart of 13 years and with fewer than 2,000 residents, Ann Arbor bid for and was granted the University of Michigan. Civic foresight paid off. Since its move from Detroit in 1837 the university has been the primary influence in the growth and life of the city. Research and development industries also contribute significantly to the economy.

Ann Arbor Area Convention and Visitors Bureau: 120 W. Huron St., Ann Arbor, MI 48104; phone (800) 888-9487.

Shopping areas: Kerrytown is a complex of specialty shops housed in three renovated historic buildings next to Farmer's Market on N. Fifth Avenue. JCPenney, Marshall Field's, Sears and Von Maur can be found at Briarwood Mall, I-94 and State Street.

THE ANN ARBOR HANDS-ON MUSEUM is at 220 E. Ann St. The museum offers hundreds of opportunities to explore the worlds of science and technology. More than 250 interactive exhibits are featured, including an operating TV station where children assume roles of director, weatherperson or news anchor. The Measure Up exhibit tests heart rates, body mass index and flexibility. A pre-school gallery is designed for those under age 5.

Allow 2 hours minimum. Mon.-Sat. 10-5, Sun. noon-5; closed major holidays. Admission $7.50; over 65, students with ID and ages 2-17, $6. MC, VI. Phone (734) 995-5439.

DOMINO'S PETTING FARM is off US 23 exit 41, then .5 mi. e. on Plymouth Rd. and .9 mi. n. on Earhart Rd. to 24 Frank Lloyd Wright Dr. Cows, ducks, goats, horses and sheep are among the animals that can be seen here in barns and in open pastures. Such rare breeds as Watusi cattle and wild European hogs also are part of the farm. Hayrides are offered. Children's pony rides are available during weekends for an additional fee.

Picnicking is permitted. Allow 30 minutes minimum. Mon.-Fri. 9:30-4, Sat.-Sun. 10:30-5; closed Dec. 25. Admission $5; senior citizens and ages 2-12, $4.50. MC, VI. Phone (734) 998-0182.

UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN is e. on Huron St. to State St. The university, having outgrown the original 40 acres donated to form the campus, now covers more than 2,800 acres. Highlights include the Gothic buildings of the Law Quadrangle, Power Center for the Performing Arts, Natural Science Museum and the school's two carillons: the 55-bell Baird Carillon at Burton Memorial Tower and the 60-bell carillon at Lurie Tower.

Burton Tower carillon bells play Mon.-Fri. noon-12:30. Lurie Tower carillon bells play Mon.-Fri. 1-1:30, Sun. 1:15-2. Weekly concerts are offered Mon. at 7 p.m., mid-June through July 31. Carillons are closed during exams and university vacations. Phone (734) 764-4636 for general campus information or (734) 764-2539 for Burton Memorial and Lurie towers.

BAD AXE (F-5) pop. 3,462, elev. 765′

SANILAC PETROGLYPHS HISTORIC STATE PARK is 13 mi. s. on SR 53, 3.5 mi. e. on Bay City/Forestville Rd., then .5 mi. s. on Germania Rd. The park contains the Sanilac Petroglyphs, a series of American Indian rock carvings on sandstone. The 300- to 1,000-year-old carvings consist of figures that resemble animals, birds and humans. A mile-long nature trail winds around the site. Allow 30 minutes minimum. Wed.-Sun. 11:30-4:30, Memorial Day-Labor Day. Free. Phone (989) 856-4411.

BALDWIN (F-2) pop. 1,107, elev. 841′

A railroad junction in earlier days, Baldwin offers access to the numerous lakes and streams of the surrounding Huron-Manistee National Forests (see place listing p. 75).

Lake County Chamber of Commerce and Tourist Center: 911 Michigan Ave., P.O. Box 130, Baldwin, MI 49304; phone (231) 745-4331 or (800) 245-3240.

GEM SAVE SHRINE OF THE PINES is 2 mi. s. on SR 37. The shrine was created by Raymond W. Oberholzer as a memorial to the white pine. He hand-chiseled furnishings from tree stumps and roots gleaned from virgin stands of white pine cut in the late 1800s.

Oberholzer scraped the roots with broken glass and wire brushes, then rubbed each piece with handmade sandpaper, natural resin and deer hide. From these pieces he fashioned beds, chairs, chandeliers and candlesticks; particularly impressive is a table with drawers, carved from a 700-pound stump. The furnishings are housed in a log hunting lodge in a wooded park on the banks of the Pere Marquette River. A nature trail meanders through the pines.

Allow 30 minutes minimum. Mon.-Sat. 10-6, Sun. 1:30-6, May 15-Oct. 15. Last tour begins 30 minutes before closing. Admission $3.75; over 54, $3; ages 13-18, $2; ages 6-12, $1; under 6 free; family rate (parents and children under 18) $10. Phone (231) 745-7892.

BATTLE CREEK (I-3) pop. 53,364, elev. 819′

In 1894 two brothers named Kellogg, experimenting in the kitchens of the Battle Creek Sanitarium, developed a flake cereal. From this modest beginning grew the Kellogg Co., the Post Division of Kraft-General Foods Corp. and the Ralston Purina Co., which have made Battle Creek the breakfast food center of the nation.

Battle Creek residents' progressive attitudes are manifested in other issues. In the decades before the Civil War the city was an abolitionist stronghold and an overt station on the Underground Railroad. Thus the names Kellogg and Post are no more important than that of Sojourner Truth. An ex-slave, this tall, persuasive woman carried her crusade for truth and freedom from tiny rooms to President Lincoln's office. She came to Battle Creek in 1858 and died in 1883; her grave is in Oak Hill Cemetery at South Avenue and Oak Hill Drive. Statues in Monument Park and Linear Park honor her work.

Residents find respite from industrial and commercial activities in city parks. Bailey Park and C.O. Brown Stadium, between Capital Avenue and the Battle Creek River, are the scenes of national amateur baseball tournaments. South of town on Goguac Lake, landscaped Willard Park offers water sports and picnicking. Linear Park extends across much of the city, offering 17 miles of landscaped walkways highlighted by gazebos, boardwalks and bridges, which provide opportunities for jogging, bicycling, walking and picnicking.

Guided tours are offered of the Historic Adventist Village, 480 N. Van Buren St. The religious community features restored and re-created 19th-century buildings; phone (269) 965-3000.

Battle Creek/Calhoun County Visitor and Convention Bureau: 77 E. Michigan Ave., Suite 100, Battle Creek, MI 49017; phone (269) 962-2240 or (800) 397-2240.

Shopping areas: Lakeview Square, east on Beckley Road from I-94 and Capital Avenue, has almost 100 stores, including JCPenney, Marshall Field's and Sears. McCamly Place offers specialty stores and restaurants in a high-rise complex on W. Jackson Street.

ART CENTER OF BATTLE CREEK is at 265 E. Emmett St. Changing exhibits of works by regional and national artists as well as art of other cultures are featured. Works by 20th-century Michigan artists and craftspeople can be seen; classes and workshops also are offered. Guided tours are available by reservation. Tues.-Fri. 10-5, Sat. 11-3; closed holidays. Free. Phone (269) 962-9511.

BINDER PARK ZOO is 3 mi. s. of I-94 exit 100 at 7400 Division Dr. The zoo has wooden boardwalks and a conservation adventure station with hands-on activities. Exotic animals live in a natural park setting. Visitors can board a train to tour the safari-style habitat of Wild Africa.

Food is available. Allow 2 hours minimum. Mon.-Fri. 9-5, Sat. and holidays 9-6, Sun. 11-6, late Apr. to mid-Oct. Last admission 30 minutes before closing. Admission (includes safari train) $9.75; over 65, $8.75; ages 2-10, $7.75. DS, MC, VI. Phone (269) 979-1351.

Miller Children's Zoo features a life-size dinosaur replica, a petting area, a miniature train and domestic animal exhibits. Miniature train $2.

KELLOGG'S CEREAL CITY USA is off I-94 to exit 98B, n. to Michigan Ave., then w. to 171 Michigan Ave. The family attraction celebrates Will Kellogg's accidental creation of the cereal industry. Exhibits focus on the trivia, advertising, marketing and history of breakfast cereal. A simulated cereal production line, a historical timeline, four theaters and an interactive Cereal City are included.

Food is available. Allow 2 hours minimum. Mon.-Sat. 9:30-5, Sun. 11-5, early June-late Aug.; Tues.-Fri. 10-4, Sat. 10-5, Sun. noon-5, mid-Apr. to early June and late Aug.-Oct. 31; Sat. 10-5, Sun. noon-5, rest of year. Closed Jan. 1 and Dec. 24-25. Admission $7.95; over 64, $6.50; ages 3-12, $4.95. AX, DS, MC, VI. Phone (269) 962-6230.

LEILA ARBORETUM is on W. Michigan Ave. at 20th St. A 72-acre tract of ornamental trees and shrubs, the arboretum is known for its collection of mature conifers and perennial demonstration beds. Also featured are a living labyrinth and a children's garden. Arboretum daily dawn-dusk. Children's garden Thurs.-Mon. 10-6, Memorial Day-Labor Day; Sat.-Sun. noon-6, day after Labor Day-Oct. 31. Admission $5, senior citizens and military with ID $4, children $3, under 3 free. Phone (269) 969-0270.

BAY CITY (G-5) pop. 36,817, elev. 594'

Bay City is a major distribution point for the industrial and agricultural wealth of east-central Michigan. Many domestic and foreign freighters pass through the city's busy port, and boat races are often held on the river. Shipping and commerce have been the foundation of Bay City's prosperity since the demise of its lumber industry around 1900. Mansions built by the lumber barons can be seen along the tree-shaded residential streets in the city's three historic districts.

The Saginaw River and Saginaw Bay provide ample recreational opportunities. Bay City State Recreation Area (see Recreation Chart) is 5 miles north on SR 247 on the Lake Huron shore.

Bay Area Convention and Visitors Bureau: 901 Saginaw St., Bay City, MI 48708; phone (888) 229-8696.

HISTORICAL MUSEUM OF BAY COUNTY is at 321 Washington Ave. Displays, which trace the development of Bay County, include period rooms and exhibits pertaining to agriculture, maritime history, American Indian culture, the fur trade and the lumber, shipbuilding and shipping industries. A research library also is included. Allow 1 hour minimum. Museum open Mon.-Fri. 10-5, Sat.-Sun. noon-4. Library open Tues.-Thurs. 1-5. Free. Phone (989) 893-5733.

SAGINAW BAY VISITOR CENTER is 3 mi. n. in Bay City State Recreation Area. Permanent and changing exhibits depict life in the wetlands. A 15-minute multimedia presentation about wetlands development is offered. The paved Frank N. Anderson Nature Trail leads to Tobico Marsh, a 1,700-acre refuge for more than 100 species of birds and migratory waterfowl. Nature trails, observation towers and a boardwalk are included. Allow 30 minutes minimum. Tues.-Sun. noon-5. Admission $8 per private vehicle. Phone (989) 667-0717.

BEAVER ISLAND (B-4)

About 30 miles offshore in Lake Michigan, Beaver Island is the largest island of the Beaver Archipelago. The French established the island's first settlement but abandoned it in 1603. The arrival of the Mormons in 1847, led by tyrannical king and politician James Jesse Strang, aroused resentment on the mainland, leading to dissolution of the colony by force in 1856. The island was eventually settled by Irish fishermen.

The island is popular for fishing and hunting. A museum occupies an 1850 print shop built by the Mormons. St. James, the former Mormon capital and a pleasant vacation spot, is accessible from Charlevoix (see place listing p. 46) by boat or plane.

BENZONIA (E-2) pop. 519

BENZIE AREA HISTORICAL MUSEUM is 1 blk. w. of US 31 at 6941 Traverse Ave. (River Rd.). Housed in a century-old church, the museum contains a large display about the farmers, fishermen, lumberjacks and sailors who tamed the northern

CHEBOYGAN (D-4) pop. 5,295, elev. 600′

The crew members of the Coast Guard icebreaker Mackinaw make Cheboygan their home port. Specialized construction fits the ship for rescue towing as well as icebreaking; it is credited with extending the shipping season on the Great Lakes by 6 weeks. When in port, the Mackinaw is docked on the Cheboygan River; visitors are welcome.

This industrial and resort city is surrounded by some of Michigan's largest lakes. Mullett and Burt lakes, both noted for bass and muskellunge, are part of the historic inland waterway. The waterway became a major transportation link in the late 19th century after a lock was built at Cheboygan. Traffic consists of pleasure boaters, who can still cruise as far as Conway.

One of the Great Lakes' largest cattail marshes, a nesting site for 54 bird species, can be viewed from a boardwalk in Gordon Turner Park at the north end of Huron Street. The Mackinac Bridge and Round and Bois Blanc islands also can be seen from the boardwalk and from the nearby fishermen's walkway.

Cheboygan Area Chamber of Commerce: 124 N. Main St., P.O. Box 69, Cheboygan, MI 49721; phone (231) 627-7183 or (800) 968-3302.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY MUSEUM OF CHEBOYGAN COUNTY is at 404 S. Huron St. at the corner of Court St. The 1882 two-story brick structure, which includes a county jail, served as the sheriff's home until 1969. The parlor, kitchen, schoolroom and bedrooms are re-created in period style. Logging, railroad, veterans' and marine displays are included.

A flower garden, country store, schoolroom and a 19th-century furnished log cabin are on the grounds. Allow 30 minutes minimum. Mon.-Fri. 1-4, May 1-Oct. 5; otherwise by appointment. Admission $5, under 18 free. Phone (231) 627-9597, or (231) 627-5448 for appointments.

THE OPERA HOUSE is at 403 N. Huron St. The Victorian theater was constructed in 1877, rebuilt following a fire in 1888 and restored in 1984. Mary Pickford, Annie Oakley and Marie Dressler were among the theater's actors and entertainers; it now plays host to local and professional entertainment and arts events. Guided tours are given Tues.-Fri. 1-4, June-Sept. Admission $1. Phone (231) 627-5432, or (231) 627-5841 for the box office.

AAA and Motorsports

AAA, a pioneer in the development and growth of auto racing during the first half of the 20th century, has returned to the racetrack. Today the association is the "Official Auto Club" and "Official Roadside Assistance Provider" of 11 tracks owned and operated by the International Speedway Corporation (ISC), which hosts the NASCAR NEXTEL Cup Series and Indy Racing League (IRL) events.

As part of an agreement with ISC, AAA's widely recognized logo appears on track safety and recovery vehicles as well as on track signs, in racing programs and at other promotional venues. ISC, a leading promoter of motorsports activities in the United States, conducts more than 100 events annually. ISC/AAA facilities include California Speedway in Fontana, Calif.; Darlington Raceway in Darlington, S.C.; Daytona International Speedway in Daytona Beach, Fla.; Homestead-Miami Speedway in Homestead, Fla.; Kansas Speedway in Kansas City, Kan.; Martinsville Speedway in Martinsville, Va.; Michigan International Speedway in Cambridge Junction, Mich.; Phoenix International Raceway in Phoenix, Ariz.; Richmond International Raceway in Richmond, Va.; Talladega Superspeedway in Talladega, Ala.; and Watkins Glen International in Watkins Glen, N.Y.

COPPER HARBOR (A-3) elev. 621′

Tales of copper lying on the lakeshore first drew explorers, then miners, to the remote Keweenaw Peninsula. The deposits proved scant, and Copper Harbor lost its vitality as its mines, timber and port activity successively dwindled.

Michigan's northernmost community is a popular summer vacation spot. Boat trips to Isle Royale National Park (see place listing p. 77) are available mid-May to late September. Lake Superior and the surrounding woodlands can be viewed along the 9.5-mile Brockway Mountain Drive, which runs west from Copper Harbor and rejoins SR 26 about 10 miles east of Eagle Harbor.

The Astor House Museum at US 41 and SR 26 contains antique dolls, American Indian relics and local historic artifacts. The Estivant Pines, a grove of 100-foot-tall white pines, some 500 years old, grow along the Montreal River. See Upper Peninsula p. 104.

DELAWARE COPPER MINE TOUR is 12 mi. s. on US 41. Visitors can take a self-guiding underground walking tour into a mid-1800s copper mine where veins of copper can be seen. On the grounds are deer, llamas and a skunk. The mine temperature averages 45 F; warm clothing is recommended. Allow 1 hour minimum. Daily 10-6, mid-May to mid-Oct. Admission $9.50; ages 6-12, $5.50. Phone (906) 289-4688.

FORT WILKINS HISTORIC STATE PARK is 1 mi. e. on US 41. The 700-acre park contains the restored buildings of Fort Wilkins, the Army post established in 1844 to protect copper miners. The fort had no hostilities and was finally abandoned in 1870. Refurbished officers' quarters and other buildings can be visited; wildflower and historical exhibits also are included. From late June to late August costumed staff members portray life at the fort in the 1800s.

Allow 1 hour minimum. Daily 8-dusk, Memorial Day to mid-Oct. Park admission $8 per private vehicle. Round-trip fare to Copper Harbor Lighthouse $14; under 12, $9. Phone (906) 289-4215. See Recreation Chart and the AAA Great Lakes CampBook.

Copper Harbor Lighthouse is reached by boat departing from the Copper Harbor Marina, .5 mi. w. on SR 26. Visitors can see the 1866 Copper Harbor Lighthouse, the 1848 lighthouse keeper's house and a 1933 steel light tower. Transportation to the lighthouse is by narrated cruise.

Boats depart the harbor daily on the hour 10-5, July 1-Labor Day; at 10, noon, 2 and 4, Memorial Day-June 30 and day after Labor Day to mid-Oct. A sunset tour departs daily 90 minutes before dusk, July 1-Labor Day. Fare $14; under 12, $9. Sunset tour $18. AX, DS, MC, VI. Phone (906) 289-4966 for the marina, or (906) 289-4215 for Fort Wilkins.

One of the world's greatest automobile manufacturing cities, Detroit is an international symbol of America's productive might. The spirit of Detroit—the automobile and the assembly line—has spread around the globe, profoundly changing the lives of millions of people.

The French settled the city in 1701 and called it d'etroit or city "of straits," referring to the 27-mile Detroit River that connects lakes Erie and St. Clair. The Detroit River, a segment of the international border between the United States and Canada, marks the only point where Canada lies directly south of the United States. A remnant of the early settlement is Ste. Anne de Detroit Catholic Church. Its original log chapel was built in 1701. Another historic place of worship is the Old Mariners' Church at 170 E. Jefferson Ave. Built in 1849, it was moved to its present location in 1955 to make way for the construction of the civic center. Tours are available; phone (313) 259-2206.

Strategically located, Detroit was the objective of several major campaigns during the struggle for supremacy between the French and British. During the Revolutionary War the community served as northwest headquarters for the British. The settlement took on new life following the War of 1812; the launching in 1818 of the first steam vessel on the Great Lakes and the subsequent expansion of shipbuilding and commerce helped to assure the future prosperity of the city.

However, at the turn of the 20th century Detroit was still a tree-shaded small town busily engaged in making stoves, beer and carriages. This serenity was broken by Henry Ford's creation, a practical vehicle propelled by power generated from within itself, the wheezing, sputtering Model T. Detroit was never the same.

With the growth of the automobile industry the town burst its river-hugging confines and absorbed surrounding communities. To augment local manpower for the assembly lines, Detroit turned to Europe for help and soon became one of the largest cities in the United States.

While still recovering from rapid growth and expansion, the city has recast its image. Although such tags as the Motor City are foremost in outsiders' minds, Detroit residents are eager to point out that the port of Detroit is one of the world's busiest inland ports and ranks high in customs collection. The Detroit area is a great steel center and a leader in the manufacture of office equipment, paint, rubber products, salt and more than half the garden seed used throughout the country.

A polyglot community pulled together by high aspirations and hard work, Detroit has many sports and cultural activities. The city boasts a civic center complex as well as varied sports facilities, an excellent park system and numerous theaters, museums and galleries.

The Detroit Civic Center covers 75 acres along the downtown riverfront. The center includes Cobo Conference/Exhibition Center, phone (313) 877-8111; Cobo Arena, phone (313) 983-6616; Joe Louis Arena, phone (313) 983-6606; and Renaissance Center, phone (313) 568-5600.

Getting There

By Car

Interstate highway systems provide speedy access to Detroit from the north, south and west. I-75 enters Detroit from the south and the north; SR 10 also enters from the north. Approaching from the west and the northeast is I-94; also entering from the west is I-96. From the east, Canadian Hwy. 401 becomes SR 3 when entering Detroit from Windsor, Ontario, via the toll bridge, and SR 3B when entering via the toll tunnel.

Getting Around

Street System

City planners originally patterned Detroit after Washington, D.C., but abandoned this plan during its rapid growth. Instead, planners superimposed the basic grid system on Detroit's downtown streets. The result is confusing to drivers; since most of the downtown streets are one-way, a detailed map is necessary. Detroit's freeway system provides access to points within the city. Rush hours, 7-9 and 4-6:30, should be avoided.

Parking

Metered parking is minimal in downtown Detroit; most of the 8,000 meters are in the fringe areas. To compensate for this, Detroit has many municipal and privately operated parking lots and garages. Rates range from approximately $1 to $2.50 for the first hour and average 50c to 85c for each additional hour. Some offer flat daily rates of $3.50 to $8, with reduced fees for evenings and during events.

Public Transportation

Considering the confusing maze of downtown streets and the hectic pace of traffic, Detroit's Department of Transportation might be the answer to getting from one place to another with minimal frustration. Bus fare is generally $1.50, plus 25c for each transfer. For schedules and routes phone (313) 933-1300.

For those who would like to ride in a different style, antique red and brass trolleys run from Times Square to the Renaissance Center Mon.-Fri. 7-6, Sat.-Sun. 10-6, May-Nov. (weather permitting). An English double-decker trolley travels the same route Memorial Day to Labor Day. Hours are extended during events and shortened during winter months. The fare is 50c each way; phone (313) 224-6449.

The automated People Mover, a 2.9-mile elevated light-rail system, operates through the central business district, including the Civic Center, Mon.-Thurs. 7 a.m.-11 p.m., Fri. 7 a.m.-midnight, Sat. 9 a.m.-midnight, Sun. noon-8. Hours are extended

Destination Detroit

It's the Motor City. Motown's hometown. And an inland port on par with some of the world's busiest.

But diverse Detroit is much more than an industrial hub. Also assembled here are cultural diversions, professional sports teams and a wealth of sites embracing wonders of progress and reminders of the past.

Theater and Concerts

The industrial side of Detroit is tempered by the city's notable cultural offerings. The Detroit Symphony plays a full season of concerts, including children's concerts at Orchestra Hall; phone (313) 576-5111. Throughout the year the following theaters offer a variety of stage presentations, including concert artists, drama, opera and dance: Fox Theatre, (313) 471-3200; the Masonic Temple, (313) 832-2232; and the Music Hall Center for the Performing Arts, (313) 963-7622.

Detroit ranks high in sales of theater tickets. Professional repertory, including first-run and off-Broadway productions, can be enjoyed at the Fisher Theater at 3001 W. Grand Blvd.; phone (313) 872-1000. Evening and matinee performances are offered at the Detroit Repertory Theatre; phone (313) 868-1347.

Other area theaters offer concerts and plays sponsored by the drama departments of the University of Detroit-Mercy, (313) 993-1130, and Wayne State University, (313) 577-2960 or (313) 577-2972. Among the area's popular suburban theaters are the Meadowbrook Music Festival, (248) 475-5668; the DTE Energy Music Theatre, (248) 377-0100; the Palace of Auburn Hills, (248) 377-0100; and the Jerome Duncan Ford Theatre at Freedom Hill, 14900 Metropolitan Pkwy. in Freedom Hill County Park, Sterling Heights, (586) 268-5100.

Several first-run multiple cinemas dot the suburbs. Local newspapers carry complete information concerning concerts, theater, movies and other events.

Special Events

Summers in Detroit, though at times hot and humid, are celebrated with a variety of events. Festivities begin with Flower Day at Eastern Market in May.

In late June and early July, Detroit and Windsor, Ontario, share the International Freedom Festival, considered to be the largest transborder festival in North America. The two holidays celebrated are Canada Day, July 1, and Independence Day, July 4. Sports events, concerts, fireworks, parades and cultural arts and craft shows take place during the 2-week-long celebration.

The Michigan State Fair follows in late August. For music lovers the Detroit International Jazz Festival is presented over Labor Day weekend. Initiating the holiday season is the Michigan Thanksgiving Day Parade on Thanksgiving Day.

BLOOMFIELD HILLS (K-5) pop. 3,940

In 1819 Judge Amasa Bagley cleared land for a tavern and a farm on what was to become known as Bagley's Corner. It remained an agricultural center until about 1900 when city dwellers from Detroit began to buy acreage for estates. In 1932 the name was changed to Bloomfield Hills.

Among the wealthy who were attracted to this quiet community during the first decade of the 20th century were the publisher of The Detroit News, George G. Booth, and his wife, Ellen Scripps Booth. Their estate, Cranbrook, has become a notable cultural and educational center.

CRANBROOK EDUCATIONAL COMMUNITY is at 39221 Woodward Ave. (SR 1). The 319-acre campus includes a natural science museum, a modern and contemporary art museum, a college preparatory school, a graduate art academy, a historic home and more than 40 acres of sculpture-filled gardens. The buildings represent designs by prominent architects.

PLYMOUTH (L-3) pop. 9,022, elev. 741′

Plymouth was founded in 1867 by a group of settlers from Plymouth, Mass. Their Colonial influence can still be seen in the town's architecture.

Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce: 386 S. Main St., Plymouth, MI 48170; phone (734) 453-1540.

PLYMOUTH HISTORICAL MUSEUM is 1 blk. n. of Kellogg Park at 155 S. Main St. The history of early Plymouth is explored. A gallery houses Main Street shops and offices and reflects many trades and professions of 19th-century Plymouth. Highlights include the Abraham Lincoln and Victorian Rooms exhibits. The 15,000-square-foot museum has what is said to be the only Alter car, built in Plymouth 1916-17. A collection of Daisy air rifles also is displayed. Allow 1 hour minimum. Wed.-Thurs. and Sat.-Sun. 1-4. Admission $3, students with ID $1, family rate $7. Phone (734) 455-8940.

PONTIAC (K-4) pop. 66,337, elev. 933′

Pontiac was established in 1818 where the Pontiac Trail crossed the Clinton River. Settlers began pouring in, and by the 1880s the city entertained a major wagon and carriage making industry. In a sense, it still does: What began as the Pontiac Spring Wagon Works is known as General Motors. The Pontiac Division of General Motors perpetuates the name of the great Ottawa Indian chief who reputedly spent his summers at nearby Orchard Lake.

A number of municipal parks and more than 400 nearby lakes that arc around the western side of the city offer outdoor recreation.

ROCHESTER (K-5) pop. 10,467, elev. 745′

Although on the fringe of metropolitan Detroit, Rochester lies among wooded hills—an apt home for Oakland University.

Rochester Regional Chamber of Commerce: 71 Walnut Blvd., Suite 110, Rochester, MI 48307; phone (248) 651-6700.

OAKLAND UNIVERSITY'S MEADOW BROOK HALL is 3 mi. e. via Walton Blvd., then .3 mi. s. on Adams Rd. on the eastern campus of Oakland University. This 1920s Tudor Revival-style mansion was once the residence of Matilda Dodge Wilson and lumber broker Alfred G. Wilson. The 80,000-square-foot, 100-room home boasts a two-story ballroom, 24 fireplaces, hand-carved paneling, sculptured ceilings and many original furnishings and works of art.

Knole Cottage, also on the premises, is a brick six-room playhouse built for the Wilsons' daughter. It is furnished in the same style as Meadow Brook Hall. Visitors can walk through the various gardens; spring, summer and autumn provide the best viewing opportunities.

Allow 1 hour, 30 minutes minimum. Guided tours are given daily at 11:30, 12:30, 1:30 and 2:30, Memorial Day-Aug. 31; at 1:30 (also Sat.-Sun at 11:30, 12:30 and 2:30), rest of year. DOUGLAS (H-1) pop. 1,214

Before a bridge linked the towns of Douglas and Saugatuck (see place listing p. 99), the only way across the Kalamazoo River was by a hand-cranked, chain-powered ferry. Despite the presence of a bridge, the ferry continued until recently to operate as it had since the 1830s, carrying pedestrians and bicyclists between the two towns daily.

In keeping with the town's quaint atmosphere and charm, no fast food restaurants can be found. On area beaches, rock hounds can find septarian nodules. When halved and polished, these concretions display an endless array of designs.

SS KEEWATIN is moored off CR A2 (Blue Star Hwy.) at the Kalamazoo River s. of the Saugatuck-Douglas Bridge. One of the last of the classic steamships, it was built in Scotland in 1907 for the Canadian Pacific Railway's upper Great Lakes passenger route. Now a marine museum, the 350-foot coal-burning vessel is maintained and preserved as it was during its 57 years of service on the lakes.

The museum can be seen by guided 45-minute tours. Other tours also are available. Tours daily 10:30-4:30, Memorial Day weekend-Labor Day. Admission $8; ages 6-12, $4. DS, MC, VI. Phone (269) 857-2464.

DOWAGIAC (I-2) pop. 6,147, elev. 772′

MUSEUM AT SOUTHWESTERN MICHIGAN COLLEGE is e. on SR 62 from SR 51, then .2 mi. s. to 58900 Cherry Grove Rd., following signs. The museum explores science, technology and regional history through hands-on exhibits, artifacts and pictures. Permanent exhibits include displays about American Indians, pioneers, the Underground Railroad, agriculture and industry. Allow 30 minutes minimum. Tues.-Sat. 10-5 (also Wed. 5-8); closed holidays. Free. Phone (269) 782-1374.

DRUMMOND ISLAND (B-6) pop. 500

Part of the rocky Manitoulin archipelago that separates Georgian Bay and the North Channel from the rest of Lake Huron, Drummond Island lies off the eastern tip of the Upper Peninsula at the mouth of the St. Marys River.

When the treaty ending the War of 1812 ousted the British from Mackinac Island, they re-established their garrison on the southwest promontory of Drummond Island, despite the fact that the boundary through the archipelago was still indefinite. British attempts to obtain the island failed, and in 1828 the Union Jack was lowered.

Anglers, boaters, hunters and vacationers are drawn to this cliff-bound, deeply indented wilderness isle. Its woodlands harbor deer, grouse and rabbits; duck hunting is particularly good. From the bays and inlets come bass, northern pike, yellow perch and walleye. Hiking in the summer and snowmobiling in the winter are favorite pastimes along the forest trails. Dolomite quarries augment the economy. The island is accessible by automobile ferry from De Tour Village on SR 134.

The Drummond Island Historical Society Museum, 10 miles from the ferry on the northwest end of the island, contains rocks and minerals, American Indian artifacts, furniture and written accounts of the island's history. Phone (906) 493-5746.

DRYDEN (H-5) pop. 815

SEVEN PONDS NATURE CENTER is 4 mi. w. on Dryden Rd., then 1 mi. s. to 3854 Crawford Rd. Various natural communities—Earl's Prairie, glacial lakes, an herb garden, wetlands, a wildflower garden and a butterfly garden—are accessible by 6 miles of trails contained within 323 acres. Maps are available at an interpretive center. Allow 1 hour minimum. Tues.-Sun. 9-5; closed Jan. 1, Thanksgiving, day after Thanksgiving and Dec. 24-25 and 31. Admission $3; under 12, $1. Phone (810) 796-3419.

DURAND (H-4) pop. 3,933, elev. 796′

MICHIGAN RAILROAD HISTORY MUSEUM AND DURAND UNION STATION is at 200 Railroad St. Railroad artifacts are displayed, a library houses abundant literature about railroads and there is a tribute to rail workers. Allow 30 minutes minimum. Tues.-Sun. 1-5; closed holidays. Donations. Phone (989) 288-3561.

EAST LANSING (H-4) pop. 46,525

Primarily residential, East Lansing complements the governmental and industrial emphasis of Lansing (see place listing p. 79), which it abuts. The creation of Michigan Agricultural College in 1855 spurred the town's growth; since then East Lansing's development has paralleled that of the school, which became Michigan State University.

MICHIGAN STATE UNIVERSITY is e. on Grand River Ave. (SR 43), following signs. The school is on a 5,320-acre educational campus; its housing complex lodges more than 20,000 students and student families.

On the main campus are the Kellogg Center for Continuing Education, the Munn Ice Arena, the Breslin Student Events Center, seasonal displays of the 1873 Beal Botanical Garden, and the Wharton Center for Performing Arts. Tours of the Wharton Center are offered by appointment. Phone (517) 355-4458 for general campus information, (517) 432-9508 for campus tour information or (517) 432-2000 for the Wharton Center.

Abrams Planetarium is on the Michigan State University campus. The planetarium offers a variety of exhibits about astronomy and features a Digistar II projector. A highlight is a curving gallery that features astronomical paintings made with fluorescent paint, hung against black walls and lit with ultraviolet lights. It is recommended that early elementary and preschool children attend the family planetarium show.

Exhibit hall and black light gallery open Mon.-Fri. 8:30-noon and 1-4:30, Sept.-July. Planetarium shows Fri.-Sat. at 8 p.m., Sun. at 4 (family show Sun. at 2:30), Sept.-July. Exhibit hall free. Planetarium shows $3; over 64 and students with ID $2.50; under 13, $2. Ticket sales begin 30 minutes prior to showtimes. Phone (517) 355-4676.

Beaumont Tower is on the Michigan State University campus. On the site of one of the Michigan Agricultural College's original buildings, the tower contains a 49-bell carillon.

Kresge Art Museum is on the Michigan State University campus. Noted for its comprehensive collections of art from many cultures, the museum contains exhibits spanning more than 5,000 years of art history. Changing exhibits are presented. Guided tours are available by reservation. Mon.-Fri. 10-5 (also Thurs. 5-8), Sat.-Sun. noon-5, Labor Day-May 31; Tues.-Fri. 11-5, Sat.-Sun. noon-5, June-July. Closed major holidays. Free. Phone (517) 355-7631 or (517) 353-9834.

MSU Museum is on campus opposite the library. Three floors display permanent and changing natural and cultural history exhibits. The museum features full dinosaur skeletons and audiovisual presentations. Guided tours are available. Allow 30 minutes minimum. Mon.-Fri. 9-5, Sat. 10-5, Sun. 1-5; closed major holidays. Donations. Limited metered parking is available; parking permits are sold in the museum store and at the visitor counter. Phone (517) 355-2370, or (517) 432-1472 for tours.

Television Studio (WKAR-TV) is in the MSU Communication Arts and Sciences Building at Wilson and Red Cedar rds. The station contains three studios and complete facilities for live programming and student training. Guided tours are available by appointment. Mon.-Fri. 9-noon and 1-4. Free. Phone (517) 432-9527.

EAST TAWAS (F-5) pop. 2,951, elev. 588′

East Tawas, a resort community on Tawas Bay, offers opportunities for exploring the woodlands of nearby Huron-Manistee National Forests (see place listing p. 75). Fishing is good, particularly for perch, salmon, trout and walleye. Recreational opportunities also are available at Tawas Point State Park (see Recreation Chart and the AAA Great Lakes CampBook).

ELK RAPIDS (E-3) pop. 1,700, elev. 587′

GUNTZVILLER'S SPIRIT OF THE WOODS MUSEUM is 2 mi. s. on US 31. The museum houses collections of American Indian artifacts and dioramas displaying North American animals and fish. Arrowheads, pipes, ceremonial pieces, bows and moccasins are exhibited, while preserved beavers, otters, deer, bison, bears and minks are among the animals mounted in natural settings. Collections of early hunting and fishing gear also are displayed.

Allow 1 hour minimum. Mon.-Sat. 9-5, Sun. 11-4; closed Dec. 25. Admission $3; over 64 and students with ID $2; ages 6-12, $1; two adults $5. DS, MC, VI. Phone (231) 264-5597.

ESCANABA (C-3) pop. 13,140, elev. 598′

The logging industry's hunger for the seemingly inexhaustible stands of Upper Peninsula pine spurred the establishment of Escanaba in the early 1800s. Its excellent deepwater harbor at the mouth of the Escanaba River on Little Bay de Noc also attracted the attention of the various iron enterprises; therefore, the town continued to flourish once the virgin forests were depleted.

Second growth forests are the basis for paper and lumber industries. The only ore port on Lake Michigan, Escanaba still ships several million tons of iron ore every year. North of town lies Hiawatha National Forest (see place listing p. 74).

An especially scenic highway is the section of US 2 that extends 143 miles—about 50 of them along the Lake Michigan shore—between Escanaba and St. Ignace (see place listing p. 98). Also see Upper Peninsula p. 104.

FAYETTE (C-4)

GEM HISTORIC FAYETTE TOWNSITE is off SR 183 in Fayette Historic State Park (see Recreation Chart). The preserved industrial community was founded in 1867 by Jackson Iron Co. manager Fayette Brown. The largely immigrant community thrived after the furnaces began smelting charcoal iron, but when the operation ceased in 1891 due to a decline in the charcoal iron market, the site was abandoned.

Historic buildings are showcased throughout the site, including a company office, furnace complex, hotel, town hall and workers' homes. A self-guiding walking tour begins at the interpretive museum. Along the walk are views of the cliffs and of Lake Michigan.

Museum buildings open daily 9-dusk, mid-June through Labor Day; 9-5, mid-May to mid-June and day after Labor Day to mid-Oct. Park open daily 8 a.m.-10 p.m. Guided tours daily at 10:30, 11:30, 1:30, 2:30 and 3:30, mid-June through Labor Day. Admission $8 per private vehicle. Phone (906) 644-2603.

FLINT (H-4) pop. 124,943, elev. 800′

From its inception Flint has been associated with transportation. In its early days the site was an important river crossing on the Pontiac Trail, one of the network of Indian routes that crisscrossed the wilderness. The logging boom created the need for katydids—two-wheeled log-hauling contrivances—in addition to road carts and wagons; Flint soon became a major center for their manufacture.

The city's subsequent carriage-making industry quickly gained international repute. Flint remains one of the world's largest manufacturers of carriages of the horseless variety and is where General Motors originated.

Flint Area Convention and Visitors Bureau: 316 Water St., Flint, MI 48502; phone (810) 232-8900 or (800) 253-5468.

FRANKENMUTH (G-5) pop. 4,838

Pastors in Bavaria, concerned over the religious life of Lutheran immigrants and their American Indian neighbors, sent a colony to the United States to demonstrate their faith on a day-to-day basis. Fifteen Franconians from Bavaria arrived in the Saginaw Valley in 1845 and named their settlement Frankenmuth, meaning "courage of the Franconians."

The Indian tribe soon moved elsewhere, but the Bavarian heritage remained and was reinforced by other arrivals from Germany. For many years after 1900 German remained the principal language of the community. The Old World atmosphere is still evident in the architecture.

The 35-bell automatic carillon in the Bavarian Inn's Glockenspiel Tower plays selected melodies followed by a presentation of carved wooden figures depicting the legend of the Pied Piper of Hamelin. Nearby is a replica of the 19th-century Holz-Brücke—Frankenmuth's wooden covered bridge that spans the Cass River.

Frankenmuth Chamber of Commerce and Convention and Visitors Bureau: 635 S. Main St., Frankenmuth, MI 48734; phone (800) 386-8696.

Shopping areas: More than 100 gift shops can be found in the business district. River Place Shopping Area, 925 S. Main St., features 30 shops and a nightly laser light show.

Included are displays about the World War I Polar Bears, an army unit based in northern Russia. Visitors can see the uniforms of the state's Medal of Honor recipients as well as the uniforms and flight suits of Michigan's astronauts.

An exhibit is dedicated to POWs and MIAs from the Vietnam, Persian Gulf and Iraq wars. Daily 10-5, Mar.-Dec. Admission $5; senior citizens $4; ages 6-18, $2. Phone (989) 652-8005.

FRANKFORT (E-1) pop. 1,513, elev. 585′

High bluffs surround the natural harbor of Frankfort, one of northwest Michigan's busiest ports. Beach lovers are drawn to the area's sandy shores, and the city's natural harbor, yacht facilities and launching ramp accommodate boating and fishing. North of the city off SR 22 is the Point Betsie Lighthouse, near the entrance to Sleeping Bear Dunes National Lakeshore (see place listing p. 101).

Some think that Jesuit explorer and missionary Pere Jacques Marquette died at the mouth of Betsie Bay in 1675; a marker and wooden cross signify the supposed site. It is generally believed that he died near Ludington (see place listing p. 81), about 50 miles south.

GAYLORD (E-4) pop. 3,681, elev. 1,348′

In the center of the northern end of the Lower Peninsula, Gaylord is one of the highest incorporated communities in Michigan. The Black, Manistee, Pigeon and Sturgeon rivers and the North Branch of the Au Sable River all rise nearby and flow in different directions.

A sister city to Pontresina, Switzerland, Gaylord maintains the atmosphere of an Alpine village. Buildings of Swiss-style architecture line Main and surrounding streets. An average of nearly 150 inches of snow falls on the town and nearby ski slopes and cross-country trails each year. A Swiss essence also pervades community activities throughout the year.

Gaylord Area Convention and Tourism Bureau: 101 W. Main St., P.O. Box 3069, Gaylord, MI 49734; phone (989) 732-6333 or (800) 345-8621.

Beavers, elk and polar bears appear in re-created natural settings, complete with sound effects. A theater shows short nature films. Also featured are two projected image presentations about Joseph Bailly, a fur trapper who worked in Michigan in the early 19th century.

Allow 1 hour minimum. Daily 8:30 a.m.-9 p.m., mid-June through Labor Day; 9:30-6, rest of year. Closed Jan. 1, Thanksgiving and Dec. 25. Admission $6; over 62, $5.50; ages 5-13, $4. DS, MC, VI. Phone (989) 732-4336 or (800) 835-4347.

GERMFASK (B-4) pop. 491

During the lumberjack era Germfask was on the old tote road from Manistique to Seney, 8 miles north. Named by combining the initials of the town founders, the settlement was referred to as the dump because logs were dropped into the Manistique River to be floated to the mill. See Upper Peninsula p. 104.

SENEY NATIONAL WILDLIFE REFUGE visitor center entrance is about 2 mi. n. on SR 77. More than 200 species of birds and other wildlife inhabit the 95,000-acre refuge. Large numbers of Canadian geese breed here; the refuge also has one of the state's highest concentrations of nesting loons and is home to bald eagles, ospreys, sandhill cranes and trumpeter swans. A 1.5-mile walking trail and unpaved 7-mile driving tour route are available. An orientation program is shown at the visitor center.

Visitor center open daily 9-5, May 15-Oct. 15. Refuge office open Mon.-Fri. 8-4. Walking trail open daily dawn-dusk. Driving tour route open daily dawn-dusk, May 15-Oct. 15. Free. Phone (906) 586-9851, ext. 15.

GRAND HAVEN (G-2) pop. 11,168, elev. 603′

At the mouth of the Grand River, Grand Haven benefits equally from its busy port and from the tourists attracted to the beaches, bayous, rolling dunes and wooded hills along Lake Michigan, Spring Lake and Ferrysburg. According to geologists, this is one of the few areas where singing sand is found. When walked upon the tiny sand particles emit a peculiar musical whistle.

Popular beach areas include Grand Haven State Park (see Recreation Chart and the AAA Great Lakes CampBook), 1 mile west, and P.J. Hoffmaster State Park, 10 miles northwest off US 31 (see Recreation Chart). Grand Haven's waterfront features shopping and dining areas and a 2.5-mile boardwalk along the Grand River. The city also has an open-air Farmers Market and Harbourfront Place, a renovated historic piano factory building containing shops and restaurants.

A large musical fountain on Dewey Hill at the waterfront combines light, water and music in nightly concerts held at dusk, Memorial Day through Labor Day and weekends in May and September. During the holiday season it appears as a 40-foot nativity scene and offers evening performances during December.

Trolley car routes through Grand Haven, Spring Lake and Ferrysburg offer convenient access to area attractions and a pleasant way to tour the town. The trolleys operate from Memorial Day through Labor Day. For views from the water there are sailing charters on Lake Michigan and riverboat cruises on the Grand River and Spring Lake. Peak fall color occurs early to mid-October.

Grand Haven/Spring Lake/Ferrysburg Area Convention and Visitors Bureau: One S. Harbor Dr., Grand Haven, MI 49417; phone (616) 842-4499 or (800) 303-4096.

pop. 197,800, elev. 610′

Grand Rapids is a vigorous manufacturing, cultural and convention center. It owes its development and its name to the rapids of the Grand River, a place of gathering and exchange since Louis Campau established a trading post in 1826. The water power and transportation afforded by the river and the abundance of wood from the forests made the growth of the furniture industry almost inevitable. By 1900 the city was renowned as a producer of quality office furniture, a reputation it still maintains.

DeVos Place on Monroe Avenue includes large convention and exhibit halls. Also downtown, the Alexander Calder sculpture "La Grande Vitesse" pays homage to the rapids (vitesse). In contrast are the stolid lines of a reconstructed covered bridge that spans the Thornapple River at Ada, east of Grand Rapids via SR 21.

In the Heritage Hill historic district is the three-story Voigt House Victorian Museum. Built in the late 19th century, the opulent house retains the original furnishings of the Voigt family; phone (616) 456-4600. In nearby Lowell the James C. Veen Observatory is open to the public Saturdays in August (weather permitting); phone (616) 897-7065 after 7:30 p.m. for status.

Broadway shows and performances by the Grand Rapids Ballet, Opera Grand Rapids and the Grand Rapids Symphony are presented at DeVos Performance Hall, on Monroe Avenue N.W. The Grand Rapids Civic Theatre, 30 N. Division Ave., presents community theatrical performances. Concerts and sporting events are held at the Van Andel Arena, 130 W. Fulton St.

Grand Rapids/Kent County Convention and Visitors Bureau: 171 Monroe Ave. N.W., Suite 700, Grand Rapids, MI 49503; phone (616) 459-8287 or (800) 678-9859. See color ad.

BLANDFORD NATURE CENTER is at 1715 Hillburn Ave. N.W. The center is surrounded by 143 acres of fields, forests, ponds and streams. On the grounds are several self-guiding trails. A visitor center has a wildlife care program. Allow 1 hour minimum. Mon.-Fri. 9-5, Sat.-Sun. 1-5; closed holidays. Free. Phone (616) 819-5540.

GRAYLING (E-3) pop. 1,952, elev. 1,132′

Grayling is on the Au Sable River in one of the Lower Peninsula's leading recreation regions. Although the game fish for which it was named no longer inhabit nearby rivers, the town remains a starting point for trout fishing, canoeing, hunting, cross-country skiing and snowmobiling expeditions. Canoeing is especially popular; canoes, supplies and guides are available in the community.

In spring the rare Kirtland warbler nests in a restricted area east of Grayling. This tiny, elusive songbird winters in the Bahamas. Guided tours of the area are offered by the Department of Natural Resources from mid-May through July 4.

Grayling Visitors Bureau: P.O. Box 217, Grayling, MI 49738; phone (989) 348-4945 or (800) 937-8837.

HARTWICK PINES STATE PARK is 7 mi. n.e. on SR 93. The park contains stands of virgin pine and hemlock. The Michigan Forest Visitor Center, a chapel and reproductions of a kitchen, mess hall and workshop from an early logging camp and sawmill are on the grounds. A museum contains displays depicting the state's 19th-century logging industry.

HANCOCK (A-2) pop. 4,323, elev. 607′

Among the many groups of Europeans who settled the Upper Peninsula during the mid-1800s copper boom were Finnish farmers and Cornish miners. Traces of their influence remain. A pasty, the meat pie that often was the lunch of the tough Cornish miners, can still be found. Suomi College in Hancock is the only college in the country founded by Americans of Finnish descent.

Like its sister city Houghton (see place listing p. 75), Hancock depends on tourism and commerce along the Keweenaw Waterway. Created by dredging Portage Lake and cutting a canal to Lake Superior, the waterway bypasses the dangerous waters off Keweenaw Point. Rock hounds can find agates along the beach at F.J. McLain State Park, north on SR 203 (see Recreation Chart and the AAA Great Lakes CampBook). Also north, on US 41, is the Lookout-Historic Monument, which provides fine views of the waterway. See Upper Peninsula p. 104.

QUINCY MINE HOIST is 1 mi. n. on US 41. A guided tour takes visitors to the seventh level of the mine, about 400 feet underground. The mine houses what is believed to be the largest steam-powered hoist ever manufactured. Weighing 880 tons and occupying a four-story hoist house, it could lift 13 tons of ore in an ore car at 36.4 miles per hour. Structures reflect the site's appearance 1846-1945.

Mon.-Sat. 8:30-7, Sun. 12:30-7, mid-June to late Aug.; Mon.-Sat. 9:30-5, Sun. 12:30-5, late Apr. to mid-June and late Aug.-early Nov. Hours vary; phone ahead. Admission $12.50; senior citizens $11.50; ages 6-12, $7.50. Phone (906) 482-3101.

HIAWATHA NATIONAL FOREST

Elevations in the forest range from 580 ft. at Lake Michigan to 960 ft. next to Lake Superior in Munising. Refer to AAA maps for additional elevation information.

With shorelines on lakes Huron, Michigan and Superior, the two portions of the Hiawatha National Forest embrace 893,348 acres of the Upper Peninsula and feature the only Great Lakes lighthouses in the national forest system. The broad western unit extends southward from Munising to Rapid Rivers and includes Big Bay de Noc and Little Bay de Noc. The eastern unit reaches from St. Ignace (see place listing p. 98) north to Whitefish Bay.

The forest also manages Government Island, one of Les Cheneaux Islands (see place listing p. 80), which offers an unspoiled environment for boating and other outdoor activities. Grand Island National Recreation Area near Munising is adjacent to Pictured Rocks National Lakeshore.

Recreational opportunities in the forest include hunting for black bears, deer, grouse, turkeys and rabbits; fishing for bass, pike, trout and walleye; cross-country skiing and snowmobiling; camping; canoeing along canoe routes and boating on more than 400 lakes; and hiking or bicycling along miles of trails. Visitors may enjoy a drive along the Lake Superior shoreline on the Whitefish Bay scenic byway.

West of Munising near the town of Christmas are the Bay Furnace ruins, the remains of an 1870s iron furnace. Forest daily 24 hours. Furnace daily dawn-dusk. Free. For further information contact the Forest Supervisor, 2727 N. Lincoln Rd., Escanaba, MI 49829; phone (906) 786-4062. See Upper Peninsula, Recreation Chart and the AAA Great Lakes CampBook.

VELDHEER TULIP GARDENS is 3 mi. n. on US 31 at Quincy St. On display are more than 275 varieties of tulips and daffodils in a setting of windmills, drawbridges and canals. The main flowering season, with 15 acres of blooms, is late April to early May. A wide selection of bulbs and flowering plants replaces the tulips for the remainder of the year. Daily 8-8, in May; Mon.-Fri. 8-6, Sat.-Sun. 9-5 in Apr. and June-Dec.; Mon.-Fri. 9-5, rest of year. Admission $6; ages 3-13, $3. DS, MC, VI. Phone (616) 399-1900.

WINDMILL ISLAND is at 7th St. and Lincoln Ave. The island is an unusual 30-acre park. Canals, a drawbridge, a miniature Dutch village and spring tulip gardens surround the park's main feature, a 1780s operating windmill brought from the Netherlands. Called De Zwaan, the mill produces a fine graham flour. The post house is a replica of a 14th-century Netherlands wayside inn. A slide presentation is presented all year.

Guided tours are offered. Allow 2 hours minimum. Daily 10-5, late Apr.-early Oct. Admission $7; ages 5-12, $4. Phone (616) 355-1030.

HOUGHTON (A-2) pop. 7,010, elev. 637'

Houghton shares its multinational origins, copper mining heritage and guardianship of the Keweenaw Waterway with nearby Hancock (see place listing p. 73). The Portage Lake Vertical Lift Bridge links the two cities. Mineralogical interests are served at Michigan Technological University.

The city is the mainland headquarters of Isle Royale National Park (see place listing p. 77). Boat service is available between Houghton and the park June to mid-September. Float plane service is available mid-May through September. Also see Upper Peninsula p. 104.

HOUGHTON LAKE (F-3) pop. 3,749

Sportsmen and vacationers have replaced the loggers and commercial anglers who once were the vital elements of Houghton Lake. The village is the core of a year-round resort area that borders the lake of the same name. Michigan's largest inland lake, Houghton Lake is 10 miles long and 6 miles wide with a 32-mile shoreline.

Although summer brings boaters and water skiers and winter attracts snow skiers, fishing knows no season. Ice fishing for bluegill, crappie and walleye is popular, and snowmobile trails are prevalent.

Houghton Lake Chamber of Commerce: 1625 W. Houghton Lake Dr., Houghton Lake, MI 48629; phone (989) 366-5644 or (800) 248-5253.

HURON CITY (F-6)

In 1871 and 1881 catastrophic forest fires twice destroyed Huron City, dashing its hopes of becoming a prosperous lumber center. It was reconstructed after these disasters only to be abandoned a short time later when the wells dried up. Not quite a ghost town, Huron City is owned by the William Lyon Phelps Foundation, which operates the remaining buildings as a museum.

HURON CITY MUSEUMS are on SR 25. The area consists of several restored buildings—a general store, log cabin, church, carriage shed, inn, U.S. Life Saving Station, barns and an information center—containing a variety of artifacts. The House of Seven Gables is a restored 1881 Victorian mansion with original furnishings.

Thurs.-Mon. 10-6, July 1-Labor Day; Sat.-Sun. 11-6, Memorial Day-June 30 and day after Labor Day-Sept. 30. Combination buildings and mansion admission $10; over 62, $8; ages 10-15, $5. Buildings or mansion admission $6; over 62, $5; ages 10-15, $3. Phone (989) 428-4123.

HURON-MANISTEE NATIONAL FORESTS

Elevations in the forest range from 580 ft. around Lake Michigan to 1,407 ft. at Briar Hills north of Harrietta. Refer to AAA maps for additional elevation information.

In the northern part of the Lower Peninsula, Huron-Manistee National Forests extend over 964,711 acres. Through the Huron National Forest flows the Au Sable River, once heavily used to float logs to the sawmills at East Tawas and Oscoda. The river provides electricity generated by the dams along its course.

The forests offer a variety of outdoor recreational opportunities, including hunting for the morel mushroom in the spring, swimming in lakes Huron and Michigan in the summer and cross-country skiing in the winter. Trout fishing is excellent in many lakes and streams as well as in the Au Sable River. The Au Sable, Manistee, Pine and Pere Marquette rivers in the Manistee National Forest are favorites of canoeists; from mid-May to early September a permit is required to canoe on the Pine and Pere Marquette rivers.

The Nordhouse Dunes are spread across a mile of undeveloped shoreline along Lake Michigan in the Manistee National Forest. The dunes provide opportunities for solitude and seasonal deer hunting. The Loda Lake Wildflower Sanctuary offers a 1-mile trail through marsh, forest and orchard. An 11.5-mile trail offers hiking along the Manistee River and connects to the North Country Trail via a wooden suspension bridge across the river. Together the trails make a 22-mile loop.

The River Road Scenic Byway, in the Huron National Forest, runs 22 miles along the south bank of the Au Sable River. The byway provides vistas of tree-banked reservoirs and offers views of bald eagles, spawning salmon, the Canoeists Memorial and the Lumberman's Monument. Part of the Shore-to-Shore Hiking-Riding Trail also traverses the forest. The North Country Trail offers snowshoeing, camping, backpacking and hiking in the Manistee National Forest.

The Lumberman's Monument, a bronze statue depicting early loggers, overlooks the river valley 10 miles northwest of East Tawas. A visitor center at the monument houses interpretive displays that explore the rich logging legacy of the Au Sable River.

The forests are open daily 24 hours. Information and maps of the Huron National Forest can be obtained at district offices in Oscoda and Mio. Offices in Baldwin, Cadillac and Manistee provide information on the Manistee National Forest.

Some areas require a vehicle pass; contact the Huron-Manistee National Forests Headquarters, 1755 S. Mitchell St., Cadillac, MI 49601; phone (231) 775-2421 or (800) 821-6263. See Recreation Chart and the AAA Great Lakes CampBook.

INDIAN RIVER (D-4) pop. 2,008

Today's and yesterday's highways intersect at the heart of the inland waterway in Indian River: I-75 crosses the inland waterway that was once used by Indians to avoid the Straits of Mackinac. Nearby Burt Lake State Park offers recreational opportunities (see Recreation Chart and the AAA Great Lakes CampBook).

Indian River Chamber of Commerce and Tourist Bureau: 3435 S. Straits Hwy., P.O. Box 57, Indian River, MI 49749; phone (231) 238-9325 or (800) 394-8310.

THE CROSS IN THE WOODS is 1 mi. w. of I-75. Said to be the world's largest crucifix, the 55-foot-high cross weighs 21 tons and is made from one California redwood tree. The 13-acre site has an outdoor church, flower gardens and several shrines. A museum features more than 500 nun and priest dolls dressed in the costumes of different religious orders. Allow 30 minutes minimum. Church open daily dawn-dusk. Museum open daily 9-6, Apr.-Oct. Donations. Phone (231) 238-8973 or (231) 238-8722.

INTERLOCHEN (E-2) elev. 849'

The northern Michigan village of Interlochen is headquarters for the Interlochen Center for the Arts, which includes Interlochen Arts Camp, Interlochen Arts Academy and Interlochen Public Radio. Founded in 1928, the camp enrolls students in music, art, dance and drama for 8 weeks each summer. During the winter students participate in academics, fine arts and motion picture classes at the academy.

The 1,200-acre campus includes two large outdoor concert halls, a theater, an art gallery, an indoor auditorium, a chapel/recital hall and a complex of buildings that contains classrooms and studios. For further information contact the Interlochen Center for the Arts, P.O. Box 199, Interlochen, MI 49643; phone (231) 276-7200.

GEM ISLE ROYALE NATIONAL PARK (A-1)

Elevations in the park range from 600 ft. at Lake Superior to 1,394 ft. at Mt. Desor. Refer to AAA maps for additional elevation information.

Northwest of the Upper Peninsula, Isle Royale is the largest island in Lake Superior. Dedicated as a national park in 1940, the main island is about 45 miles long and 8.5 miles across at the widest point. The park boundary extends 4.5 miles offshore. A rugged coastline and numerous crags and ridges add to the park's beauty; 99 percent of the island is wilderness.

Although the soil is only a few inches to a few feet deep, Isle Royale is covered with dense growths of spruce and balsam fir softened by carpets of wildflowers. Beavers, loons, wolves, moose, red foxes and snowshoe hares are abundant in the park. The island is an important research site and is designated as a U.S. Biosphere Reserve.

General Information and Activities

The park is open mid-April through October, with full services from early June through Labor Day. The park's 165 miles of trails are rocky and often wet and slippery; proper footwear should be worn when hiking. Visitors planning hiking trips should write for information. Camping is based on a first-come, first-served basis and is free. Permits are required and are available at ranger stations. Campfires are prohibited at most campgrounds, so visitors should bring self-contained fuel stoves; check with park headquarters or ranger stations.

All surface drinking water must be boiled for 2 minutes or filtered with a .4-micron filter before consumption. Chemical purification will not kill the tapeworm eggs that may exist in the water. No medical facilities are available on Isle Royale.

Swimming in the park is undesirable due to low water temperatures in Lake Superior (35-60 F). Swimming is allowed in the inland lakes; however, there are no lifeguards or beaches. Scuba diving should be attempted only by experienced divers; charters are available. Though a license is not necessary for fishing in the park's inland lakes and streams, Michigan state fishing regulations apply. Only artificial lures are permitted on inland waters. A Michigan state license is required for fishing in Lake Superior's waters. Guides are available for fishing trips.

Travel in the park is on foot or by boat. Canoes, kayaks, boats and motors can be rented and gasoline purchased at Rock Harbor Lodge from late May to mid-September and at Windigo from early June to mid-September. The marina at Rock Harbor Lodge is open from mid-May to mid-September.

Transportation to the park is by boat or seaplane; reservations are recommended. Boat service to the island is available from Copper Harbor aboard the Isle Royale Queen IV mid-May through September. Crossings take 3 hours one way. Boat service is available from Houghton aboard the park-owned Ranger III early June to mid-September. Crossings take 6 hours one way. From Grand Portage, Minn., service is available from the Wenonah mid-June to mid-September, or Voyageur II mid-May through October. Crossings to Windigo take 2-3 hours one way, while the voyage to Rock Harbor takes 7 hours one way.

Float plane service also is available from Houghton mid-May to late September. Schedules and information for all vessels can be obtained from park headquarters. See Upper Peninsula, the Recreation Chart and the AAA Great Lakes CampBook.

WARNING— Crossing Lake Superior to the park in a craft less than 20 feet long is not advised. Private outboards, canoes, kayaks and boats up to 20 feet long may be transported on the Ranger III out of Houghton. Gasoline is available on the island but may not be carried on private boats.

ADMISSION is $4 per day, under 12 free. There are costs for transportation to the park.

PETS are not permitted in the park, including 4.5 miles offshore and on private or commercial vessels going to the park.

ADDRESS inquiries to park headquarters at Isle Royale National Park, 800 E. Lakeshore Dr., Houghton, MI 49931-1869; phone (906) 482-0984. Reservations for Rock Harbor Lodge or housekeeping cabins should be made with Isle Royale Resorts, P.O. Box 27, Mammoth Cave, KY 42259-0027, (270) 773-2191, or from mid-May to mid-September with Rock Harbor Lodge, P.O. Box 605, Houghton, MI 49931-0605, (906) 337-4993.

Points of Interest

Beginning some 4,000 years ago, the park was mined for copper—evidence that the island might have been the source of much of the copper used by early American Indians. The metal has been found throughout the Ohio and Mississippi valleys. Mining activity also took place in the late 1800s on Isle Royale.

GREENSTONE RIDGE AND MINONG TRAILS generally follow the prominent ridges after which they are named. The Greenstone Ridge Trail permits access to points at either end of the island.

MOUNT FRANKLIN is reached by a scenic hike from the head of Tobin Harbor or by trail from Rock Harbor.

MOUNT OJIBWAY is reached by a 1.7-mile hike from Daisy Farm Campground. The peak affords a view of the surrounding countryside.

ROCK HARBOR LIGHTHOUSE is 6 mi. by launch from Rock Harbor Lodge. The restored 1855 lighthouse is reached by a .3-mile trail from the Edisen Fishery.

JACKSON (I-4) pop. 36,316, elev. 942′

Although the Republican Party itself was founded in Ripon, Wis., in 1854, Jackson played host to the party's first formal meeting. The city also was one of the key stops on the Underground Railroad. Some of the houses that served as way stations and sanctuaries still can be seen. Today diversified industry and transportation services anchor Jackson's economy. With 188 lakes, the area offers plenty of recreational opportunities.

LANSING (H-3) pop. 119,128, elev. 843′

Lansing became the permanent state capital in 1847 more by default than design. Weary of wrangling and unable to suggest a better place, the legislature—amid laughter because the chosen site then consisted of one log cabin and a sawmill—gave the honor to Lansing. Because proponents of renaming the new capital Michigan or Michigamme reached a similar impasse, Lansing it remained.

Once the decision was made, the town began to grow. By the time it was incorporated in 1859, there were some 4,000 enterprising residents, an increasing number of small industries, a new brick Capitol and two newspapers that provided more political entertainment than news.

The real industrial flowering of the city is credited to R.E. Olds, whose buggy was one of the first practical motor vehicles. By the early 1900s Lansing was a leading maker of automobiles and gasoline engines. Although its economy is more diversified, Lansing is still a stronghold of the automotive industry. The atmosphere of manufacturing and government is leavened with that of education by Michigan State University and its many points of interest (see East Lansing p. 66).

LES CHENEAUX ISLANDS (B-6)

The many bays and channels (cheneaux) created by the 36 wooded islands that dot Lake Huron off the south shore of the eastern Upper Peninsula account for the islands' name as well as their popularity. This is one of the most scenic snowmobiling, boating and fishing areas in the state. Government Island is maintained as an uninhabited isle by the Hiawatha National Forest (see place listing p. 74).

The islands can be reached from both Hessel and Cedarville. An information center on SR 134 at Cedarville is open Mon.-Fri. 9-5.

LUDINGTON (F-1) pop. 8,357, elev. 593′

Ludington is a popular fishing center and port on the eastern shore of Lake Michigan at the mouth of the Pere Marquette River. Freighters and pleasure craft find safe deepwater harborage in Pere Marquette Lake. Chinook, coho and king salmon can be caught in Lake Michigan and in the Pere Marquette River.

The SS Badger, operated by the Lake Michigan Carferry Service (see color ad p. 81), offers 4-hour cruises and automobile ferry service from Ludington to Manitowoc, Wis. For information and fares phone (800) 841-4243.

The huge illuminated cross that overlooks the harbor marks the spot where Pere Jacques Marquette is thought to have died in 1675. Eight miles north on SR 116, Ludington State Park (see Recreation Chart and the AAA Great Lakes CampBook) borders both Lake Michigan and Hamlin Lake and offers fine beaches, dunes and a visitor center.

MACKINAC ISLAND (C-6) pop. 523

American Indians called it Michilimackinac, or "Great Turtle," but time and usage have shortened the island's name to Mackinac (MACK-i-naw). This limestone outcrop became a frontier outpost in 1780, when the English moved the old French garrison on the mainland to the more strategic island. It remained the stronghold of the Straits of Mackinac for 115 years.

The island is 3 miles long and 2 miles wide with high cliffs fronting the shore. Ravines, natural bridges, caves and strange rock formations can be found. Arch Rock and Sugar Loaf are scenic points. Mackinac Island State Park is particularly attractive in mid-June when the lilacs bloom.

The island can be reached by boat from St. Ignace or Mackinaw City (see place listings p. 98 and p. 83). Summer sports facilities include a yacht harbor and golf courses. Pets must be physically restrained at all times. Accommodations are available from mid-May to late October and mid-December to March.

Ferry service from St. Ignace to Mackinac Island operates from early May through October. For schedules and prices, contact Arnold Mackinac Island Ferry (see color ad p. 82), (906) 847-3351 or (800) 542-8528; Shepler's Mackinac Island Ferry, (906) 643-9440, (231) 436-5023 or (800) 828-6157; or Star Line Mackinac Island Hydro-Jet Ferry (see color ad p. 82), (906) 643-7635 or (800) 638-9892.

Once on the island, transportation is by horse-drawn carriage, bicycle or saddle horse; no motorized vehicles are permitted, except for a public utilities truck, a fire truck and an ambulance. For this reason, SR 185, which rims the island, is possibly the only state highway in the nation on which a motor vehicle accident has never occurred. Bicycles may be brought over on the ferry or rented on the island.

GEM FORT MACKINAC is on a bluff overlooking the harbor. The restored 18th- and 19th-century British and American military outpost is preserved as a museum. All the buildings are original; their history is interpreted through period settings, audiovisual presentations and the Kids' Quarters exhibit. Costumed guides offer reenactments, military music, and cannon and rifle firings.

Food is available. Daily 9:30-8, mid-June to late Aug.; 9:30-4:30, early May to mid-June and late Aug.-early Oct. Admission $9.50; ages 6-17, $6 (admission mid-June to late Aug. includes Benjamin Blacksmith Shop, Biddle House, Dr. Beaumont Museum, McGulpin House and Mission Church). A combination ticket is available that allows admission to 3 of the 4 attractions: Fort Mackinac, Colonial Michilimackinac; Old Mackinac Point Lighthouse and Historic Mill Creek $20; ages 6-17, $12.50. DS, MC, VI. Phone (906) 847-3328 or (231) 436-4100.

Benjamin Blacksmith Shop is on Market St. Demonstrations using original 19th- and 20th-century blacksmith equipment are offered. Daily 11-6, mid-June to late Aug.

Biddle House is on Market St. The house contains early 19th-century furnishings. Domestic craft demonstrations are offered. Daily 11-6, mid-June to late Aug.

Dr. Beaumont Museum is on Market St. Housed in the restored 1820 American Fur Company Store, the museum is dedicated to Dr. William Beaumont, who pioneered studies of the human digestive system. His medical instruments are displayed and are explained by costumed interpreters. Daily 11-6, mid-June to late Aug.

McGulpin House is on Fort St. An example of French-Canadian architecture, the house may have been one of the buildings brought to Mackinac Island from Fort Michilimackinac, established in 1780. Daily 11-6, mid-June to late Aug.

Mission Church is 1 mi. e. on Huron St. The church is the first Protestant work of the American Indians at Fort Mackinac and is said to be the oldest surviving church in the state. It was built in 1829 by local residents in the New England Colonial style and contains an antique organ. Allow 30 minutes minimum. Daily noon-4, mid-June to late Aug.

MACKINAW CITY (D-3) pop. 859, elev. 591′

First a guardian of the Straits of Mackinac, now a destination for thousands of northbound vacationers, Mackinaw City was once a trading post established by early French settlers; the post became Fort Michilimackinac in 1715. During the ensuing decades the strategically situated garrison was held successively by the French, the British, the Indians, then the British again. The British moved the fort to Mackinac Island 1780-81.

The city is connected to the Upper Peninsula by way of the Mackinac Bridge. One of the longest suspension spans in the world, it stretches for 5 miles. Built in 1957, it provided a convenient means of transportation between the two peninsulas. The toll is $2.50.

Shopping areas: Mackinaw Crossings, at 248 S. Huron Ave., is a shopping, dining and entertainment complex containing a five-screen movie theater, restaurants, stores, a free nightly laser show and live theater. More than 100 shops line Central Avenue (Main Street).

COLONIAL MICHILIMACKINAC is on the site of Fort Michilimackinac. The fort comprises 27 acres. Built by the French in 1715, it was occupied by British forces 1761-1781. Among the reconstructed buildings are a priest's house, a guardhouse, blockhouses, barracks, a storehouse, a blacksmith shop, a French church and a British trader's house.

Costumed reenactments, an audiovisual program and exhibits illustrate the history of the fort. Other HISTORIC MILL CREEK is 3 mi. s.e. on US 23. This is the site of an 18th-century industrial complex believed to be the oldest in the Great Lakes region. A water powered sawmill built about 1790 provided lumber for construction on Mackinac Island. Archeological evidence of the sawmill, a dam and several houses was discovered in 1972 by a Cheboygan high school history teacher.

Demonstrations of sawmill operations are given daily. Interpretive nature trails lead to scenic overlooks, including a view of the Mackinac Bridge and a beaver colony. There is a 12-minute audiovisual orientation.

Food is available. Daily 9-5, mid-June to late Aug.; 9-4, early May to mid-June and late Aug.-early Sept. Admission $7.50; ages 6-17, $4.50. MANISTEE (F-2) pop. 6,586, elev. 598′

As early as 1790 French and English fur traders inhabited the area that the Chippewa called Manistee, "spirit of the woods." Thousands of scenic acres of Huron-Manistee National Forests (see place listing p. 75) still stand in preservation today. The 19th-century logging frenzy ensured that the name would outlive the woods, yet the people–mainly Swedes and Norwegians–who came to shear the timber stayed to develop the city.

With the end of the logging era, the "Victorian Port City" turned to other industries, including the production of salt and a paper mill. Manistee, on the eastern shore of Lake Michigan, is a popular fishing location with access to numerous waterways. Vast brine deposits still make Manistee a primary producer of salt.

The North Pierhead Lighthouse, first lit in 1927, welcomes freighters, fishermen, and pleasure craft to the Manistee River channel and the safe harbor found in Manistee Lake.

MARSHALL (I-3) pop. 7,459, elev. 898′

In 1846 near the site of Triangle Park, an event occurred that bore nationwide import. Adam Crosswhite, a Marshall resident, was seized by agents of the Kentucky slaveholder from whom he had escaped 2 years earlier. The townsfolk sprang to his defense, sending the slave hunters home without him and providing the Crosswhite family with passage to freedom in Canada.

Sued by the former slave owner, the Marshall abolitionists lost. The Crosswhite case was instrumental in the creation of the 1850 Fugitive Slave Act, which in turn contributed to tensions that became the Civil War.

A historic houses tour held the first weekend after Labor Day focuses on one of Marshall's hallmarks: an unusual number of excellent, well-preserved examples of Greek and Gothic revival, Italianate and Queen Anne architecture. Their survival resulted in part from the dashing of two 19th-century dreams: Marshall failed to become the capital, and the railroad boom collapsed. Foresight has since supplanted chance, and the structures are carefully protected.

Marshall Area Chamber of Commerce: 424 E. Michigan Ave., Marshall, MI 49068; phone (269) 781-5163 or (800) 877-5163.

MIDLAND (G-4) pop. 41,685, elev. 610′

The development of Midland from a lumber town into a handsome, well-planned and culturally active city is entwined with the growth of the Dow Chemical Co. Large brine deposits precipitated the establishment of the company in Midland.

The Alden B. Dow Home and Studio, 315 Post St., integrates organic textures, geometric angles and rich colors with the natural surroundings. The building was designed by Dow, who apprenticed with Frank Lloyd Wright. Tours are available; phone (989) 839-2744 or (866) 315-7678.

The Tridge, a three-legged pedestrian bridge, is at the confluence of the Tittabawasee and Chippewa rivers. The Pere Marquette Rail-Trail provides 22 miles of paved hiking trails between the Tridge and Coleman. The riverfront area also features picnic facilities, walking trails, an outdoor concert park and a farmers' market.

Midland County Convention and Visitors Bureau: 300 Rodd St., Suite 101, Midland, MI 48640; phone (989) 839-9522 or (888) 464-3526.

MONROE (I-5) pop. 22,076, elev. 590′

One of the oldest communities in the state, Monroe was founded in 1780 by the French at the site of an American Indian village where the River Raisin enters Lake Erie. The settlement, originally called Frenchtown, was the scene of the River Raisin Massacre in 1813 during the War of 1812. Gen. George Custer lived in Monroe for many years before his Army service. A 1920 bronze statue of Custer titled "Sighting the Enemy" is on the southwest corner of N. Monroe Street and W. Elm Avenue.

Shipping and industry support the city. The Vietnam War Memorial is off I-75 exit 15, then one-fourth mile west on SR 50 in Heck Park. The memorial is similar to the one in Washington, D.C., and lists the names of Monroe County soldiers.

Monroe County Convention and Tourism Bureau: 106 W. Front St., P.O. Box 1094, Monroe, MI 48161; phone (734) 457-1030 or (800) 252-3011.

Shopping areas: Frenchtown Square Mall, a half-mile north on US 125 at 2121 N. Monroe St., includes Elder-Beerman and Sears among its stores. Horizon Outlet Center at I-75 exit 11 and LaPlaisance Road offers more than 70 factory outlet stores such as Farberware, Gap and Reebok.

MONROE COUNTY HISTORICAL MUSEUM is at 126 S. Monroe St. Exhibits in the old post office building focus on the family of Gen. George A. Custer as well as on area history. The museum also contains local maps, Victorian furnishings and displays about American Indian and French pioneer history.

Allow 1 hour minimum. Wed.-Sun. 10-5; closed Jan. 1, Easter, Thanksgiving and Dec. 25. Admission June-Aug. $2; ages 7-17, $1. Free rest of year. Phone (734) 240-7780.

RIVER RAISIN BATTLEFIELD VISITOR CENTER is off I-75 exit 14 to 1403 E. Elm Ave. Displays depict the Battle of the River Raisin, one of the largest engagements of the War of 1812. Exhibits include dioramas, fiber-optic maps and mannequins. A 15-minute auditorium presentation explains the major turning points of that war. The center also provides information about Monroe County.

Allow 30 minutes minimum. Thurs.-Tues. 10-5, Memorial Day-Labor Day; Sat.-Sun. 10-5, rest of year. Closed major holidays. Donations. Phone (734) 243-7136 or (734) 240-7780.

MOUNT PLEASANT (G-3) pop. 25,946, elev. 761′

Originally known as Ojibway Besse, Mount Pleasant was a hunting ground for the Chippewa Indians. Magnificent pine and hardwoods destined the town to become a major lumber center. Mount Pleasant is home to Central Michigan University, founded in 1892, and the Saginaw Chippewa Indian Tribe on the Isabella Indian Reservation.

Horse racing takes place at Mount Pleasant Meadows weekends May through September; phone (989) 773-0012.

MUSKEGON (G-1) pop. 40,105, elev. 599′

Formerly known as the Lumber Queen of the World, Muskegon produced 665 million board feet of lumber in 1888 alone. Although the languishing of the logging boom severely affected the town, the excellence of its harbor and success in attracting new enterprises prospered it. Muskegon is the largest city on the eastern shore of Lake Michigan, with a diversified mix of industry, tourism, culture and recreational activities comprising its economy.

More than 3,000 acres of recreational land balance Muskegon's industrial image. Pere Marquette Park occupies the southern flank of the channel; Muskegon State Park (see Recreation Chart) is to the north. The lakeside highway leading north from Muskegon State Park is an especially scenic drive.

The Muskegon River offers fishing for walleyed pike, boating and canoeing; numerous lakes and streams are restocked yearly. Hundreds of anglers line the channel and breakwater walls on Lake Michigan during the perch and salmon runs.

The Lake Express, a high-speed car ferry, connects Muskegon with Milwaukee, saving travelers a 286-mile drive around the southern end of the lake through Chicago. The ferry, which travels 76 nautical miles in 2.5 hours, makes several round trips daily from May through December; phone (866) 914-1010.

ONTONAGON (A-2) pop. 1,769, elev. 605′

Named "Place of the Bowl" by American Indians due to the shape of the river's mouth, Ontonagon was visited frequently from the 1600s to the mid-1800s by voyageurs and Jesuits. All who came took note of a huge copper boulder that measured 50 inches by 41 inches. American Indians believed the boulder to be the mediator between them and the Great Spirit. Publication of the discovery of copper led to an influx of prospectors and settlers on Lake Superior. Within the county that shares Ontonagon's name are 45 waterfalls. See Upper Peninsula p. 104.

OSSINEKE (E-5) pop. 1,059, elev. 604′

At the mouth of the Devil River and the site of an American Indian village in 1839, Ossineke was named for a native word, wawsineke, meaning "image stones," which referred to a prominent landmark. The pair of boulders were thought to encase the spirit of Chief Shinggabaw, who had promised to return there after death.

When a rival tribe removed the sacred stones during a raid, the waters of Thunder Bay are said to have destroyed the raiders and returned the stones to their original site at the village. An angler later used the boulders to anchor fishing nets; the stones now repose at the bottom of Lake Huron.

DINOSAUR GARDENS PREHISTORICAL ZOO is on US 23S. Nature trails, a miniature golf course and life-size reproductions of prehistoric creatures are in a 40-acre forest. Allow 1 hour minimum. Daily 9-6, Memorial Day-Labor Day. Admission $5; ages 6-11, $4; under 6, $3. Phone (989) 471-5477.

OTTAWA NATIONAL FOREST

Elevations in the forest range from 602 ft. at Lake Superior, Black River Harbor to 1,826 ft. at Wolfe Mountain. Refer to AAA maps for additional elevation information.

In the Upper Peninsula, the 986,518 acres of the Ottawa National Forest are intermingled with approximately 606,300 acres of state, county and privately owned land. Included are Lake Gogebic State Park (see Recreation Chart and the AAA Great Lakes CampBook) near Marenisco and Sylvania Wilderness and Sturgeon Gorge Wilderness.

In excess of 50,000 acres in the forest remain as a federally designated wilderness, with pristine lakes and old growth trees. More than 35 waterfalls within the forest are accessible by woodland trails. Those falls that can be reached by road include Potawatomi Conglomerate, Gorge, Sandstone and Rainbow on the Black River north of Ironwood and Bessemer; the Agate Falls observation deck west on SR 28 near Trout Creek; and Bond Falls via Bond Falls Road.

More than 500 named lakes and more than 2,700 miles of rivers and streams yield varieties of panfish and trout. Fishing for coho salmon and rainbow trout is good on Lake Superior. Hunting for deer, bears and small game is permitted. Snowmobiling, snowshoeing, cross-country skiing and ice fishing are popular winter sports.

The J.W. Toumey Forest Nursery in Watersmeet supplies seed and tree stock to Great Lakes state forests; guided and self-guiding tours are offered on request. CURWOOD CASTLE is at 224 Curwood Castle Dr. at jct. Main St. Built in 1922, this castle was the writing studio of author James Oliver Curwood. His stories are mainly adventure tales set in the Canadian North, reflecting his interest in nature, and many of the novels were made into films. Historical documents and photographs are among the artifacts representing his writing, film and conservation pursuits. Picnicking is permitted. Allow 30 minutes minimum. Tues.-Sun. 1-5; closed major holidays. Admission $2; under 12, $1. Phone (989) 725-0599.

STEAM RAILROADING INSTITUTE'S VISITOR CENTER & MUSEUM is at 405 S. Washington St. at jct. Main St. Photographs, tools, videos and a working model steam engine are part of the museum's collection of steam railroading memorabilia. Several train cars are on the grounds and hold additional artifacts. A .25-mile train ride in a caboose takes visitors to the warehouse where the "Pere Marquette 1225," the model for the train in the animated film "The Polar Express," is kept.

Allow 30 minutes minimum. Daily 10-5, Memorial Day-Labor Day; Fri.-Sun. 10-4, rest of year. Admission (includes caboose ride) $5. DS, MC, VI. Phone (989) 725-9464.

PARADISE (B-5) elev. 623′

The town's name is derived from a conversation between two of Paradise's pioneer developers who were commenting about the area's natural beauty. "This is a regular paradise," one said, and the name stuck. Snowmobilers and cross-country skiers enjoy the recreational facilities provided by the state and national forests that surround the village. See Upper Peninsula p. 104.

TAHQUAMENON FALLS STATE PARK is 12 mi. w. on SR 123. The 40,000-acre park includes two waterfalls on the Tahquamenon River. The Upper Falls are nearly 50 feet high and 200 feet wide at the crest. The Lower Falls, divided by an island, are a series of rapids and cascades.

The park offers a variety of recreational opportunities. Allow 30 minutes minimum. Daily 8 a.m.-10 p.m. Admission $8 per private vehicle. Phone (906) 492-3415. See Recreation Chart.

PETOSKEY (D-3) pop. 6,080, elev. 636′

Petoskey is a resort center on Little Traverse Bay. On the bottom of the bay at a depth of 34 feet, an 11-foot figure of Christ serves as the Skin Divers' Shrine. Rock hounds crowd the Petoskey State Park (see Recreation Chart) and Magnus Park in spring, sorting through winter's debris for Petoskey stones. The remains of an extinct coral that inhabited the shallow waters of 350 million years ago, the stones were designated Michigan's state stone in 1965.

Fishing in Little Traverse Bay and area rivers and lakes yields bass, blue gill, lake and rainbow trout, perch, salmon and walleye. A number of scenic drives can be enjoyed in the other seasons: The lakeshore routes along US 31 west through Charlevoix then south to Traverse City (see place listing p. 102) and SR 119 north through Harbor Springs (see place listing p. 73) to Cross Village are particularly enjoyable. Closer to town, US 131 and Walloon Lake Drive provide a pleasant loop.

Petoskey/Harbor Springs/Boyne Country Visitors Bureau: 401 E. Mitchell St., Petoskey, MI 49770; phone (231) 348-2755 or (800) 845-2828. See color ad.

Shopping areas: The Gaslight Shopping District along Lake, Howard and Bay streets offers more than 60 shops. Some shops are closed in the winter. Shopping also is available in the Bay Harbor Marina District.

LITTLE TRAVERSE HISTORY MUSEUM is on the waterfront at Bayfront Park. Housed in an 1892 railroad depot, the museum features exhibits from the area's Odawa Indian, pioneer and Victorian past as well as exhibits about Ernest Hemingway, Civil War author Bruce Catton and the area's lumber and resort industries.

Allow 30 minutes minimum. Mon.-Fri. 10-4, Sat. 1-4, Memorial Day-Labor Day; Tues.-Sat. and holidays 10-4, day after Labor Day-Dec. 24; Tues.-Sat. 10-4, May 1-day before Memorial Day. Admission $1, under 18 free. Phone (231) 347-2620.

Lake Superior and the many inland lakes and streams harbor a variety of fish. Fishing is excellent in spring and fall; a Michigan license is required. Summer months offer swimming, hiking, picnicking, backpacking and a scenic boat ride along the Pictured Rocks.

Twenty-one miles of cross-country ski trails, abundant off-trail skiing and a yearly snowfall approaching 200 inches accommodate winter sports enthusiasts. Snowshoeing and ice fishing are popular activities.

Park rangers conduct campfire programs and guided walks in summer. Drive-in camping areas are at Hurricane River, Little Beaver Lake and Twelvemile Beach; roads to these areas are closed by snow from November through April. Backcountry, hike-in permits are required. Advance reservations are accepted; the fee is $15. Upon arrival, the additional user fee is $5 per person, per night. The fee for drive-in camping is $10 per night and is on a first-come, first-served basis. Phone (906) 387-3700.

PORT HURON (H-6) pop. 32,338, elev. 596′

Linked by the Blue Water International Bridge with Sarnia, Ontario, at the point where Lake Huron empties into the St. Clair River, Port Huron is the center of the St. Clair River manufacturing district. It is one of the oldest settlements in the state, dating from 1686 when the French built Fort St. Joseph to guard against possible British incursions into their fur trade. The first permanent colony, however, was not established until 1790.

The fact that Thomas Edison spent his youth in Port Huron seems to reflect the city's proclivity for electrical pioneering. One of the earliest electrical utilities was formed in 1844. The 1891 railway tunnel, built beneath the St. Clair River to accommodate double-decker trains, is considered to have been the first electrified underwater tunnel.

Some of Port Huron's popular parks are Lakeside Park, with opportunities for swimming and picnicking, and Lighthouse Park, which surrounds Fort Gratiot Lighthouse, one of the oldest working lighthouses on the Great Lakes. Tours are available by appointment in summer. Another popular spot is Pine Grove Park, where the Huron, the last commissioned lightship, is docked.

Blue Water Area Convention and Visitors Bureau: 520 Thomas Edison Pkwy., Port Huron, MI 48060; phone (810) 987-8687 or (800) 852-4242.

Shopping areas: Birchwood Mall, north on SR 25 at Keewahdin Road, features 90 specialty stores as well as JCPenney, Marshall Field's, Sears and Younker's. Horizon Outlet Center, west on Range Road at I-94 exit 269, offers factory outlet shops. Main Street Port Huron offers more than 70 specialty shops, restaurants and art galleries along an 11-block historic area concentrated on Huron Avenue between Quay Street and McMorran Boulevard.

SAVE PORT HURON MUSEUM-CARNEGIE CENTER is at 1115 Sixth St. The museum complex includes four sites. Displays at the Carnegie Center—which include American Indian relics and marine items, a pioneer log house, Thomas Edison memorabilia and fine arts—trace 300 years of local history.

Allow 30 minutes minimum. Daily 11-5; closed major holidays. Admission $5, over 54 and students with ID $3, under 7 free. Combination admission for Carnegie Center, Coast Guard Cutter Bramble Museum, Huron Lightship Museum and Thomas Edison Depot Museum $10, over 54 and students with ID $5. AX, MC, VI. Phone (810) 982-0891.

SAVE Coast Guard Cutter Bramble Museum is moored at the Port Huron Seaway Terminal on the St. Clair River. Commissioned in 1944, the Bramble participated in atomic testing at Bikini Island and was one of the first vessels to circumnavigate the North American continent. The cutter served on the Great Lakes for nearly 30 years before its retirement in 2003.

Allow 30 minutes minimum. Daily 11-5, Memorial Day-Labor Day; Thurs.-Mon. 11-5, Apr. 1-day before Memorial Day and day after Labor Day-Dec. 31. Closed major holidays. Admission $5, over 54 and students with ID $3, under 7 free. AX, MC, VI. Phone (810) 982-0891.

SAVE Huron* Lightship Museum is in Pine Grove Park. Built in 1920, the lightship was used until it was decommissioned in 1970. It is believed to be the only remaining lightship that served on the Great Lakes and has been certified a National Landmark. Allow 30 minutes minimum. Daily 11-5, Memorial Day-Labor Day; Thurs.-Mon. 11-5, Apr. 1-day before Memorial Day and day after Labor Day-Dec. 31. Closed major holidays. Admission $5, senior citizens and students with ID $3, under 7 free. Phone (810) 982-0891.

SAVE Thomas Edison Depot Museum is under the Blue Water Bridges on Edison Pkwy. Housed in the Fort Gratiot Railroad Station where Thomas Edison worked, the museum features re-created period displays, hands-on activities that focus on his inventions and a vintage baggage car that contains a mock-up of Edison's first laboratory. A videotape presentation also is offered.

Allow 30 minutes minimum. Daily 11-5, Memorial Day-Labor Day; Thurs.-Mon. 11-5, rest of year. Admission $5, over 54 and students with ID $3, under 7 free. AX, MC, VI. Phone (810) 982-0891.

PORT SANILAC (G-6) pop. 658

Until 1857 when Port Sanilac was allegedly renamed for a well-known Wyandotte Indian chief, this locale was called Bark Shanty Point, a name stoutly defended in one issue of the village's newspaper, the Bark Shanty Times.

No editors, reporters, printers or editorial policies complicated the production of the paper, which was known throughout the region. Everyone who came through the general store/post office simply wrote news or commentary on a sheet of newsprint paper kept on the counter. Once thoroughly perused, the edition was bound and filed, and a new one was begun.

SANILAC COUNTY HISTORIC VILLAGE AND MUSEUM is at 228 S. Ridge St. (SR 25). The Victorian 1875 Loop-Harrison House contains original furnishings. Displays include medical instruments, antique glassware and marine, military and American Indian artifacts.

On the village grounds are a dairy museum, the late 19th-century Banner Cabin, Huckins School and a general store. A carriage barn contains exhibits. Guided tours of the mansion and village are available. Allow 1 hour minimum. Wed.-Fri. 11-4:30, Sat.-Sun. noon-4:30, mid-June through Labor Day. Fee for either mansion or village tour $5; over 55, $4; ages 5-12, $2. Combination tour $8; over 55, $7; ages 5-12, $5. Phone (810) 622-9946.

PRESQUE ISLE (D-5) pop. 1,691

Presque Isle, on the eastern shore of Grand Lake, is a supply center for the surrounding resort area. Three miles north is Presque Isle Harbor, an active lumber port in the mid-1800s, with a full marina facility.

OLD PRESQUE ISLE LIGHTHOUSE PARK AND MUSEUM stands on the northern arm of land enclosing the harbor. Built in 1840, the lighthouse was replaced in 1870 by the current lighthouse a mile north on the tip of the peninsula. The tower and 1905 keeper's house are restored in the new lighthouse. A 3,425-pound bronze bell, larger than the Liberty Bell, is displayed in the old lighthouse. Both lighthouses offer exhibits.

Allow 30 minutes minimum. Old and new lighthouses open daily 9-6, mid-May to mid-Oct. Keeper's house open Tues.-Sat. 11-5, Sun. 1-5. Admission for old lighthouse $2.50; ages 5-12, $1.

ROCKLAND (B-2) pop. 324, elev. 1,093′

OLD VICTORIA, 4 mi. s.w. on a paved road near the Victoria dam, is a partially restored late 19th-century company town. Mines opened 1847-49 and operated until 1921. Guided tours include a house tour, where three houses, a sauna and barn can be seen; a ruins walk which explores the ruins of the mining town of Victoria; and a tour of a cabin, now the visitor center, which includes displays, pictures and books showcasing mining days.

Comfortable walking shoes are recommended. Hiking trails and picnic facilities are available. Daily 10-5, Memorial Day to mid-Oct. House tour $5; ages 6-12, $2. Ruins walk $10; ages 6-12, $7. Visitor center by donations. A combination admission is available. Phone (906) 886-2617.

ROGERS CITY (D-5) pop. 3,322, elev. 655′

Rogers City's principal industry is readily apparent: Possibly the world's largest open limestone quarry—more than 3 miles long and nearly 2 miles across at its widest point—extends southeastward from the city limits. Worked continuously since 1912, the quarry is expected to produce into the 21st century. Operations can be seen from the rim of the pit at Quarry View; except in winter, the docking and loading of the huge freighters are visible from Harbor View.

Established during the 1870s lumber boom, Rogers City remains the largest community in Presque Isle County. P.H. Hoeft State Park (see Recreation Chart and the AAA Great Lakes CampBook) is 5 miles northwest on US 23 and includes a section of Huron dunes. Ocqueoc Falls, the largest falls in the Lower Peninsula, is 12 miles west of Rogers City off SR 68. A 7-mile self-guiding trail originates there.

Rogers City Chamber of Commerce: 292 S. Bradley Hwy., P.O. Box 55, Rogers City, MI 49779; phone (989) 734-2535 or (800) 622-4148.

PRESQUE ISLE COUNTY HISTORICAL MUSEUM is at 176 W. Michigan Ave. Exhibits about maritime and local history are in the restored Bradley House. Three floors are furnished in the style of the 1920s, while others re-create a general store and a Victorian sitting room. Displays include American Indian artifacts as well as carpentry, farming, household and lumber-related items. Tues.-Sat. noon-4, May-Sept. Donations. Phone (989) 734-4121.

ROSCOMMON (E-4) pop. 1,133, elev. 1,123′

A resort area and starting point for canoe trips down the Au Sable River, Roscommon is near both North Higgins Lake and South Higgins Lake state parks (see Recreation Chart and the AAA Great Lakes CampBook).

CIVILIAN CONSERVATION CORPS MUSEUM is across the street from the main entrance to North Higgins Lake State Park. Housed in replica barracks, the museum showcases the accomplishments of the men who helped "put Americans back to work." Many photographs were donated by CCC alumni. Two original buildings used during the 1930s are on the grounds. Hiking trail maps are available for self-guiding tours.

Picnic areas are available. Allow 30 minutes minimum. Daily 10-4, Memorial Day-Labor Day. An interpreter is on site Wed.-Sun. Admission $8 per private vehicle. Phone (989) 821-6125 or (989) 348-2537.

MICHIGAN FIREMEN'S MEMORIAL is 2.5 mi. s. on CR 18, then .5 mi. e. on Robinson Rd. The 12-foot bronze statue was created by Detroit's Edward Chesney. Daily 8-6, May-Nov. Free.

ST. IGNACE (B-5) pop. 2,678, elev. 592′

St. Ignace's strategic location on the north shore of the Straits of Mackinac was quickly recognized by explorers. The town was founded in 1671 when Father Jacques Marquette established a mission; a fortress was built shortly thereafter. In 1701 the garrison moved to Detroit and St. Ignace's military importance became a thing of the past; by 1706 so was the mission.

St. Ignace, on the Upper Peninsula, is joined to the Lower Peninsula by the 5-mile-long Mackinac Bridge, which links the town with Mackinaw City. Each Labor Day morning thousands participate in the Mackinac Bridge Walk, from St. Ignace to Mackinaw City.

Ferry service to Mackinac Island is available at the harbor from early April until ice forms on the Straits of Mackinac, usually in October.

Scenic US 2, heading west from St. Ignace, winds down to the sand dunes and up into the wooded hills along Lake Michigan to Escanaba (see place listing p. 67). Castle Rock, 4 miles north, was an ancient lookout of the Algonquin Indians and offers a scenic view.

St. Ignace is home to what is reportedly the world's largest all-category auto show on the last Saturday in June. See Upper Peninsula p. 104.

St. Ignace Area Chamber of Commerce and Convention and Visitors Bureau: 560 N. State St., St. Ignace, MI 49781; phone (906) 643-8717 or (800) 338-6660.

FATHER MARQUETTE NATIONAL MEMORIAL is .2 mi. n.w. of the bridge via US 2; exit in the Marquette unit of Straits State Park. The memorial honors Jacques Marquette, the French explorer who established the state's first European settlements at Sault Ste. Marie and St. Ignace. Interpretive trails through the 52-acre park provide panoramic views of the straits and Mackinac Bridge.

Picnicking is permitted. Allow 1 hour minimum. Park open daily 9 a.m.-dusk, May-Oct. Admission to park $8 per private vehicle. Memorial free. Phone (906) 643-8620 for Straits State Park.

FORT DE BAUDE INDIAN MUSEUM is at 334 N. State St. Built on the site of the original fort, the museum houses displays and dioramas depicting the lives of the area's early inhabitants. Local beadwork, stonework and weapons are displayed. Daily 9-7, Memorial Day to mid-Sept. Admission $5; ages 6-17, $3. Phone (906) 643-6622.

MARQUETTE MISSION PARK AND MUSEUM OF OJIBWA CULTURE is at 500 N. State St. The park is the presumed site of Father Jacques Marquette's grave. A statue, interpretive kiosk about his life and a garden are on the grounds. The museum, in a restored 19th-century Jesuit church, is dedicated to the Ojibwa—the original inhabitants of the upper Great Lakes region. Displays include artifacts, some dating from 6000 B.C., and reproductions.

Allow 30 minutes minimum. Daily 9-6, Memorial Day-Labor Day; 10-5, day after Labor Day to mid-Oct. Admission $2; ages 6-12, $1; family rate $5. Phone (906) 643-9161.

SAULT STE. MARIE (B-6)
pop. 16,542, elev. 617′

The oldest town in the state, Sault Ste. Marie was first visited by a European about 1620 when the French voyageur Étienne Brulé passed through the area on his way to the Lake Superior region. The first Jesuit missionaries, Isaac Jogues and Charles Raymbault, arrived about 1641; the first mission was established in 1668 by fathers Jacques Marquette and Claude Dablon, who named the town in honor of the Virgin Mary.

The French and British competed for the profitable fur trade in the upper Great Lakes. The Treaty of Paris established the Michigan Territory as part of America, and in 1820 a treaty with the Chippewa Indians brought the area and its inhabitants under government regulation. Fort Brady was built shortly thereafter and trade increased. The first American lock was built in 1855, and later sailors and travelers began referring to the town as the Soo. Railroad and highway bridges link the city with its Canadian twin, Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario.

The rapids of the St. Marys River, which drop some 21 feet from Lake Superior to Lake Huron, are the reason for the town's greatest attraction, the Soo Locks. Four locks on the U.S. side bypass this beautiful barrier. More than 95 million tons of freight pass through the Soo every year.

Parkland parallels the locks; in the upper park are three observation platforms and a Corps of Engineers information center. Originating at the information center, the Locks Park Historic Walkway follows the waterfront for about a mile. It links many historic attractions and four main points of interest: the Locks Overlook; Plank Alley, site of the original business district; Fort Brady, site of both French and American forts; and the Johnston Homestead, a preserved neighborhood. See Upper Peninsula p. 104.

SILVER CITY (A-1)

In 1872 hopeful miners fanned out across the Silver City countryside searching for the source of the silver nuggets sold to traders by local Indians. Little mining was done; by 1876 the few tunnels were abandoned. See Upper Peninsula p. 104.

PORCUPINE MOUNTAINS WILDERNESS STATE PARK is 3 mi. w. on SR 107. The 63,000-acre park is popular for camping, skiing and backpacking; natural history programs are offered. Lake of the Clouds Scenic Overlook, on an escarpment above the lake at the western end of SR 107, offers an excellent view. Panoramas also can be enjoyed from Summit Peak. A .75-mile boardwalk along Presque Isle River passes several waterfalls.

Park open daily 24 hours. Visitor center open daily 10-8, late May to mid-Oct. Admission $8 per private vehicle. Phone (906) 885-5275. See Recreation Chart and the AAA Great Lakes CampBook.

SLEEPING BEAR DUNES NATIONAL LAKESHORE (E-2)

Sleeping Bear Dunes National Lakeshore lies along 35 miles of the Lower Peninsula's northwestern shore and includes the Manitou Islands. The name is derived from an Ojibway Indian legend that tells of a bear and her two cubs forced to swim across Lake Michigan to escape a forest fire. The mother reached the shore safely and climbed to the top of a dune to await the cubs, who lagged behind and never arrived. She still maintains her vigil in the form of a dark hill of sand atop a plateau, while the errant cubs have become the North and South Manitou islands.

The dunes are the product of several glacial assaults that ended 11,000 years ago. The glaciers left a legacy of rock, sand and silt as they melted. Rugged bluffs rise as high as 480 feet above the lake. Among the dunes are ghost forests, the bleached remains of trees that were once covered by advancing dunes, then exposed as the sand moved on. The 7-mile Pierce Stocking Scenic Drive, open late April to early November, provides access to the high dunes of Sleeping Bear Plateau and affords views from the bluffs overlooking the lake.

Fishing and canoeing are popular on the Platte and Crystal rivers and adjoining lakes, as are hiking and cross-country skiing on the park's 55 miles of marked trails. On South Manitou Island is a lighthouse, the wreck of the Liberian freighter Francisco Morazan and the Valley of Giants—a virgin white-cedar forest. North Manitou Island, 15,000 acres of wilderness, attracts backpackers. The islands are accessible by passenger ferry from Leland (see place listing p. 80).

The Maritime Museum at the Sleeping Bear Point Coast Guard Station, 1 mile west of Glen Haven, has displays depicting the maritime history of the area; it is open daily, Memorial Day through Labor Day. The visitor center and park headquarters, on SR 72 in Empire, has exhibits about the region's natural history and a slide program about the park. The center is open daily, but is closed Jan. 1, Thanksgiving and Dec. 25.

A pass valid for 7 days is $10 per private vehicle. For further information contact the Superintendent, Sleeping Bear Dunes National Lakeshore, 9922 Front St., Empire, MI 49630; phone (231) 326-5134. See Recreation Chart and the AAA Great Lakes CampBook.

pop. 14,532, elev. 589′

Old orchards found when the lumber mill village of Traverse City was expanding during the late 1800s might have pointed the way for the future. By the time the timber was exhausted, the town was the center of a flourishing cherry-growing region. Several wineries contribute to the area's growing wine industry.

The city's setting at the base of Grand Traverse Bay makes it a busy resort in all seasons. Winter sports are widely available. In summer the bay provides good sailing and fishing. Traverse City State Park (see Recreation Chart and the AAA Great Lakes CampBook) is 2 miles east. The area has more than 30 golf courses, including courses designed by Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer and Gary Player.

The Madeline, a 92-foot replica of an 1845 schooner, is berthed at Heritage Harbor on S. Westbay Shore Drive. Tours are offered by appointment; phone (231) 946-2647.

Particularly picturesque among the area's many scenic drives is the 36-mile trip on SR 37 through Old Mission Peninsula, which splits the bay into two long, narrow arms. It is especially lovely when the cherry trees bloom in mid-May and when leaves take on their fall colors, beginning in September. The tip of the peninsula, marked by a lighthouse, is equidistant from the Equator and the North Pole. At Old Mission is a reconstructed Indian mission originally built in 1836. Another scenic route along the lakeshore is US 31 between Traverse City and Petoskey, then SR 119 to Cross Village.

Traverse City Convention and Visitors Bureau: 101 W. Grandview Pkwy., Traverse City, MI 49684-2252; phone (800) 872-8377.

UPPER PENINSULA

That the Upper Peninsula is part of Michigan at all was the result of the unpopular compromise that won Michigan its statehood. The crucial issue at stake was the sole proprietorship of a strip of territory along the Michigan-Ohio border that included the city of Toledo. The bitterly fought Toledo War (contested in Congress with blazing words, not in Toledo with bullets) resulted in Michigan's ceding that land to Ohio in exchange for statehood.

Michigan somewhat grudgingly accepted the Upper Peninsula—then considered a barren wasteland—as a consolation prize. Hardly a Michigander today would have it any other way. In terms of natural resources alone the raw deal turned out to be a steal. When Michigan became a state in 1837, the Upper Peninsula's fabulous deposits of pure copper were already being uncovered; the deposits were, however, not news to American Indians, who had mined the metal thousands of years before.

In 1957 the slender strand of the Mackinac Bridge anchored the Upper Peninsula to the Lower, making the U.P.—as locals call it—easily accessible from the south. Recreation and tourism have since helped alleviate some of the region's economic slack.

Known now for its unspoiled beauty rather than its industrial scars, the Upper Peninsula is a popular haven for outdoors enthusiasts. State and national forests cover much of the land; Isle Royale National Park (see place listing p. 77) and Pictured Rocks National Lakeshore (see place listing p. 93) preserve some of the rugged peninsula's most impressive terrain. Aspen, birch, fir, maple and spruce trees shelter such animals as black bears, Eastern timber wolves, white-tailed deer and moose.

The Porcupine Mountains in the west have a large stand of virgin hemlock and one of the largest relatively undisturbed northern hemlock hardwood forests west of New York's Adirondack Mountains. Recreational opportunities range from swimming to skiing, with almost legendary popularity in fishing.

The following places in the Upper Peninsula are listed separately under their individual names: Bessemer, Calumet, Caspian, Copper Harbor, Escanaba, Fayette, Germfask, Hancock, Hiawatha National Forest, Houghton, Iron Mountain, Ironwood, Ishpeming, Isle Royale National Park, Manistique, Marquette, Munising, Negaunee, Ontonagon, Paradise, Pictured Rocks National Lakeshore, Rockland, St. Ignace, Sault Ste. Marie, Silver City, Soo Junction and Whitefish Point.

YPSILANTI (I-5) pop. 22,362, elev. 720′

When the youthful Greek revolutionary general Demetrios Ypsilanti held the entire Turkish Army at bay and escaped without losing even one of his 300 soldiers, he had no idea that his bravery would cause a muddy but energetic village in the wilds of southeastern Michigan to become his namesake in 1832. This city on the Huron River is an industrial center and the home of Eastern Michigan University, Riverside Park and the 1890s Water Tower.

The city's 40-block historic district, centered around Huron Street, contains some 700 restored buildings in the Greek Revival, Gothic Revival, Italianate, Second Empire, Queen Anne and Tudor Revival architectural styles.

In America's Dairyland, there are lots of reasons to say "cheese."

Smiles, rest and relaxation are a way of life in the communities along the Door County peninsula. Although square in the Midwest, you'll experience the flavor of New England in a rugged landscape peppered with fishing villages, farms, lighthouses and sand beaches.

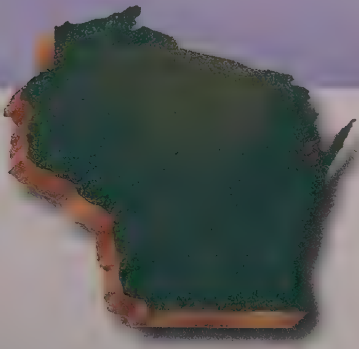
The state's biggest city, Milwaukee, reflects a decidedly German heritage. Key players in its development—such sudsy names as Miller, Pabst and Schlitz—are sure to elicit a grin or two.

Noted architect Frank Lloyd Wright left his mark in the middle of the state. The Richland Center native brought his visions to life in such cities as Madison and Spring Green.

Affectionately called "cheeseheads," fans of the Green Bay Packers (the oldest team in the NFL) cheer wildly and beam like Cheshire cats.

Stretching along the western border is the St. Croix River, a recreational hot spot with scenic gorges, rock formations and waterfalls.

And like sprinkled Parmesan, the intriguing Apostle Islands top the state.



The national lakeshore features more lighthouses than any other national park.

Wisconsin. It's whey more than dairy.

Milk Wisconsin for all it's worth, and you end up with more than just cheese.

Sure, the state earned its nickname as America's Dairyland by being a leader in dairy production. However, it's also a big processor of snap beans, sweet corn, hay, oats and potatoes. It manufactures much of the nation's mining machinery, x-ray equipment and power cranes. And its economy thrives on a booming tourism business—which is no small wonder, given the seemingly endless number of things you can do.

Take steps into the past. A replica of the log cabin in which "Little House" books author Laura Ingalls Wilder was born is in Pepin. Historic lighthouses line the Door Peninsula. Costumed interpreters perform daily chores around the 360-acre grounds of the 1851 Wade House in Greenbush.

Explore another culture. A strong Norwegian influence embraces Blue Mounds. Scandinavian customs prevail on Washington Island, the country's oldest Icelandic settlement. New Glarus, often called "Little Switzerland," reflects a decidedly Swiss heritage. German, Danish, Polish and Finnish homesteads are among the more than 65 preserved buildings at the 1870s rural village in Eagle.

Awakening the Senses

Admire great architecture. Massive fireplaces, waterfalls and a windowed room that juts out over Wyoming Valley are among the wonders of The House on the Rock, south of Spring Green. Richland Center native Frank Lloyd Wright designed buildings in Madison, Milwaukee, Racine and Spring Green. The State Capitol in Madison shows a Roman Renaissance flair. A 40-foot circular stairway winds among five floors of the 1854 Octagon House in Watertown.

Give your palate a treat. Sip apple, cherry and grape wines in Algoma, Barneveld, Cedarburg and Prairie du Sac. Taste brewery samples in the city made famous for beer: Milwaukee. Nibble on cheese in Monroe and Rudolph. Savor cranberry refreshments made from berries cultivated in marshes around Manitowish Waters and Warrens.

Play the slots and scream out "Bingo!" Casinos in Baraboo, Carter, Green Bay and Keshena invite you to test your luck. Gamble on the greyhounds at a park in Kenosha.

Learn about locomotives. You can ride the rails through the St. Croix River Valley in Osceola and the lake country of Spooner, where a former train depot holds railroad memories. Iron horses from the steam and diesel eras also are preserved at museums in Green Bay and North Freedom.

Focus on other transportation. Aircraft are showcased at an Oshkosh museum. Classic automobiles beg to be admired in Hartford. Maritime vessels are centerpieces at museums in Gills Rock, Manitowoc, Sturgeon Bay and Superior. Circus wagons have a big-top home in Baraboo.

Remember veterans. Museums and parks in Madison, Neillsville, Oshkosh and Waupaca pay tribute to those who served in conflicts.

Trees, Caves and Wildlife

Trace the papermaking trade. The "Lumberjack Special" steam-powered train carries visitors from the historic depot in Laona to Camp Five Museum Complex, where logging relics and an audiovisual presentation detail the history of an industry that feeds off 15 million acres of forestland. Tours of paper mills in Wisconsin Rapids guide you through to the finished product.

Get back to nature. Rose-colored cliffs punctuate the weathered caves and hollows at Apostle Islands National Lakeshore. The glacial phenomena of Devil's Lake State Park and Kettle Moraine State Forest are a sight to behold. River tours wander among unusual rock formations and caverns in Wisconsin Dells.

Confront a local legend. The folksy myth of the Hodag, a creature once said to have inhabited the forests around Rhinelander, is kept very much alive in the area.

Study native wildlife. Cruises departing from Hazelhurst and Horicon bring you face-to-face with all kinds of creatures. Birdwatchers gather on the shores of St. Croix National Scenic Riverway and in a Waupun refuge.

Catch a great view. On a clear day, you can see practically forever from the lofty vantage point atop Granddad Bluff, which towers 600 feet above La Crosse.

When it comes to family fun, America's Dairyland may just be the cream of the crop.

On the night the Great Chicago Fire kills 300 people, a forest fire in Peshtigo claims 1,200 lives.

Recreation

With 15,000 inland lakes and 25,000 miles of waterways—plus borders touching lakes Michigan and Superior, the Brule, St. Croix and Menominee rivers and the mighty Mississippi—Wisconsin is an H_20 utopia.

Sailing enthusiasts float through the steely waters of Chequamegon and Sturgeon bays, while windsurfers unfurl sails of their own around the southern tip of Lake Winnebago and at Kohler-Andrae State Park, on the shores of Lake Michigan.

Break the surface during a scuba diving trip along Apostle Islands National Lakeshore, or explore the shipwrecks lining "death's door," the nautical passage between Door County and Washington Island.

Such lazy rivers as the Apple, Chippewa and Namekagon are prime territory for tubing. Moderate currents enhance the canoeing experience on the Baraboo, Crystal, La Crosse, Oconto, St. Croix, Upper Bois Brule and Wisconsin rivers. The winding Kickapoo—dubbed the "crookedest river in the world"—is navigable its entire length.

Challenging rapids result in irresistible kayaking on the Flambeau, Grant, Ontonagan and Tomahawk rivers. Stretches of class V rapids make the Montreal River a great spot for expert kayakers to put their skills to the test. Although the waters around the Apostle Islands are more placid, paddlers won't be disappointed. Rugged sea caves riddling the bases of sandstone cliffs beckon you to explore. For white-water rafting, take on the Menominee, Peshtigo or Wolf rivers.

Differing Vantage Points

If thoughts of lofty heights don't leave you quivering, Wisconsin delivers thrills. Rock climbing in Devil's Lake State Park, near Baraboo, leads you atop 500-foot bluffs around the lake for which the park is named. Hang gliders who launch from similar bluffs shouldering the Upper Mississippi River Valley enjoy a memorable perspective of the area.

Once you've taken advantage of a bird's-eye view of the land, check it out up close from hiking and horseback riding trails. You'll find facilities for both activities at Wildcat Mountain State Park, southeast of Ontario, and at several state forests, including Black River, near Black River Falls; Brule River, in Brule; Flambeau River, east of Draper; and Governor Knowles, west of Grantsburg.

On-road bicycling trails paint a fitting picture of the varied landscape. The 22-mile High Falls Tour, which weaves through Marinette County, passes the cascade of Veterans Falls and the glimmering waters of High Falls Reservoir. Take your bike over an original covered bridge on the 30-mile trail that begins at Cedar Creek Park in Cedarburg, or pedal through the stone railroad tunnels of the 32-mile Elroy-Sparta Trail.

For off-road excitement, mountain biking trails cater to cyclists of all abilities. The Boulder Junction Area Trail System, or B.A.T.S., covers 10 mostly easy miles around Boulder Junction. Skilled riders favor the tough Washburn Lake trails, near Rhinelander, or the wild and jarring experience afforded by the Swiss-cheeselike terrain of Kettle Moraine State Forest, much of which only extreme adventurers would like.

"Snow" Much Fun

During winter, the groomed trails at many state parks entice cross-country skiers and snowshoers. Some of the more extensive systems trek through Governor Dodge State Park, north of Dodgeville; Mirror Lake State Park, southwest of Lake Delton; and Newport State Park, northeast of Ellison Bay. Nearly 120 miles of snowmobiling trails traverse the northern and southern units of Kettle Moraine State Forest. Quadruple your fun on the 480-plus miles of trails in Northern Highland-American Legion State Forest.

Among the popular downhill skiing and snowboarding areas are Cascade Mountain, southwest of Portage; Devil's Head, near Merrimac; Trollhaugen, in Dresser; and Whitecap Mountain, west of Montreal.

Trout and salmon fishing is excellent in the Great Lakes. For northern pike, bass, muskellunge, perch and walleye, head to smaller lakes and streams. Many state parks have camping facilities.

Recreational Activities

Throughout the TourBook, you may notice a Recreational Activities heading with bulleted listings of recreation-oriented establishments listed underneath. Similar operations also may be mentioned in Destination City recreation sections. Since normal AAA inspection criteria cannot be applied, these establishments are presented only for information. Age, height and weight restrictions may apply. Reservations often are recommended and sometimes are required. Visitors should phone or write the attraction for additional information; the address and phone number are provided for this purpose.

Apostle Islands National Lakeshore (A-3)

APOSTLE ISLANDS CRUISE SERVICE—The Apostle Islands are explored by a variety of narrated cruises; area geology, history and legends are related, and stops might include nature hikes or visits to lighthouses or a restored fish camp. See p. 122.

APOSTLE ISLANDS NATIONAL LAKESHORE—Surrounded by the waters of Lake Superior, the Apostle Islands were early fur-trading outposts; the lakeshore is now visited for recreational pursuits. See p. 122.

Baraboo (G-5)

CIRCUS WORLD MUSEUM—Step right up, ladies and gentlemen, for big-top circus performances, parades, a circus museum and a collection of handcrafted circus wagons; don't forget the elephant rides! See p. 125.

DEVIL'S LAKE STATE PARK—Bordered on three sides by quartzite cliffs, Devil's Lake is part of the Ice Age National Scientific Reserve; the park is a favorite for camping, climbing, hiking and swimming. See p. 125.

THE INTERNATIONAL CRANE FOUNDATION—Guided tours of this world center for the study and preservation of cranes introduce visitors to a variety of crane species; an overlook, chick exercise yard, and nature trails through restored wetlands, prairies and savannas add to the understanding of these creatures. See p. 125.

Blue Mounds (G-8)

CAVE OF THE MOUNDS—Uncovered by a 1939 quarry blast, this National Natural Landmark boasts crystallized rock formations and shimmering underground pools. See p. 127.

Campbellsport (I-5)

KETTLE MORAINE STATE FOREST—Try hiking the Ice Age National Scenic Trail. See p. 129.

Cassville (I-3)

GOVERNOR NELSON DEWEY HOMESITE—The home of Wisconsin's first governor has been reconstructed to reflect the lifestyle of the Dewey family; the agricultural estate is reminiscent of a Virginia plantation. See p. 129.

STONEFIELD STATE HISTORIC SITE—The site consists of Stonefield, the farm estate of Wisconsin's first governor; the State Agricultural Museum, where farm machinery helps trace the state's agricultural history; and a turn-of-the-20th-century village where everyday life of that period still goes on. See p. 129.

Eagle (I-7)

OLD WORLD WISCONSIN—This 576-acre state historic site depicts 19th-century Wisconsin through representations of a rural crossroads village, Yankee farmsteads and African-American settlements; costumed interpreters re-create pioneer life. See p. 163.

Green Bay (E-8)

NATIONAL RAILROAD MUSEUM—All aboard for a chance to see more than 70 locomotives and rolling stock, including "The Big Boy," said to be the world's largest steam locomotive. See p. 138.

Greenbush (G-7)

WADE HOUSE & WESLEY JUNG CARRIAGE MUSEUM—This restored stagecoach inn includes a smithy, a smokehouse and a residence typical of the 1850s, with costumed interpreters conducting tours and performing daily chores; the carriage museum contains a collection of horse-and-buggy era vehicles. See p. 138.

Laona (D-7)

LUMBERJACK SPECIAL AND CAMP FIVE MUSEUM COMPLEX TOUR—A steam-powered train takes visitors from the Laona depot to the museum complex, where they can visit a logging museum, an active blacksmith shop, an old country store and a nature center; other options include a forest tour by surrey and a wildlife tour on a pontoon boat. See p. 144.

Madison (H-6)

OLBRICH BOTANICAL GARDENS—On the shores of Lake Monona, this oasis includes 16 acres of specialty gardens and a 50-foot-high glass conservatory. See p. 146

WISCONSIN STATE CAPITOL—The 1917 Roman Renaissance structure has a white granite dome topped by a bronze statue; guided tours cover the rotunda, the Supreme Court and the state's Senate and Assembly chambers. See p. 147.

WISCONSIN VETERANS MUSEUM—Dedicated to the Wisconsin residents who served their country in military service from the Civil War to the Persian Gulf War, the museum features lifelike dioramas utilizing actual military equipment in realistic settings. See p. 147.

Manitowoc (F-8)

RAHR-WEST ART MUSEUM—In a Victorian mansion, the museum contains period furnishings, dolls, and ivory and porcelain objects. See p. 148.

WISCONSIN MARITIME MUSEUM—Shipping on the Great Lakes from the days of three-masted schooners to today's vessels is depicted through maps, nautical equipment and models; a highlight is an exhibit about the World War II submarines built in Manitowoc. See p. 148.

Mellen (B-4)

COPPER FALLS STATE PARK—The spectacular scenery includes lavish lava flows, gorgeous gorges and wondrous waterfalls. See p. 149.

Milwaukee (H-8)

MILWAUKEE ART MUSEUM—More than 20,000 works ranging from the archives of Frank Lloyd Wright to works of German Expressionism are housed inside this lakefront museum. See p. 158.

MILWAUKEE COUNTY ZOO—The zoo's collections, grouped by continent in settings that resemble their natural habitats, can be seen close-up courtesy of a zoomobile tour; sea lion and raptor shows and a working dairy farm are highlights. See p. 158.

MILWAUKEE PUBLIC MUSEUM—The museum interprets the world's natural and cultural heritage through such displays as life-size dinosaurs, the streets of old Milwaukee and environmental exhibits about rain forests, Africa and Latin America. See p. 159.

MITCHELL PARK HORTICULTURAL CONSERVATORY—"THE DOMES"—The conservatory's three domes have individual motifs: One features tropical plants; another, the desert flora; and the third has five themed floral shows each year. See p. 159.

New Glarus (I-5)

SWISS HISTORICAL VILLAGE—The Swiss heritage of New Glarus is depicted here in 14 buildings, replicas of the first structures built by the community's 19th-century Swiss settlers; a hall of history traces Swiss immigration to America. See p. 168.

Oshkosh (F-7)

EAA AIRVENTURE MUSEUM—More than 150 historic aircraft, a hangar and an airport typical of the early days of air travel are part of this complex; come during the summer for flights in a vintage plane. See p. 170.

Prairie du Chien (H-3)

VILLA LOUIS—This Victorian mansion and several outbuildings were built by a pioneering family prominent in the business of fur trading; the opulent furnishings include a fine collection of decorative arts objects. See p. 173.

St. Croix Falls (D-1)

INTERSTATE STATE PARK—Wisconsin's oldest state park is well-known for its scenic beauty and for the Old Man of the Dalles, a rock outcropping along the St. Croix River. See p. 176.

St. Croix National Scenic Riverway (E-1, B-2)

ST. CROIX NATIONAL SCENIC RIVERWAY—Canoe, camp or check out the wildlife in this northwoods setting. See p. 176.

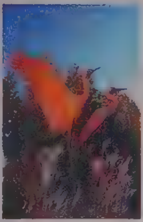
Spring Green (H-4)

THE HOUSE ON THE ROCK—This multi-level house perched on a precipice overlooking the Wyoming Valley has a glass-walled room extending out over the valley, waterfalls and an observation deck; other buildings house eclectic collections. See p. 179.

Watertown (H-6)

OCTAGON HOUSE—This 1854 house has five antiques-filled floors as well as a 40-foot circular stairway; a late 19th-century barn contains farm-related exhibits. See p. 182.

Wausau (E-5)



LEIGH YAWKEY WOODSON ART MUSEUM—In addition to its permanent collection, the Woodson, housed in an English Tudor-style building, presents changing exhibitions both inside the museum and outdoors in its landscaped, parklike gardens. See p. 183.

Wisconsin Dells (G-5)

DELLS BOAT TOURS—Boat tours through the Upper and Lower dells of the Wisconsin River cruise past sandstone cliffs, canyons, and erosion-carved islands and rock formations. See p. 185.

APOSTLE ISLANDS NATIONAL LAKESHORE (A-3)

The Apostle Islands lie offshore from Bayfield Peninsula in Lake Superior in northwestern Wisconsin. There are 22 Apostle Islands ranging in size from 3 acres to 14,000 acres. All but Madeline Island (see place listing p. 144) are within the national lakeshore, which also includes a 12-mile strip of shoreline on the peninsula.

The Apostles are the result of the ice age, when huge ice sheets gouged channels into the bedrock and then left piles of debris in their wakes. As the glaciers retreated, the islands were exposed, revealing rose-colored cliffs that the lake's waters since have shaped into twisted formations, caves and hollows.

Fur trading began here as early as the 17th century, and commercial fishing and logging continue around the islands today. For the early traders the islands offered plentiful game and refuge from the lake's storms. Later developers harvested such resources as timber and sandstone. The latter became the brownstone used extensively in buildings in Chicago and other Midwestern cities in the late 19th century.

By the beginning of the 20th century, wealthy city dwellers had transformed the remote islands into a fashionable retreat, building summer cottages on Madeline Island. This idyllic period ended with the Great Depression.

Once again sugar maple, birch, balsam fir, red pine and an array of wildflowers blanket the islands, and with the second-growth forest are renewed populations of deer, bear and a variety of birds.

Stockton Island, the largest island in the lakeshore, has the most extensive trail system and such facilities as docks, campgrounds and a regular camper shuttle service from the mainland. Recreational activities on the other islands vary and can include hiking, camping, sailing, kayaking and fishing. Lake Superior rarely is warm enough for swimming, and the area's treacherous weather can make canoeing and boating hazardous.

Taking pets to the lakeshore is not advised. The boat service will not accept pets on scheduled trips. Pets must always be on a 6-foot or shorter leash and must never be unattended.

There are scheduled ranger programs on some of the islands, including Raspberry and Stockton. For additional information write the Superintendent, Apostle Islands National Lakeshore, 415 Washington Ave, Bayfield, WI 54814; phone (715) 779-3397. See Recreation Chart and the AAA Great Lakes CampBook.

APPLETON (F-7) pop. 70,087, elev. 714′

The largest of the five cities along the Fox River, Appleton and its neighboring communities make up the third largest metropolitan area in Wisconsin. Early settlers and French explorers quickly learned the economic value of the "water highway" that tumbles from Lake Winnebago toward Green Bay.

As the lumber industry became established in the mid-19th century, many mills were built along the river's shores. Now known as "Paper Valley," the area supports numerous paper mills and related industries. With the construction of a hydroelectric station in 1882, Appleton became the first city in North America to generate its electricity with water power.

The city is home to Wisconsin's first coeducational institution of higher learning, Lawrence University, which is noteworthy for the Henry M. and Ruth B. Wriston Art Center at Alton and Law streets. "Metamorphosis," a sculpture in Houdini Plaza, is the city's tribute to magician and Appleton native Harry Houdini. Sen. Joe McCarthy, a fervent anti-communist during the 1950s, also hailed from Appleton; a bust of McCarthy is displayed at the county courthouse.

The diverse cultural population lends a distinct ethnic flavor to the area. Descendants of the original New England settlers mingle with Dutch, German, Polish and Vietnamese immigrants.

ASHLAND (B-4) pop. 8,620, elev. 660′

Whether Fourth of July festivities on Madeline Island inspired Asaph Whittlesey to establish a new town is uncertain, but on July 5; 1854, he arrived on the southeast shore of Chequamegon Bay of Lake Superior, built a cabin and founded Ashland. Once his cabin was complete, Whittlesey opened negotiations with the railroad in Chicago to provide an outlet for the area's timber, brownstone and iron ore.

The railroad, completed in 1877, combined with Ashland's natural harbor, soon made the community a thriving port; millions of tons of iron ore and timber were shipped annually. Legacies of this prosperous period are the distinctive facades of preserved, early 20th-century commercial buildings in the Main Street Historic District.

Although the area's commercial resources are important, its other resources—local parks, national forests and Lake Superior—have made Ashland an active recreation center. Trout, walleye, perch, salmon, northern pike and muskellunge thrive in Lake Superior and inland lakes and streams. Deepwater charter and sailboat excursions can be arranged in Ashland.

Prentice Park, 100 acres at the west edge of town, is a refuge for deer, ducks and swans; camping, hiking and picnicking are available. Band concerts take place at Memorial Park Thursday evenings in the summer.

Ashland is part of a statewide network of well-groomed snowmobile trails, which include the Tri-County Trail and the Mount Valhalla Recreational Area in Chequamegon-Nicolet National Forest (see place listing p. 129). A map outlining area snowmobile touring loops and cross-country ski trails is available from the chamber of commerce.

BARABOO (G-5) pop. 10,711, elev. 879′

The river, the nearby mountains of purplish quartzite and the trim little city of Baraboo all took their name from the French trader Baribault, whose post stood here in the early 19th century. Another ame is almost synonymous with Baraboo—Ringng. Fond memories of a circus boat they had seen n Iowa spurred five sons of a German harnessnaker to present their first "Classic and Comic Concert Company" show in 1882.

From 1884 to 1918 Baraboo was home of their nterprise, which ultimately became Ringling Bros. nd Barnum & Bailey Circus. Many old circus uildings have been converted to industrial and ommercial uses.

BAYFIELD (A-3) pop. 611, elev. 607'

Mansions grace the side streets of Bayfield, once the main shipping point for regionally produced lumber and sandstone. The town now relies on fishing, fruit crops and the annual throng of summer vacationers.

Sightseeing cruises among the Apostle Islands (see Apostle Islands National Lakeshore p. 122) and ferry service to Madeline Island (see place listing p. 144), both offshore in Lake Superior, depart from Bayfield. In the winter a motorized windsled offers transportation to the island until the lake freezes and cars can travel on an ice highway.

The chamber of commerce offers a free 75-minute Welcome to Bayfield Walking Tour of historic downtown most Fridays at 2 from the third Friday in May through Labor day; phone the chamber or (715) 779-0299. Bayfield Heritage Tours, (715) 779-0299, offers four guided, narrated tours of the town: Haunted Bayfield Ghost Walk, Mansions and Gardens Stroll, A Walk Through Historic Bayfield and Welcome to Bayfield Walk.

The area affords good hunting, fishing, skiing, snowmobiling, kayaking, boating and sailing. Deep-water fishing trips leave the pier daily; a fishing license is required.

Bayfield Chamber of Commerce: 42 S. Broad St., P.O. Box 138, Bayfield, WI 54814; phone (715) 779-3335 or (800) 447-4094.

BELMONT (I-4) pop. 871, elev. 1,063′

Belmont held high hopes for growth and prominence when it served as the first capital of the Wisconsin Territory in 1836. But representatives who convened there objected so vehemently to the site that the governor agreed to move the capital to a location upon which the majority could agree. After a long dispute Madison was selected, although at the time it existed only on paper.

With little other reason to thrive, Belmont declined. The coup de grace was the removal of the railroad to a point 3 miles distant; most of the town moved with it, leaving Old Belmont and its vacant capitol complex to molder. Contemporary Belmont is an agricultural village.

FIRST CAPITOL STATE HISTORIC SITE is 3 mi. n.w. on CR G. Two restored buildings stand on the site where the first territorial legislature met in 1836. In the Council House the legislature drafted many laws and fixed the permanent government seat in Madison. The lodging house contains displays about Wisconsin's early territorial government and history. Wed.-Sun. 10-4, mid-June through Labor Day. Schedule may vary; phone ahead. Free. Phone (608) 987-2122.

BELOIT (I-6) pop. 35,775, elev. 745′

The agent for New England Emigrating Co. must be credited with having a silver tongue, for nearly the entire town of Colebrook, N.H., moved to this site on the Rock River in 1837. Determined to sustain "science and religion and all the adjuncts that contribute to the elevation of society," the cultured arrivals promptly established a church and chartered Beloit College in 1846.

The college and light industry are the lifeblood of the city. The Beloit College campus also is the site of more than two dozen American Indian mounds. Wright Museum of Art on the Beloit College campus, exhibits Oriental art, graphics and sculpture.

Other points of interest in town include the Near East Side and Bluff Street historic districts, which contain rare 19th-century cobblestone houses, and Neese Performing Arts Theatre, on Bushnell Street, which presents theater, dance and other performing arts events. Home games for the minor-league baseball team the Beloit Snapper's, a farm team of the Minnesota Twins, are played at Pohlman Field.

LOGAN MUSEUM OF ANTHROPOLOGY is at 700 College St. in Memorial Hall on the Beloit College campus. The 1869 building houses a highly regarded collection of more than 225,000 artifacts, including Paleolithic art, jewelry from ancient civilizations, pre-Columbian ceramics and American Indian beadwork, baskets and clothing. A two-story glass cube allows visitors to see the pieces as well as watch the ongoing conservation and cataloging of objects.

Allow 30 minutes minimum. Tues.-Sun. 11-4; closed Thanksgiving and college holidays. Donations. Phone (608) 363-2677.

pop. 3,618, elev. 809′

Canoeing on the Black River, hunting, fishing and winter sports are among the attractions offered by Black River Falls. However, the cascade for which the town is named is now tamed by an upstream power dam. One of the first sawmills in Wisconsin was built here in 1819; the city was a busy logging center throughout the 19th century. Field of Honor Veterans Memorial, behind the chamber of commerce on Water Street, honors veterans and their families.

BLUE MOUNDS (I-5) pop. 708, elev. 1,296′

Serving as landmarks for Winnebago Indians and lead miners following the ore veins from Galena, Ill., two blue hills, the highest in southern Wisconsin, attracted Ebenezer Brigham in 1828. Using nothing more than a windlass, rope and tub, Brigham extracted more than 4 million pounds of lead from the ground. With his establishment of a smelting furnace, the town of Blue Mounds took shape.

When the Black Hawk War threatened, settlers built Fort Blue Mounds, which successfully defended the town during an ambush by Sac Indians. The fort later helped supply the troops who drove Black Hawk out of the state. A bronze plaque now commemorates the site.

BRODHEAD (I-5) pop. 3,180, elev. 792′

Edward Brodhead, chief engineer of the Milwaukee and Minnesota Railroad, is credited with having brought the railroad into the treeless sand prairie where the town began in 1856. Ancient trails already crossed the area, known to American Indians as the halfway point between the Mississippi and Lake Michigan. Both American Indians and European settlers once collected sap from the hard maples lining the Sugar River to make maple syrup and sugar.

The First Brigade Band, organized in 1857, achieved considerable popularity. Enlisted in the Civil War, the six-horse bandwagon followed Union general William T. Sherman on his Atlanta campaign and marched in the grand review in Washington, D.C., at the war's end.

The 23-mile Sugar River Trail, built on an abandoned railroad bed, follows the meandering river from Brodhead to New Glarus (see place listing p. 168).

BURLINGTON (I-7) pop. 9,936, elev. 790′

Burlington is most noted for being the home of the Burlington Liars' Club. This organization encourages the telling of tall tales in the classic country manner. Contributors from all over the world have promoted the tradition since 1929, when the first competition gained national attention. The tradition continues as scores of tall-tale tellers vie for first place each January 1. Visitors can explore the "Tall Tale Trail," a trail through town where tall tales can be heard at several locations.

St. Francis Retreat Center, 2 miles northeast on CR W between SRs 11 and 36, contains gardens and picturesque grottoes open to visitors year-round. Another popular Burlington attraction is the dramatic offerings of the Haylofters from May through October at Malt House Theatre, the oldest community theater group in Wisconsin. Free water-skiing performances by the Aquaducks are offered at Fischer Park on Browns Lake Saturday at 6, Memorial Day through Labor Day. Burlington, home to the Nestle Co., has been designated by the state legislature as "Chocolate City USA."

CHEQUAMEGON-NICOLET NATIONAL FOREST

Elevations in the forest range from 600 ft. at Lake Superior to 1,860 ft. near Twin Lake. Refer to AAA maps for additional elevation information.

In north-central and northeastern Wisconsin, the Chequamegon-Nicolet National Forest comprises 1.5 million acres in four separate regions. The Chequamegon (she-Wa-ma-gon) area covers 856,938 acres east, south and northwest of Park Falls on SRs 182 and 13; the Nicolet (nik-oh-LAY) area totals 661,200 acres east of Rhinelander and is accessible via several major highways.

More than 800 lakes dot the Chequamegon forest, where tree species include maple, aspen, pine, spruce, balsam, oak and birch. Licensed hunting and fishing are available in season. The Chippewa, Flambeau, Jump, St. Croix and Yellow rivers provide good canoeing in the spring and early summer. Muskellunge fishing is excellent.

An extensive 200-mile trail system threads through the Chequamegon, where a 40-mile segment of the Ice Age National Scenic Trail follows the terminal moraines of the last glaciers. Providing a system of loops used for cross-country skiing as well as hiking, the Rock Lake National Recreation Trail passes near Cable. Maps of snowmobile and cross-country ski trails are available at the forest supervisor headquarters.

The North Country National Scenic Trail traverses 60 miles of the northern part of the forest, roughly between Mellen and Iron River. Part of this route crosses the Rainbow Lake and Porcupine Lake wildernesses. Together covering about 11,000 acres of glaciated, lake-dotted woodlands, the wilderness areas offer an opportunity to experience a Northern hardwood forest free of development.

Primitive trails thread through the Nicolet region's three wilderness areas: Whisker Lake Wilderness Area, 8 miles west of Florence on SR 70, containing Riley and Whisker lakes; Blackjack Springs Wilderness Area, 8 miles east of Eagle River on SR 70, containing spring ponds; and the 22,000-acre Headwaters Wilderness Area, 8 miles east of Three Lakes on SR 32 and FR 2183.

With 1,200 lakes, 1,100 miles of trout streams and more than 400 spring ponds, the Nicolet forest also offers good fishing; there is hunting for deer, bears and upland game in season. Canoeing on the Wolf and Peshtigo rivers provides white-water excitement, while the Oconto, Pine, Popple and Wisconsin rivers are gentler.

The Great Divide Scenic Byway (SR 77) provides visitors with some of the most picturesque scenery in Wisconsin. The portion of this route between Hayward and Glidden is punctuated by several highlands known as the Penokee Range. The byway takes its name from the ridges that form the Great Divide, which separates waters flowing north to Lake Superior from waters flowing south to the Mississippi River.

There are more than 45 developed campgrounds in the combined forests; campsites are available on a first-come, first-served basis, but a limited number may be reserved in advance. For reservations phone, (877) 444-6777 daily 10-8.

For information about Chequamegon campgrounds and facilities, contact the forest headquarters at 1170 4th Ave. S., Park Falls, WI 54552; phone (715) 762-2461, or TTY (715) 762-5701, Mon.-Fri. 8-4:30. For information about facilities in the Nicolet forest, contact the forest office at 68 S. Stevens St., Rhinelander, WI 54501; phone (715) 362-1300, or TTY (715) 362-1383, Mon.-Fri. 8-4:30.

Information also is available from district ranger offices in Eagle River, Florence, Glidden, Hayward, Lakewood, Laona, Medford, Park Falls and Washburn. See Recreation Chart and the AAA Great Lakes CampBook.

CHIPPEWA FALLS (E-2) pop. 12,925, elev. 848′

That several locally made beverages have attained critical acclaim is credited to the purity of Chippewa Falls' ground water. It was not the clear water, however, that first attracted settlement to the banks of the Chippewa in 1837, but the vast white-pine forests and the river's potential for producing power.

With the passing of the logging era, attention turned to serving the local farmers, generating electricity for use throughout the region and developing diversified industry—including brewing and spring water bottling. Chippewa Water Co., which still operates today, was founded in 1880 by Thaddeus Pound—former Wisconsin lieutenant governor and grandfather of poet Ezra Pound.

Impounded by the Chippewa Falls dam, Lake Wissota provides fishing and other recreational activities. Lake Wissota State Park (see Recreation Chart and the AAA Great Lakes CampBook) is on the east shore. The Chippewa Rose Society Garden, Jefferson Avenue and Bridgewater, is among Wisconsin's largest.

Chippewa Falls Area Chamber of Commerce: 10 S. Bridge St., Chippewa Falls, WI 54729; phone (715) 723-0331 or (866) 723-0340.

IRVINE PARK is .5 mi. n. on SR 124. The 364-acre park contains a zoo with native animals, including black bears, which are best viewed mid-April through September, though the park is open all year. Cross-country skiing trails, hiking trails and picnic facilities are on the grounds. The park also includes Glen Loch Dam and Overlook, an old log house and an old schoolhouse.

Park open daily 7 a.m.-dusk. Christmas Village open Thanksgiving-Jan. 1. Free. A fee is charged for use of the swimming pool. Phone (715) 723-3890 or (715) 723-0051.

LEINENKUGEL BREWERY TOURS is on SR 124 at 124 E. Elm St. Guided 1-hour tours detail the brewing process. Displays depict the history of brewing in the area. Tastings are available. COON VALLEY (G-3) pop. 714, elev. 735′

In a valley laced with numerous springs and surrounded by high bluffs, Coon Valley lies in a landscape forever captured in the books of Hamlin Garland, who grew up on a farm in nearby West Salem (see place listing p. 184). Reminiscent of the valleys of Norway, the ravines in the Coon Valley area attracted Norwegian and Bohemian immigrants beginning in 1849.

The hills around the village are among the highest along US 14/61. Between the bluffs are tobacco and dairy farms run by descendants of the village's original settlers.

DOOR COUNTY (E-9)

Door County stretches northeast from Sturgeon Bay to the tip of the Door Peninsula. Wisconsin's most conspicuous feature extends like the spout of a teapot into Green Bay and Lake Michigan. The waters on either side of the 75-mile-long peninsula have carved much of its rocky shoreline into caves, arches and cliffs. The overall effect is that this rugged landscape—dotted with fishing villages, farms and orchards—resembles New England more than the Midwest.

Despite its scenic allure, the treacherously narrow channel between the peninsula's end and its outlying rocky islands was feared by American Indians and trappers. They named the channel porte des morts, or death's door, from which the peninsula and county take their names.

According to legend 17th-century French fur traders first ran afoul of the strait when Robert La Salle's ship Griffin sank. To circumvent the straits and the tedious trip around the peninsula, traders followed the American Indians' portage at Sturgeon Bay, which allowed easier passage to the important trade route at the head of Green Bay.

Fur trading dominated the area for 200 years, and it was not until the 19th century that Moravians, Scandinavians and other immigrants settled the peninsula. Around the turn of the 20th century wealthy city dwellers discovered the region's charms, transforming rustic villages into resorts.

Much of the peninsula caters to vacationers. Sailing on the surrounding waters, hiking and golf in one of the nearby state parks, as well as such cultural activities as summer theater, concerts and fish boils are area draws. Historic lighthouses, cherry blossoms and the sand beaches along Lake Michigan further accentuate the allure.

Door County Chamber of Commerce: 1015 Green Bay Rd., P.O. Box 406, Sturgeon Bay, WI 54235; phone (920) 743-4456 or (800) 527-3529 for a vacation planning guide.

Baileys Harbor (D-9) elev. 595 ft

During a fierce storm in 1848, Captain Justice Bailey found a safe port for his schooner on the Lake Michigan coast. Baileys Harbor, as the place came to be known, is the oldest village in Door County. The scenic harbor, notched into the Door Peninsula, is a popular vacation center. A half-mile north, the Ridges Sanctuary offers hiking trails in a natural wildlife area where wildflowers and species of native orchids can be seen from May to September. Tours are conducted during the summer and early fall.

Nearby recreational activities include salmon and trout fishing, bicycling, sea kayaking, windsurfing, snowmobiling and cross-country skiing. The Cana Island Lighthouse, about 4 miles northeast of Baileys Harbor via CR Q, was built in 1869. Stroll through the keepers' house and explore the rocky shore which surrounds this glorious island. The fee is $4 for adults and $2 for children. Phone (920) 743-5958, Memorial Day-late Oct.

Egg Harbor (E-9) pop. 250, elev. 635 ft

Although some sources credit Increase Claflin, the first settler of Door County, with naming the town for a nest of duck eggs, one legend claims the "Battle of the Eggs" gave Egg Harbor its name. A group of Green Bay men supposedly sailed into the harbor in 1825 and engaged in an egg-throwing fight when they reached the townsite.

From mid-June to mid-August, Birch Creek Music Performance Center, a performing arts school and concert venue 3 miles east via CR E, presents symphony, percussion/steel band and big band performances in an early 1900s barn adapted as a concert hall; phone (920) 868-3763.

Ephraim (D-9) pop. 353, elev. 710 ft

Founded in 1853 by Moravians from Norway, Ephraim is a resort village. A monument to the Moravian founders overlooks the harbor. South of town is Peninsula State Park. See Recreation Chart and Door County as well as Fish Creek in the AAA Great Lakes CampBook.

The 1848 Goodletson Cabin, on Moravia St., offers a glimpse into how families lived during the era. Guided walking tours of Ephraim's historic district are offered Tuesday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday at 10:30, mid-June through Labor Day, departing from Anderson Barn Museum, 3060 Anderson Lane. For further information contact the Ephraim Foundation, Box 165, Ephraim, WI 54211; phone (920) 854-9688.

THE ANDERSON STORE AND BARN is .5 mi. n. on SR 42. The restored 1858 general store displays retail items typical of the 1940s, as well as antiques, tools and possessions of Ephraim's settlers. The barn features a timeline of Ephraim and hands-on exhibits for children. Allow 30 minutes minimum. Tues.-Sat. 11-4, mid-June through Labor Day; Fri.-Sat. 11-4, day after Labor Day to mid-Oct. Admission (includes Anderson Barn Museum, Goodletson Cabin and Pioneer Schoolhouse) $3; ages 6-18, $2. Phone (920) 854-9688.

PIONEER SCHOOLHOUSE is 1.5 mi. e. of SR 42 at 220 E. Moravia St. Built in 1880, the school was in operation until 1949. Exhibits include artifacts, photographs and costumes of local origin. Tues.-Sat. 11-4, mid-June through Labor Day; Fri.-Sat. 11-4, day after Labor Day-second weekend in Oct. Admission (includes Anderson Barn Museum, Anderson Store and Goodletson Cabin) $3; ages 6-18, $2. Phone (920) 854-9688.

Fish Creek (D-9) elev. 583 ft

A huge castellated cliff rising above Green Bay dominates Fish Creek's western waterfront. Sheltered coves provide the finest natural harbors on this side of the peninsula, augmented by the town's marina.

North of the village in Peninsula State Park (see Recreation Chart and the AAA Great Lakes CampBook) is the restored Eagle Bluff Lighthouse. From mid-June through late August the American Folklore Theatre, (920) 854-6117, presents original musical productions at Peninsula State Park Amphitheatre; additional performances are given at various Door County town halls through October.

The Peninsula Players, (920) 868-3287, the oldest resident professional summer stock company in the country, performs a variety of comedy, music and drama at Theatre in a Garden Tuesday through Sunday evenings, late June to mid-October.

Gills Rock (D-9) elev. 594 ft

SAVE DOOR COUNTY MARITIME MUSEUM AT GILLS ROCK is just e. off SR 42 at 12724 Wisconsin Bay Rd. This museum on the tip of the Door Peninsula chronicles the area's fishing heritage with exhibits including shipwreck artifacts, navigational instruments, antique motors and models. The Hope, a restored commercial fishing tug, is featured.

Guided tours are offered. Allow 30 minutes minimum. Daily 10-5, Memorial Day weekend to mid-Oct. Admission (includes guided tour) $4.50; ages 5-17, $1.50; family rate (two adults and children under 18) $10.50. MC, VI. Phone (920) 854-1844.

Sturgeon Bay (E-9)
pop. 9,437, elev. 922 ft

Where once a tedious portage was necessary to avoid the 100-mile voyage around the tip of the Door Peninsula, boats and giant freighters easily ply the ship canal between Green Bay and Lake Michigan. Sturgeon Bay, named for its fine natural harbor, is one of the largest shipbuilding ports on the Great Lakes. Boat tours leading south through the canal to Lake Michigan and north into Green Bay are available daily, July and August, at the municipal dock.

Sturgeon Bay also processes the ruby yield of Door County's cherry orchards, the most extensive in the state. Some 3,000 acres of cherry trees produce from 8 to 20 million pounds of fruit annually. The trees bloom in late May, carpeting the peninsula in blossoms; harvest occurs from mid-July to early August.

During the annual chinook salmon spawning run each fall, as many as 500 anglers attack the waters daily in Sturgeon Bay Harbor in search of the 20- to 40-pound fish. Abundant winter recreation opportunities are available, including cross-country skiing and snowmobiling. The slopes at Potawatomi State Park (see Recreation Chart and the AAA Great Lakes CampBook) are lighted for nighttime skiing.

DOOR COUNTY HISTORICAL MUSEUM is at 18 N. Fourth Ave. A wildlife diorama, pioneer items, an early firehouse and videos pertinent to Door County are among the exhibits. Allow 1 hour minimum. Daily 10-4:30, May-Oct. Donations. Phone (920) 743-5809.

DOOR COUNTY MARITIME MUSEUM is on the waterfront at 120 N. Madison Ave. Exhibits span the nautical history of Door County from early American Indian canoes to post-World War II bulk carriers. The museum features a model ship gallery, a small craft workshop, a lighthouse exhibit, an art gallery and vintage outboard motors and marine engines. The pilot house from a Great Lakes ore carrier is displayed, and a nuclear ballistic submarine periscope offers a bay area view.

Allow 1 hour, 30 minutes minimum. Daily 10-5. Admission $7; ages 5-17, $4; family rate $18. MC, VI. Phone (920) 743-5958.

SAVE THE FARM is 4 mi. n. at 4285 SR 57N. The 40-acre rural environment includes various farm buildings, a pioneer homestead and farm animals, including young animals that can be held and fed. Particularly noteworthy are the nature cabin, with displays about the natural attractions of Door County, and the woodshed, with farm tools and utensils. There also are milking demonstrations, nature trails and vegetable, flower and herb gardens.

Picnicking is permitted. Allow 1 hour minimum. Daily 9-5, Memorial Day weekend to mid-Oct. Admission $7; over 62, $5.60; ages 4-13, $3.50. MC, VI. Phone (920) 743-6666.

MILLER ART MUSEUM is in the Door County Public Library at 107 S. Fourth Ave. Permanent and changing exhibits include works in various media by Door County and other Midwestern artists. The main gallery also serves as a community center for museum-sponsored arts and education programs. Allow 30 minutes minimum. Mon. 10-8, Tues.-Sat. 10-5; closed holidays. Donations. Phone (920) 746-0707.

SCENIC AIRPLANE RIDES depart from the Door County Cherryland Airport, 1 mi. s. on SR 42/57, then 1.5 mi. n. to 3538 Park Dr. Air tours of the Door Peninsula are offered by Orion Flight Services, Inc. A 172 Cessna high-wing aircraft cruises at 1,000 feet and provides excellent views of beaches, state parks, fruit orchards, resorts, Green Bay and Lake Michigan. Four different tours range from 15 minutes to 1 hour. Up to three passengers can be accommodated.

Mon.-Thurs. 8-5, Fri.-Sat. 8-7, Sun. 10-5, Memorial Day-Labor Day; Mon.-Sat. 8-5, rest of year. Fare $42.20-$178.30, depending on length of flight; under 2 free. Reservations are recommended and there is a two-person minimum for the 15-minute flight. AX, DS, MC, VI. Phone (920) 743-6952 or (888) 6952.

WINERIES

- Door Peninsula Winery is 6 mi. n. at 5806 SR 42. Daily 9-6. Tours depart daily every 45 minutes 9:30-4:15. Phone (920) 743-7431 or (800) 551-5049.

Washington Island (D-9)

Six miles off the tip of the Door Peninsula, Washington Island is surrounded by the waters of Lake Michigan and Green Bay. More than 200 years ago Potawatomi Indians inhabited the island. The tribe later almost was destroyed by a sudden, severe squall that swamped the canoes of a war party as they crossed what is now known as Death's Door Strait, en route to the mainland.

The island's population is predominantly Scandinavian and constitutes the oldest Icelandic settlement in the United States. It is reached by daily ferry service from the Northport Pier, 2 miles east of Gills Rock on SR 42; phone (920) 847-2546. The Cherry Train, (920) 847-2039 and the Viking Tour Train,(920) 854-2972, provide narrated sightseeing tram trips of the island; tours depart the Washington Island dock. Passenger excursion service to Rock Island State Park (see Recreation Chart) also is offered late May to mid-October.

EAU CLAIRE (E-3) pop. 61,704, elev. 796′

Relations with Eau Claire's upstream neighbor, Chippewa Falls (see place listing p. 130), were not always amicable in the days when rival logging companies from both towns drove their cuts down the eau claire ("clear water") of the Chippewa River. A number of midnight log drives and battles took place before cooperation supplanted warfare. When the timber was exhausted, Eau Claire, like Chippewa Falls, turned to diversified manufacturing.

Eau Claire's position at the confluence of the Chippewa and Eau Claire rivers enhances its status as a gateway to the resort areas of northwestern Wisconsin. Outdoor activities, such as bicycling, hiking, fishing and skiing, abound throughout the year. If you prefer to do your stargazing inside, the L.E. Phillips Planetarium on the University of Wisconsin-Eau Claire campus offers programs to the public Tuesdays at 7 p.m. during the fall and spring semesters; phone (715) 836-3727 for directions to the box office and to the planetarium.

EVANSVILLE (I-6) pop. 4,039, elev. 893′

Reports of prime agricultural land drew New Englanders from New York and Vermont during the 1840s to "The Grove," so named for the abundant forest edging part of the prairie belt settlement. The early economy of Evansville rested on wheat but was replaced by tobacco during the Civil War era. The need to market agricultural produce gave rise to a host of processing plants, including a sawmill and gristmill on Allen's Creek.

With the arrival of the railroad in 1864, tobacco warehouses and other commercial enterprises clustered around the tracks. On the main line of the North Western Railroad, the city became Wisconsin's largest shipping point for wool and a major distribution center for livestock during the mid-19th century.

Evansville's development is reflected in its wide range of architecture, spanning more than 125 years. The 22-block historic district has many unaltered structures in such diverse styles as Greek Revival, Italianate, Late Picturesque, Neoclassic and Prairie. Along the shores of Lake Leota are park and recreational facilities. An 18-hole golf course is nearby.

FOND DU LAC (G-7) pop. 42,203, elev. 765′

The French traders who first visited this region referred to it as the fond, or “far end,” of Lake Winnebago, Wisconsin’s largest freshwater lake; hence the name Fond du Lac. In 1835 Wisconsin’s first judge and later territorial governor, James D. Doty laid out the town in hopes of it becoming the state capital; it lost to Madison in 1848.

Today mansions of industrial barons line Division Street. Fond du Lac offers a diversity of industry and business, including the world headquarters for Mercury Marine, and Giddings and Lewis/Thyssen, a supplier of industrial automation products and machine tools.

GREEN BAY (E-8) pop. 102,313, elev. 604′

Green Bay, at the head of its namesake bay, has two claims to fame that no other town in the state can match: its longevity and the Green Bay Packers. Permanent settlement began in 1669 when Father Allouez established a mission. By the time the United States assumed dominance in 1816, the town—a major fur trading and military post—had changed hands three times.

In 1850 Norwegian Otto Tank came to Green Bay to serve as a Moravian missionary to about 50 families of farmers. Bringing with him a large amount of development capital, Tank bought 800 acres of land along the west bank of the Fox River and parceled them out to members of his religious colony. The Moravians built a lumber mill and steel foundry—the first industrial stirrings in Green Bay.

Christ Church (Episcopal), at Cherry and Madison streets, was established in 1829. It is the oldest permanent church site in the state. Phone (920) 432-0042 for information.

In addition to its success as a paper- and cheese-producing and shipping center, the enthusiasm generated by the Green Bay Packers, the oldest professional football team in the National Football League, helps keep the old town young. The team was founded in 1919.

JANESVILLE (I-6) pop. 59,498, elev. 804′

Soldiers returning home from the Black Hawk War were the first to promote Janesville's fertile valley on the Rock River. One who heard their praise was pioneer and visionary Henry F. Janes, who arrived in 1836, became the town's first postmaster and started a ferry and tavern. In 1892 George Parker opened Parker Pen Co., and 1919 brought the arrival of General Motors Corp., which became the town's largest employer. Guided tours of the GM plant at 1000 Industrial Ave. are offered by appointment; phone (608) 756-7681.

Several accomplished women hail from Janesville. Carrie Jacobs Bond, one of the first female songwriters to become published, wrote "A Perfect Day," which sold more than 5 million copies in 10 years. During the 19th century, Frances Willard became the national president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union and a relentless suffragist. A resident of nearby Johnstown, poet Ella Wheeler Wilcox sent the public stampeding to the bookstores after her "Poems of Passion" was printed by a progressive publisher.

Free water-skiing shows are performed at Traxler Park on Wednesday and Sunday evenings in summer.

LA CROSSE (G-2) pop. 51,818, elev. 640′

On the Mississippi River where the Black and La Crosse rivers meet, La Crosse was founded in 1842 as an American Indian trading post. Serious development began a decade later, when settlers from New York, Ohio and Vermont established sawmills and gristmills and spurred the arrival of the railroad. The Easterners were joined by German and Norwegian immigrants attracted by the extensive pine groves.

La Crosse was faced with a crippling depression when the La Crosse and Milwaukee Railroad Co. went bankrupt in 1857. However, when the Civil War closed river traffic on the Mississippi below the Ohio River, La Crosse provided a major link with the East, thus ensuring the town's economic recovery. A railroad bridge erected over the Mississippi in 1876 precipitated a dramatic increase in trade and manufacturing, as the network of railroads radiating from La Crosse found new markets.

The city lies on a scenic route that follows the Mississippi. The route consists of SR 35, which heads southeast to Prairie du Chien, and US 53, which runs northwest to its junction with SR 54/35. Overseeing all river traffic is a 25-foot carved wooden American Indian in Riverside Park at the base of State Street near the downtown area. The park is the docking site for the steamboats The American Queen and The Mississippi Queen. Lock and Dam No. 7, a U.S. Army Corps of Engineers project 5 miles north of La Crosse, has an observation deck.

Goose Island County Park (see Recreation Chart and the AAA Great Lakes CampBook) offers developed recreational facilities and a wildlife refuge. During the winter downhill and cross-country skiing are available in the area.

Tours of the University of Wisconsin-La Crosse campus are available; phone (608) 785-8067. The university's art gallery exhibits works by prominent artists September through May. Cultural events also take place at Viterbo College.

La Crosse Area Convention & Visitors Bureau: Riverside Park, 410 Veterans Memorial Dr., La Crosse, WI 54601; phone (608) 782-2366 or (800) 658-9424.

Shopping areas: Valley View Mall, I-90 exit 4 on US 16, has more than 90 stores, including JCPenney, Marshall Field's and Sears.

THE CITY BREWERY is at 1111 S. 3rd St. at Mississippi St. This 60-minute guided tour relates the history of brewing in La Crosse and explains the brewing process in the very modern facility of this 1858 company. Allow 1 hour minimum. Tours Mon.-Sat. at noon, 1, 2 and 3, June 1-early Oct.; Thurs.-Sat at noon, 1, 2, and 3, Apr.-May and mid-Oct. through Dec. 24; Fri.-Sat. at noon, 1, 2 and 3, Jan.-Mar. Some days a special event may preempt the 3 p.m. tour. Phone to confirm schedule. Fee $1. Phone (608) 785-4283.

GRANDAD BLUFF is 2 mi. e. on Main St. Towering about 600 feet above the city, the summit offers a panoramic view of three states—Wisconsin, Minnesota and Iowa. Picnicking is permitted. The bluff can be visited daily 6 a.m.-11 p.m. Free.

LAKE MILLS (H-7) pop. 4,843, elev. 857′

Archeologists theorize that Aztalan, 3 miles east of Lake Mills on CR B, then right on CR Q, was the northernmost city of the Middle Mississippian Phase Indians, a culture influenced by the Aztecs in Mexico. Established 1075-1175, a 21-acre stockaded village once was occupied by about 500 Aztalan Indians. The Aztalans had a settled farming culture characterized by pyramidal mounds, complex pottery and crafts, and cannibalism.

After the Black Hawk War ended in 1836, settlers flooding into the area founded the second village of Aztalan at the junction of two stagecoach roads just northwest of the stockade. By 1842, the pioneer town had evolved into an industrial center, with Jefferson County's first post office, two hotels, a brickyard and five small factories. Aztalan's demise came in 1859, after the railroad bypassed the town.

Truncated mounds and stockade sections of the ancient Indian village are identified with markers in Aztalan State Park, quarter-mile south of the Aztalan Museum (see attraction listing). Phone (920) 648-8774.

Lake Mills Area Chamber of Commerce: 200 C Water St., P.O. Box 125, Lake Mills, WI 53551-0125; phone (920) 648-3585.

AZTALAN MUSEUM is 3 mi. e. on CR B at jct. CR Q, next to Aztalan State Park. The only remaining building from the 1830s pioneer village of Aztalan, this former Baptist church houses a collection of Aztalan and Woodland Indian artifacts, as well as exhibits, maps and documents relating to Aztalan and early Lake Mills. Four log cabins on the 4-acre site date from the mid- to late 1800s.

Allow 1 hour minimum. Thurs.-Sun. noon-4, mid-May to late Sept. Admission $3; ages 6-17, $1. Phone (920) 648-4632.

LAND O'LAKES (B-6) elev. 1,709′

Heart of the region of the same name, the attractive village of Land O'Lakes is surrounded by some 135 lakes. To the west, the Cisco chain of 17 lakes forms the second longest chain in Wisconsin. Lac Vieux Desert, east of town, is the source of the Wisconsin River. A popular resort center, the region offers summer and winter sports.

MADELINE ISLAND (A-4)

Madeline Island is east of the Bayfield Peninsula in Lake Superior. The largest of the Apostle Islands group (see Apostle Islands National Lakeshore p. 122), Madeline has a permanent population of fewer than 200 residents. The island was the focus of some of the earliest trading, missionary activity and commercial fishing in the interior of North America. It is possible that Etienne Brule visited the region as early as 1622 in his attempt to find the mythical Northwest Passage to China and the East Indies.

The French explorers Radisson and Groseilliers explored Madeline in 1659. Trading posts were established by the French in 1693 and by the British in 1793. La Pointe became headquarters for a post of the American Fur Co. in 1816. It currently serves the thousands of summer visitors to the island. Big Bay State Park (see Recreation Chart) is on the east shore of the island. Just across the lagoon is Big Bay Town Park.

Ferries operate between Bayfield (see place listing p. 125) and the island town of La Pointe daily from April to early December (weather permitting). They run about every 30 minutes during the peak season, mid-June to early October. Fares vary according to season; phone (715) 747-2051. In the winter a motorized windsled offers transportation to the island until the lake freezes and cars can travel on an ice highway.

Tours of the island, offered by Madeline Island Bus Tours, depart several times daily, mid-June through Labor Day, from the Madeline Island Ferry Lines office near the ferry landing; phone (715) 747-2051 or (715) 747-6801.

Madeline Island Chamber of Commerce: N806 Main St., P.O. Box 274, La Pointe, WI 54850; phone (715) 747-2801 or (888) 475-3386.

Shopping area: During the summer Woods Hall Craft Shop, 3 blocks south of the ferry landing, features craftspersons displaying their wares.

MADELINE ISLAND HISTORICAL MUSEUM is 1 blk. from the ferry landing in La Pointe. Surrounded by a log stockade, this state historic site consists of an American Fur Co. warehouse, the island jail, a barn and the old Sailors' Home. Exhibits depict American Indian life, the expeditions of French voyageurs, the arrival of the fur traders and the development of the fishing and logging industries in the Chequamegon Bay region. A 23-minute film also is available.

Daily 10-5, Memorial Day weekend-first Sat. in Oct. Last admission 30 minutes before closing. Admission $5.50; over 64, $4.95; ages 5-12, $2.75; family rate $15. MC, VI. Phone (715) 747-2415.

MADISON (H-6) pop. 208,054, elev. 845′

Madison existed only as a plan when it was selected as the territorial capital in 1836. By 1838 there was one inn and a general store, and construction had just begun on the Capitol. The going was slow, and the legislature, weary of cold, crowded and bedless accommodations, repeatedly threatened to move the capital elsewhere.

With the completion of the statehouse, Wisconsin's attainment of statehood and the establishment of the University of Wisconsin in 1848, the city began to assume some of its present character. Madison is a thriving center for business, government, education and recreation.

Much of the recreation is available on more than 18,000 acres of lake surface within or just outside the city limits. The "Four Lakes of Madison" are Kegonsa, Mendota, Monona, and Waubesa. Mendota, about 8 miles long, is the largest. From Picnic Point, a narrow spit jutting into Lake Mendota, there is a spectacular view of the city.

The city center is on an eight-block-wide isthmus between lakes Mendota and Monona. By ordinance, the city's skyline is dominated by the 2,500-ton dome of the state Capitol. Capitol Square is connected to the university campus by State Street Mall, a tree-lined shopping district with import shops, ethnic restaurants and crafts studios. The Overture Center for the Arts, housing three performing arts theaters and Madison Art Center, is in the middle of the mall at 211 State St.

The Unitarian Church at 900 University Bay Dr. is an especially noteworthy example of Frank Lloyd Wright's architectural style. Wright intended its ascending triangular forms to symbolize unity and prayer. The Madison Mallards play minor-league baseball at Warner Park.

Greater Madison Convention & Visitors Bureau: 615 E. Washington Ave., Madison, WI 53703; phone (608) 255-2537 or (800) 373-6376.

Shopping areas: Madison has two major malls: East Towne at I-90/94 and US 151, which has 100 stores, and West Towne at Gammon and Mineral Point roads, which has more than 100 stores. Anchor stores are Boston Store, JCPenney and Sears.

HENRY VILAS ZOO is on Lake Wingra via W. Washington Ave., then .5 mi. w. on Drake St. to 702 South Randall Ave. Founded in 1911, the park contains 150 species of animals, including 12 that are endangered. Prairie dogs and miniature horses are among the residents of a children's zoo, which includes interactive exhibits and feeding stations.

Picnicking is permitted. Grounds open daily 9:30-5. The Discovery Center & Herpetarium open daily 10-4, except open only 9:30-noon Jan. 1, Martin Luther King Jr. Day, Thanksgiving, day after Thanksgiving and Dec. 24-25 and 31. Children's zoo open daily 10-4, Memorial Day weekend-Labor Day. Free. Phone (608) 266-4732.

MADISON CHILDREN'S MUSEUM is at 100 State St. across from the State Capitol. This educational and cultural museum is designed for children up to age 8. Exhibits include the Shadow Room, First Feats: Celebrating the Early Years and Let's Grow. Additional hands-on exhibits change periodically.

Allow 1 hour minimum. Mon.-Fri. 9-4, Sat. 9-5, Sun. noon-5, June-Aug.; Tues.-Fri. 9-4, Sat. 9-5, Sun. noon-5 (also last Mon. of the month 1-5), rest of year. Closed holidays. Admission $4; over 54, $3; under 1 free; free to all first Sun. of the month. MC, VI. Phone (608) 256-6445.

MONONA TERRACE COMMUNITY AND CONVENTION CENTER is 2 blks. e. of Capitol Sq. at 1 John Nolen Dr. Frank Lloyd Wright proposed this 250,000-square-foot civic center on the shore of Lake Monona in 1938 but it was not completed until 1997. The complex bears Wright's signature style of dramatic open spaces, circular forms and expansive views of the outdoors. The rooftop garden has a memorial to Otis Redding, who died in a Lake Monona plane crash in 1967.

Food is available Mon.-Sat. until 2; closed holidays. Center open daily 8-5. Guided tours are offered daily at 1. Center free. Tours $3; under 18, $2. MC, VI. Phone (608) 261-4000.

OLBRICH BOTANICAL GARDENS is at 3330 Atwood Ave. This oasis on the shores of Lake Monona includes 16 acres of specialty gardens, a 50-foot-high glass conservatory and what is said to be the only Thai pavilion and garden in the continental United States. The rose garden has more than 125 varieties and 700 individual rose bushes, while the rock garden features hardier flora. Other gardens display herbs, hostas, perennials, wildflowers and annuals.

The conservatory simulates a rain-forest atmosphere and contains tropical plants, bamboo arbors, a waterfall, palm trees and free-flying birds. Flower shows, concerts and special events are offered throughout the year.

Guided tours are available by appointment. Allow 2 hours minimum. Gardens open daily 8-8, Apr.-Sept.; 9-4, rest of year. Conservatory open Mon.-Sat. 10-4, Sun. 10-5. Closed Jan. 1, Thanksgiving and Dec. 25. Gardens and Thai pavilion admission free. Conservatory $1, under 6 free; free to all Wed. and Sat. 10-noon except during special exhibits. MANITOWISH WATERS (B-5) elev. 1,640′

A year-round vacation center, Manitowish Waters is in the Northern Highland-American Legion State Forest (see Recreation Chart and the AAA Great Lakes CampBook). The waters that inspired the town's name consist of a 10-lake chain. The area offers water sports, tennis, golf, riding and archery in summer and cross-country skiing, ice fishing and snowmobiling in winter.

Cranberry tours depart from various locations every Friday at 10, mid-July to mid-October. A videotape is shown and cranberry refreshments are served. For further information contact the chamber of commerce.

Manitowish Waters Chamber of Commerce: US 51 and Airport Rd., P.O. Box 251, Manitowish Waters, WI 54545; phone (715) 543-8488 or (888) 626-9877.

MANITOWOC (F-8) pop. 34,053, elev. 595′

Manitowoc, an American Indian name meaning "the abode of the Great Spirit Manitou," is a leading industrial and shipping center. Its harbor at the mouth of the Manitowoc River has made it an important port since the early 1830s. Hundreds of ships, including submarines, have been built at local shipyards since the schooner Citizen was launched in 1848; Burger Boat shipyard still is in operation.

Formerly distinguished as one of the world's largest producers of aluminum ware, the city balances its commercial enterprises with refuges for both animals and nature lovers. Collins Marsh Wildlife Refuge, 16 miles west of Manitowoc on CR JJ, is a natural haven for wildfowl; it is open May through October on a limited basis.

Visitors can explore The Natural Ovens Farm and Food Museum and its collection of antique farm implements and John Deere tractors Monday through Saturday 9-3, May through October. The Natural Ovens Bakery Tour is offered Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 9, 10 and 11, all year. For more information on both phone (920) 758-2500 or (800) 558-3535.

The SS Badger, operated by the Lake Michigan Carferry Service (see color ad), offers 4-hour cruises and car-ferry service from Manitowoc to Ludington, Mich. For information and fares phone (800) 841-4243. Several charter fishing associations also operate out of the town.

Manitowoc Visitor & Convention Bureau & Visitor Information Center: junction I-43 and US 151, P.O. Box 966, Manitowoc, WI 54221-0966; phone (920) 683-4388 or (800) 627-4896.

Shopping areas: In nearby Mishicot, 7 miles north via CR B at 315 Elizabeth St., is The Old School with 15,000 square feet of collectibles. Particularly noteworthy is the Rockwell Center with one of the largest collections of Norman Rockwell prints and figurines. Presentations are available upon request. Other collectibles include those by Frances Hook and pieces manufactured by Fontanini. Phone (920) 755-4560.

PINECREST HISTORICAL VILLAGE is 3 mi. w. of I-43 via CR JJ to Pine Crest Ln. The village, which depicts rural life in Manitowoc County from the 1850s to the early 1900s, contains a collection of restored buildings relocated to this 60-acre site. Structures include three log houses, a smokehouse, cheese factory, church, school, blacksmith shop, harness shop, saloon, general store, firehouse, town hall, an octagonal dancehall and a train depot with a caboose and an 1887 engine.

Allow 1 hour minimum. Daily 9-4, May 1-Oct. 24. Admission $6; ages 6-17, $4; family rate (two adults and dependent children ages 6-17) $15. Phone (920) 684-5110 or (920) 684-4445.

RAHR-WEST ART MUSEUM is at 610 N. 8th St. Housed in an 1893 Victorian mansion, the museum contains period furnishings, Chinese ivory, dolls and porcelain objects. An art gallery presents changing exhibits. Mon.-Fri. 10-4 (also Wed. 4-8), Sat.-Sun. 11-4; closed Jan. 1, Easter, Memorial Day, July 4, Thanksgiving and Dec. 24-25. Donations. Phone (920) 683-4501.

WISCONSIN MARITIME MUSEUM is off I-43 exit 152, 4 mi. e. on US 10, then 1 mi. s. to 75 Maritime Dr. Exhibit galleries of this 60,000-square-foot facility use interactive exhibits and displays to depict the maritime history of Wisconsin. Model ships range from an 1847 three-masted schooner to present-day vessels. Marine engines, maps, charts and nautical equipment also are displayed. Special events take place during the year.

Allow 2 hours minimum for the museum, 1 hour additional for the submarine. Daily 9-6, Memorial Day weekend-Labor Day; daily 9-5, rest of year. Closed Jan. 1, Easter, Thanksgiving and Dec. 25. Admission (includes submarine) $12; ages 6-15, $10. DS, MC, VI. Phone (920) 684-0218 or (866) 724-2356.

The Submariners Memorial USS Cobia is docked in the Manitowoc River next to the Wisconsin Maritime Museum at 75 Maritime Dr. The 45-minute tour of the USS Cobia, believed to be the nation's most completely restored WW II submarine, begins in the interpretive center where high-tech exhibits and a multimedia theater relate the six war patrols of the sub, the role U.S. Navy subs played in World War II and how the Manitowoc shipyards came to build 28 submarines of this class during the war years.

Allow 1 hour minimum. Daily 9-6, Memorial Day weekend-Labor Day; daily 9-5, rest of year. Last tour begins 1 hour before closing. Closed Jan. 1, Easter, Thanksgiving and Dec. 25. Admission is included in the Wisconsin Maritime Museum admission. Phone (920) 684-0218.

MARINETTE (D-8) pop. 11,749, elev. 597'

Wisconsin's "Queen City" was named after Queen Marinette, a woman of French and Chippewa Indian extraction. With her husband, William Farnsworth, she operated a fur-trading post during Marinette's early years. From 1830 to 1930 the city was regarded as the white pine producing center of the world. In all, more than 10 billion board feet of logs

SAVE MARINETTE COUNTY HISTORICAL MUSEUM is downtown on US 41 in Stephenson Island Park. The museum houses early farming and logging tools, hand-carved miniatures of logging operations, American Indian items and furniture and other household items. On the premises is the fully-furnished restored Evancheck log cabin of the 1800s. Stephenson Island Park offers picnic facilities, a playground and a boat ramp.

Allow 1 hour minimum. Tues.-Sat. 10-4:30, Sun. noon-4, Memorial Day weekend-Labor Day; otherwise by appointment. Admission $2; ages 12-17, $1. Phone (715) 732-0831.

MARSHFIELD (E-5) pop. 18,800, elev. 1,276′

Marshfield once was a railroad hub with 50 trains stopping daily as hotels were crowded with passengers awaiting connections to go "out West" or "back East." In the early days of the Marshfield Clinic, one of the country's largest medical clinics, physicians rode the trains to serve patients in smaller outlying communities.

At the junction of Vine Avenue and East 17th Street is the Central Wisconsin State Fair Round Barn, reputed to be the largest round barn in existence. The best kept secret in town may be Foxfire Gardens 3 miles north of town on County Trunk E. These privately-owned Oriental themed gardens generally are open to the public 10-5 daily, Mother's Day through October. If you plan to visit the gardens, it is best to phone the convention and visitors bureau to make sure they will be open.

Hiking, bicycling, camping and swimming are popular during summer. In winter Marshfield provides ample opportunity for cross-country skiing, snowmobiling and hunting. Marshfield Super Speedway is host to stock car races; phone (715) 384-8325.

Marshfield Convention & Visitors Bureau: 700 S. Central Ave., P.O. Box 868, Marshfield, WI 54449; phone (715) 384-3454 or (800) 422-4541.

NEW VISIONS GALLERY is 8 blks. n. of SR 13 in the Marshfield Clinic at 1000 N. Oak Ave. Permanent displays include posters by Marc Chagall, West African sculpture, Japanese prints, Haitian paintings, Australian aboriginal art and original prints by modern artists. Temporary exhibits change every 6 to 8 weeks. Allow 1 hour minimum. Mon.-Fri. 9-5:30, Sat. 11-3; closed holidays. Free. Phone (715) 387-5562.

WILDWOOD PARK & ZOO is at 1800 S. Central Ave., 1 blk. w. of SR 13. Home to numerous species of free-range and exhibited animals, this 340-acre park also offers picnic facilities, tennis courts, fishing, playgrounds, nature trails and disc golf.

Allow 1 hour minimum. Park open daily 6 a.m.-10:30 p.m. Zoo open daily 7:30-7:30, late Apr. through mid-Sept.; 7:30-6, late Sept. to mid-Oct.; 7:30-2:45, rest of year. Closed Jan. 1, Thanksgiving, Dec. 24-25 and 31. Free. Phone (715) 384-4642.

MELLEN (B-4) pop. 835, elev. 1,240′

South of Copper Falls State Park (see attraction listing) and surrounded by the wooded hills of the Penokee Mountain Range, Mellen is a lumbering town as well as an eastern gateway to Chequamegon-Nicolet National Forest (see place listing p. 129). The red and black granite quarried in the area is used widely for monuments and buildings.

Mellen Area Chamber of Commerce: 125 E. Bennett Ave., P.O. Box 193, Mellen, WI 54546; phone (715) 274-2330.

GEM COPPER FALLS STATE PARK is 2 mi. n.e. on SR 169. This 2,483-acre park is named for falls where the Bad and Tyler Forks rivers flow over the edge of the Keeweenawan traprock into a canyon. A nature trail leads to observation points. Loon Lake has a sand beach for swimming, a canoe launch and access to hiking trails with waterfalls. Small car-top boats with electric motors also can be launched at Loon Lake.

Loon Lake has largemouth bass, northern pike and panfish and is a good spot for ice fishing. Bad and Tyler Forks rivers both offer fishing for rainbow, brown, and brook trout. Denizens of the woods include black bears, deer, grey wolves, raccoons and elk. The park has 8 miles of cross-country ski trail loops, a 2.5-mile snowshoe trail, mountain bike trails and one rustic cabin that is wheelchair accessible.

Daily 6 a.m.-11 p.m. Admission per private vehicle $10, state residents $5. Annual permit $30, state residents $20. Phone (715) 274-5123. See Recreation Chart and the AAA Great Lakes CampBook.

MENOMONIE (E-2) pop. 14,937, elev. 794′

Menomonie began as a lumber mill settlement on the Red Cedar River in 1830. Almost 50 years later the town's lumber corporation had become one of the largest in the world. Dairying later replaced lumbering as the city's economic mainstay.

Several 19th-century attractions downtown recall the days of the early lumber barons. Near Lake Menomin stand the 1868 John Holly Knapp House and the 1846 Wilson Place, stately Victorian mansions of the founders of Knapp Stout & Co. At 101 Wilson Circle, Wilson Place, now a museum depicting the early settlement era, was the estate of Sen. James H. Stout, founder of the University of Wisconsin-Stout in Menomonie; phone (715) 235-2283.

Of humbler origin is the home of Caddie Woodlawn, the subject of the 1935 Newbury Award-winning children's book "Caddie Woodlawn" by Carol Ryrie Brink. The Caddie Woodlawn Home and Park, 8 miles south on SR 25, contains the pioneer girl's home and provides picnic facilities.

Bordering the Red Cedar River along the western city limits is the 14-mile limestone-surfaced Red Cedar State Park Trail for bicyclists, hikers and cross-country skiers. Lake Menomin offers boating, and the Red Cedar River provides good fishing. Hoffman Hills State Recreation Area, 9 miles northeast, has 8 miles of trails. During the summer the Ludington Guard Band performs every Tuesday evening at 8 in the Wilson Park band shell.

Greater Menomonie Area Chamber of Commerce: 342 E. Main St., Suite 200, Menomonie, WI 54751; phone (715) 235-9087 or (800) 283-1862.

THE MABEL TAINTER MEMORIAL THEATER is at 205 Main St. Built in 1889, the Moorish-style building contains a public reading room, meeting rooms, an exhibit gallery and an ornate Victorian theater. Decorated with mahogany, oak, Italian marble, Tiffany stained-glass windows and polished brass, the 313-seat theater features an unusual organ with 1,597 pipes and 25 stops. Performing arts programs are presented throughout the year.

During the 19th century immigrants from more than 30 European countries flocked to Milwaukee, bringing with them their skills, arts and cuisines. Germans were the largest group; as the decades passed their gemütlichkeit (hospitality) assumed Italian, Polish, Scandinavian, Irish and other national overtones.

Milwaukee's watery surroundings, while a boon to its eventual development as a river port, posed a few problems during its early years. A fierce rivalry developed over the question of payment for the Milwaukee River bridges that connected the two villages of Juneautown and Kilbourntown. The Great Bridge War was settled by the legislature in 1845, but not before both factions angrily had torn down every bridge and the residents of Juneautown had trained a loaded cannon on Kilbourntown.

The new city of Milwaukee witnessed the arrival of the Forty-eighters, refugees from unsuccessful revolutionary movements against German monarchies in 1848. This intellectual minority launched the city into new cultural and political directions, endowing the city with theaters, music societies, athletic clubs and Freethinker groups. They also established a reform tradition that later gave rise to Milwaukee's distinctive brand of socialism.

During the last half of the 19th century, the reference to Milwaukee as the German Athens was hardly an exaggeration. Only the Polish and Irish populations came close in number. English was almost never heard in some neighborhoods, especially on the northwest side. By the late 1870s Milwaukee had six daily newspapers published in German.

Public schools zealously enforced their requirement that German be taught from kindergarten on. Ever-popular were family picnics at such open-air beer gardens as the Schlitz Palm Garden. By the end of the century, however, German cultural allegiances had begun to fade. The decision of the Stadt Theater, pride of Milwaukee's German culture, to alternate plays in German and English was an indisputable sign of changing times.

In reality Milwaukee's northern European heritage never disappeared. Its influence survived, despite such setbacks as World War I's repressive effect on the German community and Prohibition's nearly fatal blow to the city's brewing industry. The period following World War II brought massive development.

Milwaukee is the state's largest city, its primary commercial and manufacturing center and one of its busiest ports, as well as a major grain market. Called the "machine shop of America," Milwaukee ranks among the nation's principal industrial cities and is a leader in the production of equipment for the generation and distribution of electrical power. Factories also manufacture motorcycles, mining machinery and combustion engines.

But what really has made Milwaukee famous is beer. Though other industries have dethroned the king since 1889, the brewing industry remains synonymous with the city. Besides the ubiquitous smell of malt in the air, associations with brewing are everywhere. Wealthy brewers and other industrialists built lavish houses, some of which have been converted to public museums. One of the nation's largest breweries has its headquarters in Milwaukee.

Although modern steel and glass high rises occupy much of the downtown area, Milwaukee's European heritage is evident in the design of some of the city's noteworthy buildings and residences. The blue-domed Annunciation Greek Orthodox Church, a magnificent example of Byzantine architecture at 9400 W. Congress St., came from the drawing board of Frank Lloyd Wright. While the interior of the church is not open for tours, the exterior is more than worth a drive from any part of the city.

City Hall and Pabst Theater, both built in the 1890s in the Flemish Renaissance style, have been preserved carefully. Residents also embrace the return of a few old German cafes and beer gardens, where zither music is played and sauerbraten is served with the suds.

Getting There

By Car

From the north I-43 provides controlled access into downtown Milwaukee. I-94 affords direct access to the downtown area from Chicago and other southern points. From the west I-94 is the controlled-access highway into the city. Bypassing the metropolitan area to the south and west, I-894 provides the best connection for the I-94 through corridor. Lake Express offers 2.5-hour car-ferry trips from Muskegon, Mich., to Milwaukee; phone (866) 914-1010.

Getting Around

Street System

Lake Michigan flanks the city on the east, and Wisconsin Avenue is the main downtown east-west thoroughfare. The Milwaukee River divides the downtown area into approximately equal east and west sections; I-94 is the approximate dividing line between north and south street addresses. Streets are numbered in ascending order west of the Milwaukee River and continue well into the suburbs to the Milwaukee County line.

German Fest / Greater Milwaukee Convention and Visitors Bureau

The official, unposted speed limit is 25 mph; other limits are posted. Rush hours are 7-9 a.m. and 3:30-6 p.m. Right turns are permitted on red unless otherwise posted.

Parking

Private commercial lots are scattered throughout the downtown area and near the airport. Lot rates are $3-$4 per hour and $7-$13 for all-day parking. Private lots within four blocks of the Midwest Airlines Center and Bradley Center provide parking for functions at the centers.

Destination Milwaukee

Milwaukee has a lot to offer visitors—from art museums to a variety of parks, gardens and nature centers.

Sightseeing is at its best here; horse-and-carriage tours, cruises and scenic drives are offered. The young and young-at-heart can enjoy an impressive zoo, an enormous ice-skating facility and a clown hall of fame.

The Charles Allis Art Museum is at 1801 N. Prospect Ave. at the corner of E. Royall Pl. This intact Tudor-style mansion with original furnishings was completed in 1911 for Charles Allis, the first president of Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Company, and his wife Sarah. The art collection, spanning more than 2,000 years, has an emphasis on the fine arts—drawing, painting, photography, printmaking and sculpture. Changing exhibitions of Wisconsin artists are presented.

Allow 30 minutes minimum. Wed.-Sun. 1-5; closed holidays. Docent-led, 45-minute tours are available upon request. Admission $5, over 62, military and students with ID $3, under 13 free. Phone (414) 278-8295.

Milwaukee Art Museum is at 700 N. Art Museum Dr. A suspended pedestrian bridge links the museum to downtown Milwaukee at Wisconsin Avenue. The Quadracci Pavilion is a 90-foot-high reception hall designed by Spanish architect Santiago Calatrava. Soaring above this white marble and glass pavilion is the Burke Brise Soleil, a winglike sunscreen that serves as a moving sculpture.

The museum was established in 1888 and houses more than 20,000 works dating from antiquity to the 21st century. Highlights include collections of the old masters; 19th- and 20th-century European and American art, including products of German Expressionism and the American Ashcan School; and modern art. Also featured are collections of Haitian art, American decorative arts and folk art, and the Prairie School archives of Frank Lloyd Wright.

Allow 2 hours minimum. Daily 10-5 (also Thurs. 5-8); closed Thanksgiving and Dec. 25. Admission $8; over 64, $6; students with ID $4; under 13 free with adult. Prices vary for special exhibitions. AX, MC, VI. Phone (414) 224-3200.

Villa Terrace Decorative Arts Museum is at 2220 N. Terrace Ave. This 16th-century Italian Renaissance-style villa was designed and built by architect David Adler in 1923 for metals mogul Lloyd Smith of the A.O. Smith Corporation. The museum features fine and decorative arts from the 15th through the 20th century, wrought-iron masterpieces by Cyril Colnik and a formal garden.

Allow 30 minutes minimum. Wed.-Sun. 1-5; closed holidays. Docent-led, 45-minute tours are available upon request. Admission $5, over 62, military and students with ID $3, under 13 free. Phone (414) 271-3656.

MILWAUKEE COUNTY ZOO is 6 mi. w. on US 18 between US 45 and SR 100 at 10001 W. Bluemound Rd. More than 1,800 animals are displayed in five continental groupings giving the illusion that predator and prey are together. Among the exhibits are Humboldt penguins, African elephants and Alaskan brown bears.

The Apes of Africa features lowland gorillas and pygmy chimpanzees. The Wolf Woods exhibit is home to young timber wolves. North American river otters, meerkats and ring-tailed lemurs can be seen in the Small Mammals Building. The Aquatic and Reptile Center features endangered Chinese alligators, Caribbean iguanas and a 23,000-gallon Pacific Coast aquarium. Other highlights include the Florence Mila Borchert "Big Cat Country" feline building and the children's zoo, the Northwestern Mutual Family Farm.

MILWAUKEE PUBLIC MUSEUM is at 800 W. Wells St. Natural and cultural history are featured on three floors of walk-through exhibits and galleries. Visitors can travel back in time to the land of dinosaurs, get an in-depth look at North American Indian history and cultures, experience the allure of an ancient civilization and view mummies. They can walk through a rain forest and then turn back the clock to stroll the streets of turn-of-the-20th-century Milwaukee. A glass-enclosed tropical garden is home to hundreds of butterflies which may land on you as you flit through. The museum houses the Humphrey IMAX Dome Theater.

Guided tours and food are available. Open Mon.-Sat. 9-5, Sun. noon-5; closed July 4, Thanksgiving and Dec. 25. Admission $8; over 62, $7; ages 3-15, $5.50. IMAX movies are additional. Combination tickets are available. MC, VI. Phone (414) 278-2702 or (888) 700-9069 for IMAX information.

MITCHELL PARK HORTICULTURAL CONSERVATORY—"THE DOMES" is off I-94 exit 309B, just w. on St. Paul Ave., then .7 mi. s. on 27th St. to 524 S. Layton Blvd. Three glass domes, each seven stories high and 140 feet in diameter, house a variety of exotic gardens.

The Arid Dome features plants from the world's deserts, such as cactuses, succulents, palms and grasses. More than 750 species of plants, including orchids, thrive in the Tropical Dome; birds, lizards and frogs also inhabit this rain forest-like environment. Five themed floral displays each year are presented in the Show Dome; the displays of lilies and poinsettias are spectacular at Easter and Christmas.

Picnicking is allowed with a permit. Allow 1 hour, 30 minutes minimum. Daily 9-5. Admission $5; over 59 and ages 6-17, $3.50. Phone (414) 649-9800, or (414) 257-8005 for a picnic permit.

Phone (414) 277-7795.

Sports and Recreation

Milwaukee sports fans enthusiastically support their professional teams. Baseball fans make their pilgrimage to Miller Park, where the beloved Brewers play from April through September; phone (414) 902-4000. Almost before the last baseball game's hot dog can be digested, the NBA's Milwaukee Bucks begin basketball exhibition games. Regular season games are played until April at Bradley Center, 1001 N. 4th St.; phone (414) 227-0400 or (414) 227-0500. The Marquette University Golden Eagles also play at Bradley Center; phone (414) 227-0400 or (414) 288-7127.

The Milwaukee Wave play indoor soccer October through April in the U.S. Cellular Arena; phone (414) 224-9283. At the Bradley Center the Milwaukee Admirals compete with other teams of the American Hockey League October through April; phone (414) 227-0550 or (414) 227-0400.

Spectators are outdoors again in the spring and the fall to watch fierce rugby matches. National championship automobile races are held at the Milwaukee Mile, (414) 453-8277, from May through September. Sailboat races skirt Lake Michigan's shoreline, off N. Lincoln Memorial Drive, weekends during the summer.

The lakefront also is the playground of anglers, sailors and swimmers during the warm months. Swimming is possible at five beaches (lifeguards are not on duty): Bradford Beach, 2400 N. Lincoln Memorial Dr.; Doctor's Park Beach, 1870 E. Fox Ln.; Grant Beach, 100 Hawthorne Ave.; McKinley Beach, 1750 N. Lincoln Memorial Dr.; and South Shore Beach, 2900 S. Superior St.

For those who cannot adjust to Lake Michigan's chilly waters, there are 9 outdoor and 2 indoor pools and more than 20 wading pools throughout the county park system. The county also runs 2 Family Aquatic Water Parks: Cool Waters Family Aquatic Park in Greenfield Park at 2028 S. 124th; and Pelican Cove Family Water Park in Kosciuszko Park at 2201 S. 7th St.

Sailors with their own boating craft may use the launch ramps at Bender, Riverfront, McKinley Marina and South Shore Yacht Club for a fee. Fishing in Lake Michigan can reward anglers with prize catches of salmon and trout as big as 30 pounds. Full- and half-day charters are offered by numerous companies; check the telephone directory.

Tennis is available at 28 county parks; many courts are lighted. Court use is free, though fee is charged for reserving a court and for lighted courts; phone (414) 257-8030. North Shore Elite Fitness and Racquet Club, (414) 351-2900, at 5750 N. Glen Park Rd., is one of several clubs that offers indoor tennis courts. Lawn bowling is popular during the summer. Sand volleyball courts are found at 17 county parks.

About two-thirds of the golf courses in the Milwaukee vicinity are 18-hole courses. Brown Deer Golf Course, (414) 352-8080, 7625 N. Range Line Rd., is home to the PGA U.S. Bank Championship and is open to the public. The county also maintains par-three and regulation 18-hole courses and an 18-hole pitch-and-putt course. November through April, the Currie Park Golf Dome, 3535 N. Mayfair Rd., offers an indoor driving range; phone (414) 453-1742.

The Milwaukee County Park System offers a variety of public facilities among its 136 parks, including beaches, swimming pools, golf courses, tennis courts, soccer fields, hiking trails and the 106-mile Oak Leaf Trail, a paved path for bicycling, inline skating and jogging that encircles the city. The Alpha Trail provides mountain bikers with tricky terrain to negotiate; it begins near Whitnall Park (see attraction listing p. 164). For information about county park facilities phone (414) 257-6100.

Although Milwaukee's winters are somewhat formidable, the lure of various winter sports entices even the frostbite-prone outdoors. Milwaukee County Parks has seven lagoons that freeze for ice skating. The premier site, however, is Pettit National Ice Center (see attraction listing p. 159). Wilson Park Center and Slice of Ice at Red Arrow Park also offer skating.

Most of the county parks allow cross-country skiing, with Whitnall Park providing lightly groomed trails. Old World Wisconsin (see Eagle p. 163) and Schlitz Audubon Nature Center (see attraction listing p. 159) also provide cross-country ski trails. Favorite weekend destinations for Milwaukee residents include Kettle Moraine State Forest (see Recreation Chart and Campbellsport p. 129) and any of the 60 inland lakes in the metropolitan area.

Greyhound tracks attract locals as well as visitors and include Dairyland Greyhound Park in Kenosha; phone (262) 657-8200 or (800) 233-3357 and Geneva Lakes Greyhound Track and Simulcast Center in Delevan; phone (262) 728-8000 or (800) 477-4552.

Shopping

In the heart of Milwaukee, a legacy of cobblestone streets and ethnic specialty shops blend gracefully with the skywalks and covered malls that characterize the modern emporiums. The city's centerpiece is The Shops of Grand Avenue, a three-block multilevel marketplace on Wisconsin Avenue between N. 4th Street and the Milwaukee River that incorporates the historic Plankinton Arcade. It is anchored by Boston Store and encloses more than 80 shops and eateries.

Such marketplaces as The Shops of Grand Avenue have not displaced Milwaukee's traditional shopping areas. Just below one of the mall's skywalks is Old World 3rd Street, between Wells and Juneau avenues, where late 19th-century buildings house specialty stores and eateries along a cobblestone street. Some shops include Usinger's famous sausage, the Wisconsin Cheese Mart, Spice House and others offering Hummel figurines, furniture and crafts.

Across the Milwaukee River in East Town, the elegant shops along Jefferson Street include George Watts' china and crystal and those offering antiques, furnishings and other items. Two other colorful east-side neighborhoods are Brady Street, between Farwell Avenue and Marshall Street, steeped in Old World tradition, and Downer Avenue, between E. Webster and E. Park.

An archway welcomes shoppers to Milwaukee's Historic Third Ward, the city's original commercial district. Renovated warehouses and factories now house art galleries, antique stores, restaurants, specialty shops and performing arts centers along streets lined with old-fashioned street lights. Antiques enthusiasts can browse along three floors of antiques and collectibles at Milwaukee Antique Center, 341 N. Milwaukee St. Downtown, the Milwaukee River and Lake Michigan form the boundaries for the Ward's 17-block shopping area.

Cedar Creek Settlement (see Cedarburg p. 163) offers a delightful step back in time. Stonewood Village, 17700 W. Capitol Dr. in Brookfield, markets Colonial wares.

Shopping centers in the metropolitan area are Bayshore, 5900 N. Port Washington Rd.; Brookfield Square, 95 N. Moorland Rd.; and Southridge, 5300 S. 76th St. Mayfair Mall, 2500 N. Mayfair Rd. in Wauwatosa, is anchored by Marshall Fields, and has eateries and an 18-screen theater. Mall stores generally are open Mon.-Fri. 10-9, Sat. 10-6, Sun. 11-6.

Theater and Concerts

Milwaukee boasts several nationally acclaimed performing arts companies. The Marcus Center for the Performing Arts, 929 N. Water St., is home to many of these, including the Florentine Opera Company, Milwaukee Ballet Company and the Milwaukee Symphony Orchestra. The Milwaukee Symphony Orchestra's regular season is early September through June; phone (800) 291-7605 or (888) 612-3500.

Free Rainbow Summer concerts and other cultural offerings are presented at the Marcus Center for the Performing Arts' riverfront tent stage on summer afternoons. The county parks department also sponsors less well-known groups in free concerts at various parks during the summer.

The Milwaukee Repertory Theater performs a variety of dramatic productions at The Milwaukee Center at 108 E. Wells St. from early September to mid-May; phone (414) 224-9490. Since the restoration of the late 19th-century European Pabst Theater at 144 E. Wells St., the grand old theater presents musical and theatrical productions ranging from Broadway shows to chamber music and other concerts. Tours of the theater are offered Saturday at noon; phone (414) 286-3663. The Ko-Thi Dance Co. is among the groups performing at the Pabst Theater.

The Helfaer Theater, (414) 288-7504, at 13th and Clybourn on the Marquette University campus, presents quality theater and concert offerings. The Milwaukee Riverside Theater, (414) 224-3000, at 116 W. Wisconsin Ave., presents touring Broadway shows and musical artists. Marcus Amphitheater on the Summerfest Grounds at 200 N. Harbor Dr. features concerts; phone (414) 273-2600.

Musicals and operettas are staged by the Skylight Opera Theater, which performs at the Broadway Theatre Center, 158 N. Broadway in the Historic Third World; phone (414) 291-7800. The Broadway Theatre Center also is home to the Chamber Theatre, which stages both classical and contemporary works, phone (414) 291-7800; and Bialystock & Bloom production company, (414) 223-0479, whose productions range from Albee to Shakespeare.

The events section of the city's newspaper carries current information about local cultural activities. Visitors also can contact Visit Milwaukee for an update; phone (800) 554-1448.

Special Events

The regular sports calendar includes the Milwaukee Journal/Sentinel Sports Show, which draws crowds to the Wisconsin State Fair Park in mid-March.

State Fair Park in the suburb of West Allis plays host to several automobile races throughout the year, including the NASCAR/Busch Series in late June. The US Bank Championship Golf Tournament takes place in mid-July at Brown Door County Park.

Supreme among Milwaukee's cultural events are the Lakefront Festival of the Arts in June and Summerfest, held from late June to early July. RiverSplash!, in late May-early June, offers 10 city blocks of music, food and fireworks along the Milwaukee River. Ethnic festivals include the Polish Fest and the Asian Moon Festival in June and the Fiesta Italiana, Bastille Days and German Fest in July.

Big-name entertainment is prominent in August among the festivities that surround the Wisconsin State Fair. Also in August are the African World Festival, Arab World Festival, the Irish Fest and Mexican Fiesta. Indian Summer and Oktoberfest take place in September. More than 50 ethnic groups gather in mid-November for the Holiday Folk Fair, which salutes Old World culture.

Colorful floats and other displays launch yuletide festivities at the Christmas Parade, traditionally held in November.

Each season of the year is celebrated with a spectacular flower show at Mitchell Park Horticultural Conservatory—"The Domes." Waves of color and fragrance treat the senses during the Spring Flower Show, late March to mid-May, and the Summer Flower Show, held from June to mid-September. The Fall Flower Show takes place from late September to mid-November. The Christmas Flower Show is held from Thanksgiving to early January, and the Winter Flower Show, held mid-January to mid-March, closes the season.

CEDARBURG (H-8) pop. 10,908, elev. 778′

Thanks to the water power provided by Cedar Creek and an abundant supply of limestone, Cedarburg had become a busy milling, textile, quarrying and industrial center by the 1850s. The original center of activity was New Dublin, later renamed Hamilton, southeast of the present downtown section. Now designated a historic district, Hamilton includes the 1853 Concordia Mill and several other historic stone buildings.

The 1855 Cedarburg Mill, used as a refuge for families during the Great Indian Scare of 1862, still stands near the Columbia Road bridge over Cedar Creek. One of the last two surviving covered bridges in the state crosses Cedar Creek about 3 miles north via CR NN and Covered Bridge Road. The other spans the Crystal River in Waupaca (see place listing p. 182).

Lime Kiln Park, on Green Bay Road in nearby Grafton, features restored lime kiln chimneys and a picturesque dam. The park, on the Milwaukee River, offers a picnic area and a canoe launch. Landmark Tours provides guided tours of Cedarburg and Ozaukee County; phone (262) 375-1426.

Cedarburg Chamber of Commerce: Washington Ave. and Spring St., P.O. Box 104, Cedarburg, WI 53012; phone (262) 377-9620 or (800) 237-2874.

Self-guiding tours: Several brochures describing Cedarburg's historic district and outlining a walking tour are available from the chamber of commerce.

Shopping areas: Hidden treasures can be found in the numerous antiques shops lining Washington Avenue in the historic district. Cedar Creek Settlement, Washington Avenue and Bridge Road, offers some 30 shops and cafes surrounding the five-story Cedarburg Mill.

CEDAR CREEK SETTLEMENT is downtown at jct. Bridge Rd. and Washington Ave. at N70 W6340 Bridge Rd. Built in 1864 and in operation until 1969, the old Wittenberg Woolen Mill was restored in the early 1970s to house nearly 30 retail establishments, including Cedar Creek Winery. PORT WASHINGTON (G-8) pop. 10,467, elev. 668′

Patriotic fervor was hardly the reaction of Ozaukee County farmers when the governor ordered all able-bodied citizens to enroll for service during the Civil War. On Nov. 10, 1862, an angry mob stampeded Port Washington's courthouse and destroyed the draft rolls.

Lest their point of view go unacknowledged, they later seized the small cannon ordinarily used for Fourth of July celebrations and positioned it on the south bluff overlooking the harbor. The rebels were no match for government troops, however, who sailed into the harbor by night and easily subdued the small army.

Port Washington is a fishing and yachting center on Lake Michigan distinguished by many pre-Civil War houses, including the 19th-century Eghart House, 316 Grand Ave. On a hill overlooking the downtown area is St. Mary's Church, a much-photographed Gothic church built in 1882. Upper Lake Park offers a fine vantage point for viewing the harbor, where coal carriers regularly deposit huge supplies to fuel the waterfront power plant.

Numerous charter boats operate from the marina during the summer and fall; fishing for trout as well as coho and chinook salmon is popular all year.

Port Washington Chamber of Commerce: 126 E. Grand Ave., P.O. Box 514, Port Washington, WI 53074; phone (262) 284-0900 or (800) 719-4881.

WAUKESHA (H-8) pop. 64,825, elev. 867′

Waukesha takes its name from an American Indian word meaning "by the Little Fox." Although the Fox River has been important in the city's steady industrial growth, it was the many mineral springs and their purported curative powers that brought Waukesha its fame as the elegant "Saratoga of the West" during the late 19th century. Plants bottling carbonated beverages are the only vestiges of those halcyon days.

Another small reminder of the past is a marker in Cutler Park honoring a local citizen who safely transported the first slave through Wisconsin to Canada. Waukesha was an important station on the Underground Railroad and an abolitionist stronghold; the American Freeman was published in the town 1844-48.

Waukesha is an industrial and college town serving the surrounding dairying and farming area. Colleges include Carroll College, University of Wisconsin-Waukesha and Waukesha County Technical College. Frame Park, the largest of seven municipal parks, is noted for its formal garden.

Waukesha and Pewaukee Convention & Visitors Bureau: 2240 N. Grandview Blvd., Suite 2, Waukesha, WI 53188; phone (262) 542-0330 or (800) 366-8474.

WAUKESHA COUNTY HISTORICAL SOCIETY & MUSEUM is at 101 W. Main St. at East Ave. in the 1893 county courthouse. Exhibits, tours, events, camps and a research center focus on the history of Waukesha County and its people. The research center, which specializes in family and local history, is open to the public.

Guided tours are available for a fee. Allow 30 minutes minimum. Museum open Tues.-Sat. 10-4:30. Research center Tues. 10-noon and 12:30-4:30. Thurs. 12:30-4:30, and Fri.-Sat. 10-noon and 12:30-4:30. WEST BEND (G-8) pop. 28,152, elev. 906′

West Bend, a busy industrial community on the Milwaukee River, has its name appearing in homes worldwide on small appliances and kitchenware. Outdoor recreation abounds throughout the more than 650 acres of city park land. Challenging terrain makes the area popular with cyclists and hikers. Sledding and skiing keep adventure seekers busy in winter.

Riverfront Parkway, a trail that winds along the Milwaukee River through West Bend, can be enjoyed by joggers, walkers or those on bicycles. In addition to the scenic beauty of the trail is a series of sculptures at the river's edge.

Washington County Convention and Visitors Bureau: 3000 Hwy. PV7, West Bend, WI 53095; phone (262) 677-5069 or (888) 974-8687.

MINERAL POINT (I-4)

pop. 2,617, elev. 1,041′

Some of the early surface miners who came to Mineral Point in search of "mineral," or lead, were so obsessed that they lived in the holes they were digging—and provided the source for Wisconsin's nickname, "The Badger State." Beginning in 1830 they were joined by Cornish miners skilled in hard-rock mining.

Their English heritage survives in the town's stone houses, colorful stories and traditional pasties (PAST-ees), saffron cakes and tea biscuits. The name of Shake Rag Street stems from the Cornish wives' custom of waving rags to summon their men working on the opposite hillside.

Mineral Point Chamber of Commerce: 225 High St., Mineral Point, WI 53565; phone (608) 987-3201 or (888) 764-6894.

Self-guiding tours: Maps outlining a driving tour and a walking tour of Mineral Point's historical and architectural attractions can be obtained at the chamber of commerce.

PENDARVIS STATE HISTORIC SITE is at 114 Shake Rag St. On the site are 10 carefully restored stone and log houses built by Cornish lead miners in the 1840s; six of the structures are open to the public and furnished in period. The Pendarvis site offers information about a self-guiding tour of nearby Merry Christmas Mine Hill, where visitors can see mining history by viewing abandoned mine shafts and "badger holes." A quilt exhibit also is featured.

Open daily 10-5, mid-May through Oct. 31. Hours may vary; phone ahead. Last tour begins 1 hour before closing. Fee $8; over 65, $7.20; ages 5-12, $4; family rate (two adults and dependent children ages 5-17) $22. MC, VI. Phone (608) 987-2122.

MINOCQUA (C-5) elev. 1,603′

Calling itself the "Island City," Minocqua is in the Lakeland area, which has more than 3,200 lakes. The region is known for fishing and boating in summer and cross-country skiing and snowmobiling in winter. Minocqua Winter Park (see attraction listing) offers 75 miles of groomed cross-country trails.

Northern Lights Playhouse, 10 miles south at 5611 US 51 in nearby Hazelhurst, presents Broadway musicals and comedies nightly from Memorial Day weekend to mid-September; phone (715) 356-7173.

MONROE (I-5) pop. 10,843, elev. 1,050′

Monroe and its environs are known as the Swiss cheese capital of the United States. Many inhabitants are of Swiss descent, and old customs prevail at certain festivals. Some of the shops on the business square that surrounds the red brick courthouse have ornate Swiss-style facades. Of note is the Old Methodist Church, designed by Milwaukee architect E. Townsend Mix in 1869. The architecturally interesting 1891 Romanesque Green County courthouse is at 1610 16th Ave.

NEENAH (F-7) pop. 24,507, elev. 753′

The twin cities of Neenah and Menasha (population 16,331) meet at the junction of Nicolet Boulevard and Abbey Avenue, on the island separating the two channels through which Lake Winnebago empties into the Fox River. Although they have separate governments, the cities share many civic and industrial enterprises, including their reputation as Wisconsin's papermaking center.

It was the possibility of water power that spurred the birth of the two villages in the 1840s. Neenah was incorporated in 1873. A year later Menasha was established and awarded the charter to develop the water power for the area.

Also on the grounds are 3.5 miles of hiking trails, a replica of the Liberty Bell and memorials dedicated to female veterans and American Indian veterans.

A half-million acres of woodland and glacial moraine are visible from the memorial's plaza. Picnicking is permitted. Allow 1 hour minimum. Daily 24 hours. Donations. Phone (715) 743-4224.

NEW GLARUS (I-5) pop. 2,111, elev. 859′

Impelled by economic adversity in Switzerland, 118 emigrants from the canton of Glarus settled New Glarus in 1845. "Little Switzerland," as the community often is called, remains essentially Swiss in character. Emblems of the Swiss cantons adorn buildings and street signs. Dairying and cheesemaking brought New Glarus its prosperity.

In late June the community celebrates its heritage with 3 days of food, music and other entertainment during the Heidi Festival. The Friday, Saturday and Sunday of Labor Day weekend, the highlight of the Wilhelm Tell Festival is the outdoor performance of the Wilhelm Tell drama; other events include a yodel contest and an art fair.

New Glarus is a popular departure point for the Sugar River State Trail, a 23-mile hiking, bicycling and snowmobiling route leading to Brodhead.

New Glarus Chamber of Commerce: 418 Railroad St., P.O. Box 713, New Glarus, WI 53574-0713; phone (608) 527-2095 or (800) 527-6838.

Daily 10-4, May-Oct. Admission $7; ages 6-13, $3. Phone (608) 527-2317.

NEW LONDON (F-7) pop. 7,085, elev. 758′

New London, on the Wolf River near its junction with the Embarrass River, witnessed the booming days when great log drives traveled down both streams. Agribusiness and timber-related industries employ much of the area's population. The area offers numerous recreational opportunities, including cross-country skiing, snowmobiling, white-water rafting and fishing.

The New London Heritage Historical Village, just east of Mill Street at 900 Montgomery St., consists of five historical buildings—a log cabin, an octagon-shaped house, a chapel, a school and a railroad depot—all moved to the site. The village is open limited weekends June through August and by appointment; phone (920) 982-5186 or (920) 982-8557.

OCONTO (E-8) pop. 4,708, elev. 590′

The Oconto that attracts duck hunters and anglers to its favorable Green Bay location once was the burial site of an ancient Copper Culture people. The discovery of the burial site, now a park on Mill Street, revealed that they had populated the area more than 4,000 years ago.

Modern by comparison is the West Main Street Historic District, a three-block area lined with elegant houses marking the period when lumber was supreme in Oconto. Among the houses dating 1860-1928 is one that belonged to Edward Scofield, the last of Wisconsin's lumberman governors. The first church built by the Christian Science denomination is at Chicago and Main streets.

OSHKOSH (F-7) pop. 62,916, elev. 755′

Oshkosh is an important manufacturing center on the west shore of Lake Winnebago at the mouth of the upper Fox River. Because the Fox and its tributaries and the Wolf River could transport logs, and because nearby lakes Poygan and Butte des Morts provided natural storage facilities, the lumbering boom lasted longer in Oshkosh than in other central Wisconsin sawmill towns.

Streets inches deep in sawdust elicited the nickname "Sawdust City" and probably contributed to the fact that the downtown area was destroyed by fire five times 1859-75. After the last conflagration, rebuilding was done with brick.

A noted Oshkosh resident, Helen Farnsworth Mears, won national acclaim for her sculpture "Genius of Wisconsin," now at the Capitol in Madison. More than 240 acres of municipal parks and the University of Wisconsin-Oshkosh enhance the community. Campus tours are offered; phone (920) 424-0202.

A swimming beach, marina, paddleboats, amusement rides and children's zoo are among the recreational facilities available at Menominee Park along the shores of Lake Winnebago, open daily May through October. Also featured is Little Oshkosh, a playground complete with castles, mazes, tunnels and a lighthouse.

A collection of nativity scenes, including one made by German POWs in World War II, is displayed at the 1892 limestone United Methodist Church at 1174 Algoma Boulevard. Viewing is available during church office hours; phone (920) 231-2800.

PHILLIPS (C-4) pop. 1,675, elev. 1,444′

Phillips offers year-round outdoor recreational opportunities. In the winter, the area's ice-fishing, 1,500 miles of snowmobile trails and 70 miles of cross-country ski trails beckon those not afraid of Jack Frost. While other seasons lure visitors with hunting and fishing.

Wisconsin Concrete Park, one mile south of Phillips on SR 13, has more than 200 sculptures built on wooden frames, covered with cement and then decorated with such found materials as bottle caps, bits of metal and rocks. Retired lumberjack Fred Smith Phillips chose to depict such diverse subjects as Ben Hur, a team of eight life-size Clydesdale horses pulling a beer wagon, and the Iwo Jima Monument. The park is open all year while his house is open daily Memorial Day weekend to Labor Day, and varying days until just before Christmas. PESHTIGO (E-8) pop. 3,357, elev. 600′

On Oct. 8, 1871, Chicago was not the only community in flames. About 270 miles to the north was a forest area that had been plagued for days with small fires in the dry woodlands. On that October day winds whipped the small blazes into great ones; towns were leveled and more than 1,200 people perished. In Peshtigo alone 800 residents died.

A monument to the dead is in the Peshtigo Fire Cemetery. The Peshtigo Fire Museum, containing local items relating to the tragedy, is on Oconto Avenue; phone (715) 582-3244. The Peshtigo Wildlife Area, about 6 miles southeast on CR BB, is primarily a waterfowl habitat and refuge.

PLATTEVILLE (I-4) pop. 9,989, elev. 968′

On hillsides where dairy cattle now graze, miners once burrowed for lead. Platteville was settled in 1827, following John Rountree's discovery of "mineral" nearby. Rountree had the small mining town designed in the 1820s by an English architect who incorporated features of his native village of Yorkshire into the town plan.

Although some lead and zinc still are mined, cheese production is a more common industry. The town is a trading center for the surrounding agricultural and dairying region. Platteville also has the University of Wisconsin-Platteville.

Platteville Chamber of Commerce: 275 US 151W, P.O. Box 16, Platteville, WI 53818; phone (608) 348-8888.

SAVE THE MINING MUSEUM is at 385 E. Main St. The development of lead and zinc mining in the area is traced through dioramas, models, artifacts and photographs. A guided tour includes a walk into the Bevans Lead, an 1845 lead mine 50 feet underground; a visit to the hoist house; and a train ride around the museum grounds in ore cars pulled by a 1931 mine locomotive. Changing exhibits are offered on the second floor in the Rountree Gallery.

Allow 1 hour, 30 minutes minimum. Guided museum tours daily 9-5, May-Oct. Rountree Gallery open Tues.-Sun. 11-4, May 1-Labor Day; otherwise varies. PORTAGE (G-6) pop. 9,728, elev. 798′

In 1673 Jacques Marquette and Louis Joliet were probably the first Europeans to make the portage between the Fox and Wisconsin rivers, thus linking the Great Lakes with the Mississippi River. This junction rapidly developed into an important trade route. By 1835 the portage had become a plank road, which was replaced by a canal in the 1870s.

The town of Portage grew up around Fort Winnebago, which was built to protect the stream of commerce. Jefferson Davis, a young West Point lieutenant, was assigned in 1829 to cut logs for the barracks. He later became president of the Confederacy.

Modern and attractive, Portage acknowledges its origins with several restorations and the Marquette Trail, a hiking trail that follows the Fox River from the Governor's Bend Locks to the Fort Winnebago Surgeon's Quarters. The city attends to the present by serving the surrounding farming and dairying area.

pop. 6,018, elev. 635′

Dating from 1673, when Jacques Marquette and Louis Joliet reached this site at the confluence of the Mississippi and Wisconsin rivers, only Green Bay is older than Prairie du Chien. Its name, French for "prairie of the dog," refers to the American Indian chief Alim, whose name meant "dog." The oldest part of the town is on St. Feriole Island in the Mississippi.

Prairie du Chien became a flourishing fur market soon after the French explorers' visit, attracting American Indians from the remote upper reaches of the Mississippi and Wisconsin rivers, as well as traders and settlers. From 1685 to 1831 four forts were built and occupied at various times by French, British and American forces. It was at Fort Crawford that Jefferson Davis and Zachary Taylor were stationed.

Prairie du Chien is the southeastern terminus of an especially scenic route that follows the Mississippi River. The route consists of SR 35 running north to La Crosse, then northwest along the Mississippi River to Prescott.

VILLA LOUIS is 1 mi. n.w. at 521 N. Villa Louis Rd. on St. Feriole Island. This state historic site was the estate of Col. H.L. Dousman, fur trader and agent of John Jacob Astor's American Fur Co., and his son Louis Dousman, an art collector and horse breeder. The present mansion, named for the younger Dousman, was built in 1870 on an ancient American Indian mound. This Victorian-style mansion replaced a house called House on the Mound, built in 1843 by the elder Dousman.

The house contains one of the finest collections of Victorian decorative arts in the country. Almost all the furnishings, artworks, china, glass, silver and books belonged to the Dousman family and were used 1843-1913. Next to the mansion are the icehouse, preserve house and office. The Fur Trade Museum is on the grounds.

Tours are conducted by costumed guides. Allow 1 hour, 30 minutes minimum. Daily 9:30-5, first Sat. in May-Oct. 31. Tours are given on the hour 10-4. Tour $8.50; over 64, $7.50; ages 5-12, $4.50; family rate (2 adults and dependents under 18) $23. MC, VI. Phone (608) 326-2721.

RACINE (I-8) pop. 81,855, elev. 626′

Heavily industrialized Racine occupies a promontory jutting into Lake Michigan. Bisected by the winding Root River, it has many residential areas and about 900 acres of parkland. Like many Wisconsin cities, it is multinational in makeup, but the emphasis is Danish. West Racine is often dubbed "Kringleville" for its bakeries specializing in Danish kringle.

A powerful orator promoting women's suffrage, Olympia Brown came to Racine in 1880 to take over the ministry of a Universalist church. Later she devoted herself completely to the suffrage issue, becoming president of the Wisconsin Suffrage Association. When the 19th Amendment was passed in 1920, Olympia, at the age of 85, was the only suffragist to have participated in the movement from beginning to end.

Racine's architectural legacy includes five buildings designed by Frank Lloyd Wright, among them the landmark SC Johnson Administration Building at 1525 Howe St. The great workroom with its lily-pad columns is still used today. March through November, guided tours of the facility are offered Fridays at 10, 11, 1:45 and 3, while only the 11 a.m. tour is offered the rest of the year. Tours depart the Golden Rondelle Theater. Reservations are required; phone (262) 260-2154.

Downtown Racine is the site of Reefpoint Marina, with some 1,000 boat slips, and Racine Civic Centre Festival Park.

Racine County Convention & Visitors Bureau: 14015 Washington Ave., Sturtevant, WI 53177; phone (262) 884-6400 or (800) 272-2463.

RACINE ZOOLOGICAL GARDEN is at 2131 N. Main St. (park in lot off Walton Ave. using Main St. entrance). This 32-acre park on the shore of Lake Michigan is home to 250 animals representative of 76 species, including the endangered orangutan, the African penguin, Andean bears, the black rhinoceros and the Masai giraffe. Animal Crackers Jazz Series concerts are offered selected Wednesday evenings during the summer.

Picnicking is permitted, Allow 1 hour minimum. Park open daily 9-8, Memorial Day-Labor Day; 9-4, rest of year. Closed Dec. 25. Last admission one hour before closing.. Donations. Phone (262) 636-9189.

RHINELANDER (C-5) pop. 7,735, elev. 1,553′

Rhinelander had its beginning in the 1880s during the days of the pioneer lumber industry. Besides lumber, the area's forests yielded the Hodag, a creature that became the town's most popular legend. Finally exposed as a hoax composed of wood and ox hides, the Hodag myth is kept alive in local symbols and also can be seen in statue form at the Rhinelander Logging Museum (see attraction listing) and the Rhinelander Area Chamber of Commerce.

Within a radius of 12 miles are 232 lakes, 11 trout streams and two rivers offering nearly every type of water sport. More than 1,000 miles of snowmobile trails near Rhinelander are open to the public. The region also is noted for its scenic hiking, mountain bicycling and Nordic ski trails.

The Plum Creek Forest, 12 miles east of the city near US 8 and US 45, offers a 9-mile driving tour that demonstrates sustainable forestry and silviculture practices (the science, art and practice of caring for forests with respect to human objectives); it is open daily, June through September. Booklets can be obtained from the Rhinelander Chamber of Commerce.

Nicolet College, on CR G and Oneida Avenue, is noted for its architecture, which blends into the surrounding woods. Free tours are given Mon.-Fri. 8-3 by appointment; phone (715) 365-4410.

pop. 5,114, elev. 736′

Richland Center was settled in 1849. It is the birthplace of Frank Lloyd Wright, whose fine early work is represented by the 1915 design of the A.D. German Warehouse adjacent to downtown. Another noted resident was Ada James, an avid suffragette. Upon learning of Wisconsin's ratification of the 19th Amendment, James quickly put her 76-year-old father on the first train to Washington to present the ratification papers before any other state could secure the honor.

In an unglaciated corner of Wisconsin, Richland Center is surrounded by countryside characterized by fruit orchards, hardwood trees, steep hills, deep valleys and unusual rock formations. A natural bridge is in a county park 9 miles north on SR 80 near Rockbridge. Scenic SR 60 follows the Wisconsin River south from Richland Center.

Richland Area Chamber of Commerce: 397 W. Seminary St., P.O. Box 128, Richland Center, WI 53581-0128; phone (608) 647-6205 or (800) 422-1318.

Self-guiding tours: A map outlining a historical and architectural tour of Richland Center is available at the chamber of commerce.

RIPON (G-7) pop. 6,828, elev. 932′

Ripon began as an experiment in communal living called Ceresco, established in 1844 by 200 followers of the 19th-century socialist philosopher Charles Fourier. On the west edge of town stands one of the longhouses of the commune, which disbanded in 1851.

The Republican Party was founded in Ripon in 1854 at a local political meeting, which originally was called in order to organize against the extension of slavery. Alvan E. Bovay, a local lawyer and prominent Whig, proposed the party name. Four months later the name "Republican" formally was adopted at a state party convention in Jackson, Mich.

Ripon College, established in 1851, occupies a 250-acre campus on the highest hill in the city. A highlight of the college is C.J. Rodman Center for the Arts, with two Anthony Van Dyck portraits and changing exhibits. Free guided tours of the campus can be arranged; phone (920) 748-8364.

Ripon Area Chamber of Commerce: 214 Jefferson St., P.O. Box 305, Ripon, WI 54971; phone (920) 748-6764.

INTERSTATE STATE PARK is .5 mi. s. of US 8 on US 35. This 1,377-acre park lies along the east side of the Dalles of the St. Croix River, a scenic gorge carved out of bedrock by glacial meltwater. The canyon walls rise 200 feet above the river. On the other side of the river is Minnesota's Interstate Park. The Old Man of the Dalles, a strange rock formation, and potholes formed by the swirling current of glacial meltwaters are in the park.

The area is one of nine units that make up the Ice Age National Scientific Reserve. A 20-minute film about the reserve is shown in the Ice Age Interpretive Center, near the park entrance off SR 35. Naturalist programs are offered Memorial Day weekend-Labor Day. The park has several hiking trails, and the lake offers a beach and bathhouse.

Park open daily 6 a.m.-11 p.m. Interpretive center open Mon.-Fri. 9-4:30, Sat.-Sun. 11-5 (film shown at 11, 1 and 3), Memorial Day-Labor Day; hours vary, rest of year. Boat trips through the Dalles of the St. Croix River leave Taylors Falls, Minn., daily May 1 to mid-Oct. Admission per private vehicle $10, state residents $5. Annual permit $30, state residents $20. Phone (715) 483-3747. See Recreation Chart and the AAA Great Lakes CampBook.

ST. CROIX NATIONAL SCENIC RIVERWAY (E-1, B-2)

Reaching from northern Wisconsin to the St. Croix's juncture with the Mississippi River just s.e. of Minneapolis-St. Paul, the St. Croix National Scenic Riverway is a 252-mile river reserve. The Upper St. Croix River and its tributary, the Namekagon River, were among the original eight rivers designated as National Wild and Scenic Rivers in 1968. Four years later the Lower St. Croix River from St. Croix Falls to Prescott was added to the system by the National Park Service.

For hundreds of years the St. Croix was an important link between the Mississippi and Lake Superior. Besides being a major waterway, the St. Croix had marshes, pools and rapids that provided a wealth of food and fur for the Chippewa who once lived in this area. Beaver, otter and other pelts became the currency of a profitable trade with the French.

During the 17th and 18th centuries the river rang with the raucous songs of voyageurs as they paddled their loaded canoes up the St. Croix and down the Brule River to Lake Superior and eventually to Fort William. By the mid-19th century a new sound was heard, as logs thundered down the St. Croix from the sawmills strung along its banks.

Other than the development along its lower portion and the legacy of dams, the river retains much of its pristine nature. Both the Namekagon and St. Croix begin as narrow streams winding through forests, marshes and wide valleys. When the two rivers join, the riverway becomes wider, deeper and slower, making the area popular for small powerboats and canoes. The last segment below St. Croix Falls becomes wider and more civilized yet, marked by towns and pleasure craft.

General Information and Activities

The upper reaches of the St. Croix Riverway are canoe waters, with only a few rapids and none classified as white water. The canoeing season generally begins in May and ends in September; outfitters can be found in Trego, Webb Lake and other towns on the riverway.

Canoe-access primitive camping predominates. Along the Wisconsin-Minnesota border several state forests and parks offer developed campsites, hiking and cross-country skiing.

Bass and muskellunge can be found along the entire riverway; trout are found in the headwaters. Anglers favor the upper reaches. Otters and such birds as osprey compete with the anglers for fish. The presence of these and other animals and waterfowl draw both birdwatchers and hunters. Fishing and hunting licenses are required within the riverway.

The proximity to urban areas and the river's width and placidity make the lower reaches below St. Croix Falls a popular area for boaters, water skiers and sailors. Highlights in this area include the scenic gorge in Interstate State Park (see St. Croix Falls p. 176) and the Apple River, which joins the St. Croix and is one of the most popular rivers in the state for tubing.

SHAWANO (E-7) pop. 8,298, elev. 822′

Shawano has grown from a lumber boomtown to a retail trade center for the region's small farms. Shawano is among Wisconsin's leading dairy counties.

With its rolling hills beckoning cross-country skiers and its miles of snowmobile trails, Shawano is popular for winter recreation. Ice fishing as well as summer water sports are available on the Wolf River and Shawano Lake (see Recreation Chart). The Navarino Nature Center, 10 miles south on CR K, offers bicycling and nature trails and cross-country skiing in winter.

Two former railroad corridors, now serving as recreational trails, pass through Shawano. The Mountain Bay Trail and the Wiouwash Trail are open to hikers all year and to other recreational users seasonally; a fee is charged. Phone (715) 526-9150 for information.

Shawano Area Chamber of Commerce: 213 E. Green Bay St., P.O. Box 38, Shawano, WI 54166; phone (715) 524-2139 or (800) 235-8528.

SHEBOYGAN (G-8) pop. 50,792, elev. 625′

Although the audible thunder of the falls 3 miles up the Sheboygan River may have inspired an American Indian term (Shawb-wa-way-going—"rumbling underground") for this location, the town means sausage and cheese to many people because of its industries. In addition to its savories, it produces and distributes steel, furniture, clothing and leather goods. Sheboygan also is an active Lake Michigan port as well as a retail trade center for the surrounding dairying region.

For fans of motorcycle and auto racing, Road America in nearby Elkhart Lake offers thrills mid-April through mid-September; phone (800) 365-7223.

Scenic drives along the lakeshore include Broughton Drive, Lakeshore Drive and North 3rd Street. Lake Michigan offers good boating and fishing; other recreational pastimes are available at nearby Kohler-Andrae State Park (see Recreation Chart and the AAA Great Lakes CampBook).

Sheboygan County Convention and Visitors Bureau: 712 Riverfront Dr., Suite 101, Sheboygan, WI 53081-4665; phone (920) 457-9491 or (800) 457-9497.

JOHN MICHAEL KOHLER ARTS CENTER is at 608 New York Ave. Visual and performing arts are presented in a restored house and gallery. Folk art exhibitions are displayed and a theater presents stage, dance and concert productions. An interactive exhibit offers a chance for children to explore various aspects of art; phone for schedule to the interactive exhibit. Food is available. Center open Mon.-Fri. 10-5 (also Tues. and Thurs. 5-8), Sat.-Sun. 10-4; closed major holidays. Free. Phone (920) 458-6144.

SHEBOYGAN COUNTY HISTORICAL SOCIETY MUSEUM is at 3110 Erie Ave. The museum includes an 1850s Victorian mansion, an 1860s log house furnished with pioneer items, an 1867 cheese factory and an 1890s barn that houses farm tools and machinery used by early settlers. Other exhibits highlight American Indian history, ice harvesting, immigration, the circus, sports, maritime history and early agriculture.

Allow 1 hour minimum. Open Tues.-Sat. 10-5 (guided tours at 11, 1 and 3), Apr.-Oct.; Wed.-Sun. noon-5, Thanksgiving-Dec. 30. Phone to confirm holiday season schedule. Admission $3; ages 7-12, $1. Holiday season admission $4; ages 7-12, $1. Phone (920) 458-1103.

SHEBOYGAN INDIAN MOUND PARK (Kletzien Mound Group) is just s. of Panther Ave. at 5000 S. 9th St. American Indian burial mounds in the park are shaped like panthers and deer. Dating from A.D. 500 to 1000, this is one of the few mound groups still intact. A nature trail leads to the lush valley of Hartman Creek, where both upland and lowland plant communities are identified. Self-guiding tours daily 10-10. Free. Phone (920) 459-3444.

pop. 24,551, elev. 1,084′

Stevens Point was founded by George Stevens as a trading post on the Wisconsin River in 1838. Since its incorporation as a city in 1859, Stevens Point has fostered many industries including Worzalla Publishing; Herrschners, a needlecraft distribution center; Sentry Insurance; and the Stevens Point Brewery.

For recreation there are 11 swimming lakes and 19 public parks in or around Stevens Point; lakes DuBay and Emily and Sunset are particularly popular. In winter cross-country skiers glide along more than 36 miles of trails that lace the surrounding countryside, and downhill skiers enjoy the two nearby slopes.

The University of Wisconsin-Stevens Point campus offers a wealth of activities at minimal or no cost. "E Pluribus Unum," a mosaic mural on the wall of the College of Natural Resources, depicts the university and its environs using 25 tons of tiled panels. In nearby Custer, The ReNew the Earth Institute allows visitors to explore energy efficiency and other environmental issues; phone (715) 592-6595.

SUPERIOR (A-2) pop. 27,368, elev. 638'

By the millions of tons, ore, grain and coal pour through the great port at Superior-Duluth. This excellent deepwater harbor at the head of Lake Superior ranks among the nation's leading ports in tonnage. Along the 28 miles of shoreline in Superior are shipyards, grain elevators, many heavy industries and some of the world's largest docks.

The campus of the University of Wisconsin-Superior and a number of parks are part of the municipal geography. Billings Park, at the west end of 21st Street, includes many lagoons and gardens.

Scenic Amnicon Falls highlights nearby Amnicon Falls State Park. Pattison State Park, south of the city, offers varied summer and winter recreation and has the highest waterfall in the state. See Recreation Chart and the AAA Great Lakes CampBook.

Superior also boasts one of the largest municipal forests in the country. The 4,500-acre Superior Municipal Forest offers 17 miles of trails for cross-country skiing and hiking. The Tri-County Corridor provides a snowmobile and all-terrain vehicle trail through the city of Superior. The trail allows travel through Wisconsin from Canada, Minnesota and Michigan.

TOMAH (G-4) pop. 8,419, elev. 980′

Tomah is the crossroads for west-central Wisconsin, midway between Minnesota's Twin Cities and Milwaukee, and is where I-90/I-94 separates into two distinct highways. In the spring of 1856, Robert E. Gillett and his son, Robert A. Gillett, began planning the city they were to lay out on this site. Legend had it that years before the great Indian Chief Tomah had built a council house near the creek, and the Menomonee and the Winnebago had met there in peace. The Gilletts decided to name the town after this man of strong character and high ideals.

Frank King, the creator of the innovative "Gasoline Alley" cartoon strip grew up in Tomah but later moved to the Chicago area to work for the Chicago Tribune. First published in 1919, "Gasoline Alley" characters and locales were drawn from King's youth in Tomah and reflected life in a small American town. The most notable innovation was that the characters aged over the life of the strip.

TOMAHAWK (D-5) pop. 3,770, elev. 1,450′

The joining of the Somo, Spirit and Tomahawk rivers with the Wisconsin contributed to Tomahawk's early growth as a lumber town and continues to enhance its popularity as an all-year North Woods resort area. Game fish, deer and small game are abundant. Eleven local parks provide opportunities for picnicking and other outdoor activities. The Hiawatha Trail, a 6.6-mile bicycle, hiking and snowmobile trail, begins in Tomahawk and extends northward to Lake Nokomis.

Water ski shows are held 3 nights a week Memorial Day through Labor Bay at Kwahamot Bay. Winter sports activities include snowmobiling, cross-country skiing and ice fishing.

WATERTOWN (H-6) pop. 21,598, elev. 825′

Watertown essentially has been industrial since its founding in the 1830s, when New Englanders harnessed the rapids of the Rock River to produce power for their sawmills, wagonworks and other factories. Many of the first arrivals were German intellectuals fleeing political conditions in the fatherland after the 1848 revolution.

One of these was Carl Schurz, who entered local politics on the new Republican ticket and ultimately became minister to Spain under President Abraham Lincoln. It is his wife, however, who is remembered: While living in Watertown in 1856, Margarethe Meyer established what is considered to be the nation's first kindergarten. She was a student of Fredrich Froebel, the renowned German pioneer of infant education.

WAUPACA (F-6) pop. 5,676, elev. 868′

The resort community of Waupaca, near a chain of 22 lakes to the southwest, supposedly was named after Sam Waupaca, a Potawatomi chief credited with persuading his braves not to massacre the white settlers in the area. The chief collapsed and died at the conclusion of the speech.

Waupaca is a popular departure point for canoe and launch trips through the spring-fed lakes and along Crystal River; canoe rentals are available locally. The area's well-stocked trout streams, also filled with pickerel, bass and small pan fish, are extremely popular with anglers.

Nearby Hartman Creek State Park (see Recreation Chart and the AAA Great Lakes CampBook) has developed recreational facilities, including snowmobile trails that connect with 288 miles of groomed trails and 150 miles of club trails throughout Waupaca County. This 1,417-acre park also offers seven lakes, four of which are spring-fed and off-limits to gas boat motors and are therefore ideal for kayakers and canoeists; 10 miles of hiking trails, 7 miles of bridle trails, 5 miles of off-road bicycle trails provide diversions for landlubbers. Largemouth bass, perch, bluegill, and other panfish are the catch of the day. For more information phone (715) 258-2372.

Near the property of The Red Mill, 3 miles south on CR K, are the quaint Chapel in the Woods and one of the two surviving covered bridges in Wisconsin (see Cedarburg p. 163). The old mill, built in 1855, has a 24-foot waterwheel, one of the largest in America. Friday night band concerts are performed in the summer in the Gay '90s bandstand in City Square.

WEST SALEM (G-3) pop. 4,540, elev. 746′

When the railroad was laid a mile south of Neshonoc in 1858, the village's population of Easterners and Norwegians packed up and moved to West Salem near the tracks. Thomas Leonard, West Salem's founder, had offered the railroad free land if it would build a station in West Salem rather than in one of the neighboring towns. The railroad accepted Leonard's offer, ensuring the town's growth. Historic Salem, 99 Jefferson St., is Leonard's 1859 home.

This farm trade center became best known for its creamery, capable of producing a million pounds of butter annually. Emerging from this rural environment was one of Wisconsin's foremost authors, Hamlin Garland. Deeply influenced by his childhood on the frontier, Garland set his autobiographical "Middle Border" books and some dozen short stories in the coulee area around La Crosse.

HAMLIN GARLAND HOMESTEAD is at 357 W. Garland St. The house, purchased by Garland in 1893 as a residence for his father, has been restored as a memorial to this winner of a 1922 Pulitzer Prize. WISCONSIN DELLS (G-5)

pop. 2,418, elev. 899′

Believed by the early Winnebago Indians to be the path of a giant serpent, considered a bane by 19th-century log drivers, and a fascination to geologists and photographers—the scenic dells of the Wisconsin River are the state's foremost natural attraction. The river has cut a channel through soft sandstone to a depth of 150 feet and, for a distance of 15 miles, has carved the rock into fantastic forms. A dam separates the river into the Upper and Lower dells.

In 1856 the center of population and business of the region was the flourishing town of Newport. Then the railroad decided to build its bridge 2 miles north, and Newport ceased to exist almost overnight. Several buildings were moved to the new site, called Kilbourn City. To publicize the geologic novelty of the dells, Kilbourn City was renamed Wisconsin Dells in 1931.

In addition to countless summer recreational opportunities, Wisconsin Dells offers varied winter diversions, including 610 miles of snowmobile trails. Devil's Lake State Park, Wisconsin's most-visited state park, and Mirror Lake State Park (see Recreation Chart and Baraboo and Lake Delton in the AAA Great Lakes CampBook) offer cross-country ski trails, and four downhill ski areas are within a 20-mile radius.

WISCONSIN RAPIDS (F-5)

pop. 18,435, elev. 1,028′

Wisconsin Rapids, on the Wisconsin River, is in the center of the world's largest inland cranberry-producing area. Cranberry harvests take place from early September through October.

Some of the nation's largest manufacturers of business papers came after the river's rapids were harnessed to provide water power. Stora Enso North America, formerly Consolidated Papers, offers guided tours of its papermaking facilities; phone (715) 422-3789 for reservations.

Wisconsin Rapids Municipal Zoo at 1911 Gaynor Ave. is open from Memorial Day-Labor Day; a petting zoo, playground and picnic facilities are available. The area's historical background is described Tuesday, Thursday and Sunday afternoons at South Wood County Historical Society Museum, 540 3rd St. S.; phone (715) 423-1580.

Wisconsin Rapids Area Convention & Visitors Bureau: 2507 Eighth St. S., Wisconsin Rapids, WI 54494; phone (715) 422-4650 or (800) 554-4484.

Self-guiding tours: Three historic walking tours in Wisconsin Rapids all have the Wisconsin River as their focal point. Brochures can be obtained from the convention and visitors bureau.

WOODRUFF (C-5) elev. 1,618′

Once a roistering settlement whose establishments provided for the pleasures of loggers in from the woods, Woodruff now caters to outdoors enthusiasts and vacationers enjoying the nearby forest and lake country. The area boasts one of the largest concentrations of freshwater lakes in the world. Old logging trails are groomed in the winter for cross-country skiing and snowmobiling, while bicyclists and hikers use them in the summer.

A unit of the Chequamegon-Nicolet National Forest (see place listing p. 129) and the Northern Highland-American Legion State Forest (see Recreation Chart and the AAA Great Lakes CampBook) flank the community.

Minocqua-Arbor Vitae-Woodruff Area Chamber of Commerce—Woodruff: 8216 US 51S, P.O. Box 1006, Minocqua, WI 54548; phone (715) 356-5266 or (800) 446-6784.

ART OEHMCKE STATE FISH HATCHERY is .7 mi. s.e. on SR 47, then 1.5 mi. e. at 8770 CR J. Muskellunge, northern pike, walleye and suckers are produced at the facility; more than 100 million fish can be hatched annually. Hatchery operations are best viewed May through June. Aquarium displays are featured.

Allow 1 hour minimum. Open Mon.-Fri. 8-4 with guided tours at 11 and 2, day after Memorial Day-Friday before Labor Day; closed holidays. Free. Phone (715) 358-9213.

AAA Travel

For Hassle-Free International Travel...

Put AAA First on Your Itinerary

When traveling south of the border, carry an Inter-American Driving Permit... even if you're not planning to drive. Should you need to communicate with foreign authorities, this recognizable form of identification can help you get on your way more quickly. Valid in more than 15 countries, the permit contains your name, photo, and driver information translated into three foreign languages.

Before you travel south, travel to any AAA office for your Inter-American Driving Permit. Bring your valid U.S. driver's license, $10, and two passport -size photos (also available at AAA offices).

Detroit and Vicinity

This index helps you "spot" where approved accommodations and restaurants are located on the corresponding detailed maps. Lodging rate ranges are for comparison only and show the property's high season; rates are per night, unless only weekly (W) rates are available. Restaurant rate range is for dinner, unless only lunch (L) is served. Turn to the listing page for more detailed rate information and consult display ads for special promotions.

Do you know the facts?

DIGEST OF MOTOR LAWS
AAA

AAA publishes the Digest of Motor Laws to assist traveling motorists. Filled with facts and information, this one-of-a-kind compilation includes a comprehensive description of the laws that govern motor vehicle registration and operation in the United States and Canada. This guide has a new, easy-to-read format with graphics, state-by-state tax summary tables and detailed information on occupant protection laws, driver licensing laws, automated enforcement laws and motor vehicle fees and taxes.

You can easily locate various licensing and motor laws governing the states in which you are traveling. In addition to vehicle registration and operation laws, the Digest contains information and facts about alcohol laws, traffic safety laws and more.

Call your local club to obtain a copy of the Digest.

The book retails for $13.95.

This index helps you "spot" where approved accommodations and restaurants are located on the corresponding detailed maps. Lodging rate ranges are for comparison only and show the property's high season; rates are per night, unless only weekly (W) rates are available. Restaurant rate range is for dinner, unless only lunch (L) is served. Turn to the listing page for more detailed rate information and consult display ads for special promotions.

This index helps you "spot" where approved accommodations and restaurants are located on the corresponding detailed maps. Lodging rate ranges are for comparison only and show the property's high season; rates are per night, unless only weekly (W) rates are available. Restaurant rate range is for dinner, unless only lunch (L) is served. Turn to the listing page for more detailed rate information and consult display ads for special promotions.

This index helps you "spot" where approved accommodations and restaurants are located on the corresponding detailed maps. Lodging rate ranges are for comparison only and show the property's high season; rates are per night, unless only weekly (W) rates are available. Restaurant rate range is for dinner, unless only lunch (L) is served. Turn to the listing page for more detailed rate information and consult display ads for special promotions.

AAA Travel

It's better on the train!

Relaxing, convenient and an outstanding value, no other form of transportation offers you so much of Europe for so little. Let AAA help you determine the best product for your itinerary:

- ◆ Railpasses - hop on & off the train in one or several countries
- ◆ High-Speed Trains - zip from London to Paris on Eurostar, speed thru France on the TGV, breeze across Italy & other countries on high speed rail networks
- ◆ Train Tickets & Sleepers – book train tickets as easily as booking an airline ticket

For more information or reservations, call your AAA travel specialist or go to www.aaa.com.

AAA Member Benefits: With your European rail purchase from your AAA agency, you'll automatically receive complimentary railpass theft or loss protection on each railpass over $200. Rail member benefits valid thru. 12/31/2007.

Destination Milwaukee

pop. 596,974

Milwaukee is naturally a great spot for water sports: Not only is the city right on Lake Michigan, it's also divided in half by the Milwaukee River.

Those who would rather stay dry can hit the mall, cheer on the area's sports teams and attend a performance at the opera or ballet.

Milwaukee and Vicinity

This index helps you "spot" where approved accommodations and restaurants are located on the corresponding detailed maps. Lodging rate ranges are for comparison only and show the property's high season; rates are per night, unless only weekly (W) rates are available. Restaurant rate range is for dinner, unless only lunch (L) is served. Turn to the listing page for more detailed rate information and consult display ads for special promotions.

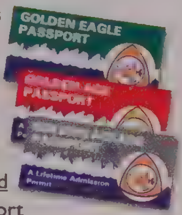
GOLDEN PASSPORTS



Golden Passports, available in three types, offer benefits and significant savings to individuals who plan to visit federal recreation sites.

The Golden Eagle Passport, available for a $65 annual fee, is valid for entrance only to all federal recreation areas that have an entrance fee. Sites include those operated by the National Forest Service, National Park Service, Bureau of Land Management and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. The passport admits all occupants of a private vehicle at locations where entrance is on a per vehicle basis. At locations where a per person fee is charged, the pass covers the pass holder, spouse, parents and children.

Citizens or permanent residents of the United States who are 62 and older can obtain Golden Age Passports for a one-time $10 fee. Proof of age is required.

Golden Access Passports are free to citizens or permanent residents of the United States (regardless of age) who are medically blind or permanently disabled. Medical documention is required.

Both Golden Age and Golden Access Passports cover entrance fees for the holder and accompanying private party to all national parks and sites managed by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, the U.S. Forest Service and the Bureau of Land Management, plus a 50% discount on federal recreation use fees. When a per person fee is imposed, the pass covers the pass holder, spouse and children. Apply in person at a federally operated area where an entrance fee is charged.

NATIONAL PARKS PASS

The National Parks Pass, valid for 1 year from its first use in a park, allows unlimited admissions to all U.S. national parks. The $50 pass covers all occupants of a private vehicle at parks where the entrance fee is per vehicle. At parks with individual entry fees, the pass covers the pass holder, spouse, parents and children.

National Parks Pass

As a result of a partnership with the National Park Foundation, AAA members may purchase the pass for $48, either through AAA's internet site (www.aaa.com) or by visiting a participating AAA office. Members may also phone the National Park Foundation at (888) 467-2757 or purchase the pass online at www.nationalparks.org. Non-members may purchase the pass through participating AAA offices for the full $50 price or online at www.nationalparks.org.

For an upgrade fee of $15, a Golden Eagle Hologram sticker can be added to a National Parks Pass. The hologram covers entrance fees not just at national parks, but at any federal recreation area that has an admission fee. Valid for the duration of the National Parks Pass to which it is affixed, the Golden Eagle hologram is available at National Park Service, Fish and Wildlife Service and Bureau of Land Management fee stations.

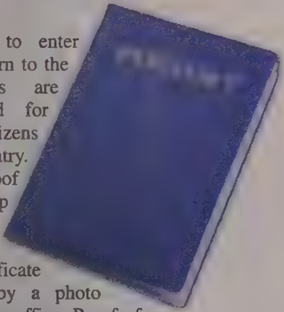
Border Information

ENTERING CANADA AND RETURNING TO THE UNITED STATES



PASSPORTS to enter Canada or return to the United States are NOT required for native-born citizens of either country. However, proof of citizenship must be carried; a certified birth certificate accompanied by a photo ID usually will suffice. Proof of residence also may be required. Naturalized citizens should carry their naturalization certificate, and U.S. resident aliens must have an Alien Registration Receipt Card (Green Card). Effective Dec. 31, 2006, all travelers crossing the Canada-United States border will be required to show a valid passport or other accepted secure document.

Due to concerns over child abduction, single parents, grandparents or guardians traveling abroad with a minor should be prepared to document their legal custody and provide proof of citizenship for each child. Most common carriers, such as airlines, trains and buses, will demand proof and accept only the minor's passport or the parents' passport that includes the child. When the child is with only one parent, that parent should have a notarized letter of consent from the other parent or have legal custody documents. In other cases, the minor (if traveling alone) or the individual with the minor, should have a notarized letter of consent from both parents (including a telephone number) or a custody document.

THE CANADIAN GST: A 7 percent Goods and Services Tax (GST) is levied on most items sold and most services rendered in Canada. In Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Newfoundland, a Harmonized Sales Tax (HST) of 15 percent (7 percent GST and 8 percent provincial) is charged on most goods and services. Visitors may apply for a GST/HST rebate on many items, including short-term accommodations (less than 1 month in one location). A rebate may be claimed on a minimum of $200 of eligible purchases prior to taxes, provided the goods are exported 60 days from date of purchase. Purchased items on which the GST/HST is not refundable include alcohol, food and beverages, tobacco, transportation, entertainment, automobile fuel and such services as dry cleaning. Original receipts must be submitted; each receipt must be for $50 or more before tax.

Free brochures explaining the GST and containing a rebate form are available in Canada at participating land border Duty Free shops, Tourist Information Centers, Customs Offices and at hotels. Allow 4 to 6 weeks for processing. For more information write: Visitor Rebate Program, Summerside Tax Centre, Canada Customs and Revenue Agency, 275 Pope Rd., Suite 104, Summerside, P.E., Canada C1N 6C6; phone (902) 432-5608 outside Can., or (800) 668-4748 in Can.

CANADIAN CUSTOMS REGULATIONS

EMPLOYMENT OF VISITORS and other non-immigrants is not permitted without employment authorization, usually obtained prior to entry into Canada. Permits authorizing paid employment at a specified job for a specified period of time must be obtained from the Human Resources Canada Centre. You will be denied entry if you intend to finance your visit by seeking a paying job.

FIREARMS are regulated by classification. All firearms must be declared and registered upon entry into Canada. The fee for a Firearms Declaration is $50. Visitors who borrow a firearm must obtain in advance a Non-Resident's Sixty-Day Possession License ($30); phone (800) 731-4000. It is advised that U.S. residents register weapons with U.S. Customs before departure. Upon return, U.S. residents may be asked to show proof that they had the weapon before departure. Under certain circumstances individuals and businesses may import firearms.

Prohibited (may not enter Canada): weapons with no legitimate sporting or recreational use, including weapons that discharge bullets in rapid succession during one pull of the trigger, such as a fully automatic rifle or machine gun (regardless of conversion); and rifles or shotguns designed or adapted so the barrel is less than 470 mm (18.5 in.) long or the overall length is less than 660 mm (26 in.); handguns with a barrel length of 105 mm (4.14 in.) or less, or using 25 or 32 calibre cartridges; and any other firearm prohibited by an Order in Council.

When You Travel In Canada

AAA-affiliated motor clubs form the Canadian Automobile Association, with its national office at 1145 Hunt Club Rd., Suite 200, Ottawa, ON, Canada K1V 0Y3. CAA clubs provide the same services for AAA members as do the AAA clubs in the United States. Establishments displaying the Official Appointment sign have met the rigid inspection requirements of the two associations.

SEAT BELTS: The use of seat belts by vehicle drivers and all passengers is required in Canada.

RADAR DETECTORS: The possession of radar detection devices is illegal in Manitoba, New Brunswick and Yukon Territory. The use of radar detectors is illegal in all Canadian provinces and territories.

INSURANCE: In the event of an accident, if proper proof is not presented, a substantial fine may be imposed. If renting a vehicle, check with the rental car company regarding insurance.

CURRENCY: All prices and admission fees quoted are in Canadian dollars. Private establishments are under no obligation to accept, convert or pay a premium on the currencies of other countries. It is to your financial advantage to use Canadian currency when traveling in Canada. The only means of obtaining the official exchange rate is to change U.S. funds at a bank or purchase travelers checks in Canadian currency. If you plan to carry cash instead of travelers checks, be aware that some Canadian banks will not accept U.S. bills in large denominations for exchange.

PROVINCIAL REGULATIONS: Check the Fast Facts page for any additional regulations imposed by individual provinces or territories.

LEGAL ISSUES: Persons with felony convictions, driving while intoxicated records or other offenses may be denied admittance into Canada. Contact the Canadian Embassy or nearest Canadian Consulate before travel.

Other prohibited items include any large capacity cartridge magazines (limited to five rounds for semiautomatic rifles or shotguns and 10 rounds for handguns); tasers; any device designed to stop the sound of a firearm; any knife with a blade that opens by spring pressure, such as a switchblade; and any other weapons declared prohibited by an Order in Council, such as mace, tear gas (if designed for use against humans), throwing stars, Nunchaku sticks, belt-buckle knives, spiked wristbands, blowguns, stun guns, finger rings with blades, brass knuckles, armor-piercing handgun cartridges, explosive projectiles for small arms cartridges, shotgun cartridges containing fléchettes, a "bull pup" stock for rifles and carbines, and trigger enhancement devices.

Restricted (admitted only for approved shooting competitions at which time an Authorization to Transport is required from the provincial chief firearms officer—phone (800) 731-4000 for addresses and phone numbers) semiautomatic firearms that have a barrel less than 470 mm (18.5 in.) and that discharge center-fire ammunition; and those that can be fired when reduced to less than 660 mm (26 in.) in length. Other restricted weapons include any firearm designed, altered or intended to be aimed and fired by the action of one hand, such as pistols and revolvers; and any firearm that is declared to be a restricted firearm by an Order in Council.

Non-restricted (regular hunting rifles or shotguns): You must be at least 18 to import and they may be imported only for legitimate purposes such as hunting or use during hunting season; use in approved competitions; protection against wildlife in Canadian wilderness areas; or in-transit movement through Canada.

Hunters may bring in, duty-free, 200 rounds of ammunition; participants in a competition, 1,500 rounds. A valid license or declaration must be shown to purchase ammunition. If you hunt in Canada's parks or game reserves, you may have to get a hunting license from each province or territory in which you plan to hunt.

For more information about parks and hunting regulations, contact the appropriate provincial or territorial tourism information office: Alberta, (800) 661-8888 or (780) 427-4321; British Columbia, (800) 663-6000 or (250) 387-1642; Manitoba, (800) 665-0040 or (204) 945-3777; New Brunswick, (800) 561-0123 or (506) 789-4982; Newfoundland and Labrador, (800) 563-6353 or (709) 729-2830; Northwest Territories (Western NWT), (800) 661-0788 or (867) 873-4059; Nova Scotia, (800) 565-0000, ext. 998 or (902) 425-5781; Nunavut (Eastern NWT), (800) 491-7910 or (867) 979-1261; Ontario, (800) 668-2746 or (416) 314-0944; Prince Edward Island, (888) 734-7529 or (902) 629-2400; Québec (800) 363-7777 or (514) 873-2015; Saskatchewan (877) 237-2273 or (306) 787-2300; Yukon, (867) 667-5340.

Most provinces and territories also have their own laws regulating the transportation of firearms through their area. Contact the provincial or territorial tourism information office listed above. For further information on the entry of firearms, contact Canada Customs and Revenue Agency at (506) 636-5064, or (800) 461-9999 inside Can.

PERSONAL BAGGAGE is admissible into Canada on a temporary basis without payment of duty and taxes; however, a refundable security deposit may be required by Customs at the time of entry. Deposits normally are not required when visits are made for health or pleasure, provided all items are exported at the end of your trip.

Personal baggage that may be taken into Canada on a duty- and tax-free basis includes clothing and personal effects, sporting goods, automobiles, vessels, aircraft, snowmobiles, cameras, personal computers, food products and other items appropriate for the purpose and duration of your visit. Tobacco products are limited per person to 50 cigars, 200 cigarettes, 200 grams (7 oz.) of tobacco, and 200 tobacco sticks. Alcoholic beverages are limited to 1.14 liters (40 oz.) of liquor, or 1.5 liters (1.6 qts.) of wine or 8.5 liters (9 qts.) of beer or ale (equivalent to 24 twelve-ounce bottles/cans). Generally, a minimum stay of 24 hours is required to transport any liquor or tobacco into Canada.

All articles above allowable quantities are subject to federal duty and taxes, as well as provincial liquor fees. Provincial fees can be paid at Customs at the time of entry in all provinces and the Yukon Territory. In the Northwest Territories and Nunavut, it is illegal to bring in more alcohol than specified above. The minimum legal age for the importation of alcoholic beverages or tobacco products is 18 or 19 years, depending on the province or territory; check the Fast Facts page.

Articles purchased at Canadian duty-free shops are subject to U.S. Customs exemptions and restrictions; those purchased at U.S. duty-free shops before entering Canada are subject to duty if brought back into the United States.

Persons who may require prescription drugs while visiting Canada are permitted to bring medication for their own use. Prescription drugs should be clearly identified and should be carried in the original packaging with the label listing the drug and its intended use. It also is good to bring a copy of the prescription and the contact number of the doctor.

GIFTS, excluding tobacco, alcoholic beverages and advertising matter, taken into or mailed to Canada are allowed free entry if the value of each gift does not exceed $60 (Canadian currency). Gifts valued at more than $60 are subject to the regular duty and taxes on the excess amount.

PETS AND PLANTS: Dogs and cats 3 months of age and older must be accompanied by a certificate signed by a licensed veterinarian that clearly describes the animal and declares that the animal has been vaccinated against rabies within the past 12 or 36 months, depending upon the type of vaccine. Collar tags are not sufficient proof of immunization. This certificate also is needed to bring a dog back into the United States; be sure the vaccination does not expire while traveling in Canada. "Seeing Eye" dogs are exempt from these rules, as well as up to two healthy puppies and kittens under 3 months old; it is recommended that the owner obtain a certificate of health from a veterinarian indicating that an animal is too young to vaccinate. Puppies under 4 months will not be admitted into the U.S. before 30 days after their rabies vaccination.

Plants or plant material must be declared. For additional information about pets and plants, contact one of the following Canadian Food Inspection Agency (CFIA) Import Service Centres: eastern Canada (877) 493-0468; central Canada (800) 835-4486; or western Canada (888) 732-6222.

RADIO COMMUNICATION EQUIPMENT: You may bring your cellular or PCS phone or citizens band (CB) or Family Radio Service (FRS) radio into Canada without any prior registration. You may use your aircraft, marine or amateur radio in Canada without prior authorization. All other types of radio transmitting stations may only be used in Canada if accompanied by a

National Park Entrance Fees

At Canada's national parks, the basic per person or per family entry fee gives visitors access to the park, scenic outlooks, picnic areas and a variety of facilities. Additional fees are charged for visitors who choose to use other recreational services such as campgrounds, special interpretation programs and golf courses.

To receive a free Parks Canada vacation planner, phone (888) 773-8888. Detailed information about the services, benefits, entry fees and discounts at all national parks and historic sites is available by calling the following numbers:

(800) 748-7275 for Alberta;

(902) 426-3436 for the Atlantic provinces (Newfoundland and Labrador, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island);

(604) 513-4777 for British Columbia;

(888) 748-2928 for Manitoba;

(800) 748-7275 for Northwest Territories and Nunavut;

(800) 661-0486 for Yukon Territory.

letter of authorization from Industry Canada's Radiocommunication and Broadcasting Regulatory Branch. For additional information contact Industry Canada at (613) 990-4737.

SPECIAL PERMITS: A CITIES (Convention on International Trade in Endangered Species) permit is required for any endangered species brought into Canada, including those kept as pets and for any items made from them, such as coats, handbags or shoes. For further information contact Environment Canada, Canadian Wildlife Service; phone (819) 997-1840.

Canada has restrictions to keep objects that are of historical, cultural or scientific signification inside Canada. If you wish to take objects more than 50 years old, such as fossils, archeological artifacts, fine and decorative art, technological objects or books and archival material, out of the country, you may need an export permit to do so. Contact the Moveable Cultural Property Program of Canadian Heritage, 15 Eddy St., 3rd floor, Hull, Québec, Canada K1A 0M5; phone (819) 997-7761.

Importation of clothing, textiles, steel and certain agricultural products in excess of minimum quantities may be subject to import permit requirements under the Export and Import Permits Act. For further information, write the Department of Foreign Affairs and International Trade, Export and Import Control Bureau, Tower C, 4th floor, LB Pearson Bldg., 125 Sussex Dr., Ottawa, ON Canada K1A 0G2. Goods originating in Iraq are not admissible.

VEHICLES, including trailers not exceeding 2.6 metres (8 ft., 6 in.) in width, entering Canada for touring are generally subject to quick and routine entry procedures. You may not leave or store a car, trailer or other goods in Canada while you leave the country without either paying import duty and taxes or presenting the necessary permit to leave the items in Canada. This and any other required permits are issued by Canadian Customs officials at the point of entry. Vacation trailers may not be stored in Canada during the off-season.

Vehicle registration cards are necessary for Canadian travel. If you are driving a car other than your own, you must get written permission from the owner for use of the car in Canada. A copy of the contract is required for rented cars. A valid U.S. driver's license is valid in Canada for varying periods of time as ruled by the individual provinces and territories.

Some provinces and territories have made it a statutory requirement that motorists drive with vehicle headlights on for extended periods after dawn and before dusk. In Alberta, British Columbia, New Brunswick, Ontario and Prince Edward Island lights must be turned on when light conditions restrict visibility to 150 metres (500 ft.); in Manitoba, the restriction is 60 metres (200 ft.). Headlights must remain on at all times in Alberta, the Yukon Territory and Northwest Territories and Nunavut.

In cases of accident involving death, injury or property damage, the Canadian provinces and territories require evidence of financial responsibility. In some provinces, you may be asked to show this evidence at any time. The penalties for not producing such evidence vary by province and territory and can result in costly and time-consuming problems if you are unprepared.

The minimum liability insurance requirement is $200,000 in all provinces and territories except Québec, which requires $50,000, and Northwest Territories and Nunavut, which requires $100,000. Should the court's judgments exceed these figures, motorists held accountable are responsible for paying the full amount.

U.S. REGULATIONS

EXEMPTIONS granted to returning U.S. residents include an $800 exemption, if not used within the past 30 days, for residents who have been in Canada no less than 48 hours. Any amount over the $800 exemption is subject to duty. The exemptions are based on fair retail value and apply to articles acquired for personal or household use or as gifts, but not intended for sale.

Exemptions for a family (related persons living in the same house) may be combined; thus, a family of 5 would be entitled to a duty-free $4,000 exemption on one declaration, even if the articles declared by one member of the family exceeded that individual's $800 exemption. Sales slips should be kept; they are proof of fair retail value. All articles for which the $800 exemption is claimed must accompany you at the time of return.

You may send bona fide gifts to friends and relatives in the United States free of duty and taxes provided the recipient does not receive more than $100 worth of gifts per day. Tobacco products, alcoholic beverages and perfume containing alcohol and valued at more than $5 retail are excluded from this provision. The package containing the gift must be marked "Unsolicited Gift," with the contents and retail value indicated on the outside. These gifts are not included in your $800 exemption and are not to be declared upon your return.

If you are entitled to the $800 exemption, you may include 100 cigars and 200 cigarettes duty free. Cigarettes may be subject to state or local tax. Persons 21 years of age or older may include liquor to the amount of 1 litre (33.8 fl. oz.) per person in their $800 resident's exemption from duty and tax. In all cases, state liquor laws are enforced by Customs.

If you have been in Canada for less than 48 hours, you may bring back merchandise valued at $200 or less, duty and tax free. Such an exemption must not include more than 10 cigars, 50 cigarettes, 150 milliliters (5 fl. oz.) of alcoholic beverage or 150 milliliters (5 fl. oz.) of perfume containing alcohol. If any article brought back is subject to duty or tax or if the total value of all articles exceeds $200, no article may be exempted from duty or tax. Members of a family unit may not combine the value of their purchases under this exemption. All goods must be declared.

CERTAIN ARTICLES considered injurious or detrimental to the general welfare of the United States are prohibited entry by law. Among these are such items as narcotics and dangerous drugs; drug paraphernalia; hazardous articles (e.g., fireworks, dangerous toys and toxic or poisonous substances), obscene articles and publications; lottery tickets; switchblade knives; seditious or treasonable matter; and merchandise originating in Afghanistan, Cuba, Iran, Iraq, Libya, Serbia and Sudan.

Prohibited also are endangered species of plants and wildlife, or products made of any part of such species. If you are considering the purchase or import of fur, animal skins other than cowhide or any product manufactured wholly or in part from wildlife, write to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Department of the Interior, Washington, DC 20240 for additional information.

RESTRICTED ITEMS often require special licenses or controls. While some agricultural products of Canadian origin (fruit, plants with phytosanitary certificates, meats, etc.) may be brought into the United States, many are restricted to prevent the introduction of plant and animal pests and diseases into the country. All must be declared to customs officials at the U.S. border. For specific information, write for the free booklet "Traveler's Tips," available in English, Spanish, Italian or Japanese from USDA-APHIS Public Affairs, 4700 River Road Unit 51, Riverdale, MD 20737, ATTN: AQI Publications.

If you require medicines containing narcotics or habit-forming drugs, including cough and headache remedies, you should have them properly identified and carry only such quantities as might normally be needed for a health problem. You should carry proof, either in prescription form or as a written statement from your physician, that the medicines are being used under a doctor's direction and are necessary for your well-being.

Other restricted items include imported automobiles; biological materials (disease organisms and vectors for research); cultural treasures; firearms and ammunition; articles bearing marks or names copying or simulating trademarked articles or trade names (e.g., watches, cameras, perfumes); pirated copies of copyrighted articles (e.g., books, CDs, DVDs, computer programs); and pets, wildlife and fish.

Additional helpful booklets such as Visiting the "U.S.: Requirements for Non-Residents," "Importing or Exporting a Car," "Know Before You Go" and "Pets, Wildlife and U.S. Customs," are available on-line and by writing Customs Service Center, 1300 Pennsylvania Ave. N.W., Room 3.4A, Washington, DC 20229; phone (202) 354-1000.

When You Really Need to Speak Their Language... Let the IDP Speak for You

When traveling overseas, carry an International Driving Permit... even if you're not planning to drive. Should you need to communicate with foreign authorities, this recognizable form of identification can help you get on your way more quickly. Valid in over 150 countries, the permit contains information translated into ten languages.

Before you travel the world, travel to any AAA office for your International Driving Permit. Bring your valid U.S. driver's license, $10, and two passport-size photos (also available at AAA offices).

Travel With Someone You Trust®
